TIDE EBBS AND FLOWS IN 5 DAYS FIGHTING

London, Sept. 11.—1:45 p. m.—The conflicting claims of official communications issued by the headquarters of the forces opposing each other so far in the several war zones, emphasize the prudence of the advice volunteered in the latest French communication against drawing inferences from phases of the struggle before a decisive result is attained.

The key to the ultimate outcome of what perhaps will be the greatest battle in history still raging on the plains of Champagne, to the east of Paris, lies in the center.

The Germans would still appear to be making headlong efforts to drive their wedge into the French line at a point north of Verdun and the already large army under Crown Prince Frederick William has been reinforced with the object of pushing home this attack, the result of which is conceded to be of extreme importance.

On the German right wing where the troops of Emperor William are opposed to the British forces, Germany officially admits retirement but not defeat, as was first reported because of telegraphic errors in the transmission of messages.

Activity of Belgians.
The renewal of activity on the part of the Belgian army seems to be a fact but up to the present time it has not gone beyond harrying the small forces of German reservists left behind when the army of occupation was sent to the battlefields to the east of Paris.

From the extreme right of the French line comes a report that battle scarred Meulhausen has again fallen into the possession of the French. If this is true, it will be the fifth or sixth time that this Alsation town has changed hands in the present war. On the eastern field of battle the Russians appear to have been driven back in east Prussia, but according to Petrograd advices they continue to punish the Austrians.

The latest intelligence from Berlin indicates that Gen. von Benckendorff and von Hindenburg has gained an important success in east Prussia. According to this version the Russians are in full retreat with the Germans in close pursuit. The Russian version is that their advance attachments are falling back, but holding.

German naval activity in the Baltic sea is watched with much interest here, but the report that there has been an engagement between German and Russian squadrons off the Aland Islands is denied. This probably arose from the sinking by a German torpedo boat of the Russian merchant steamer Uleaborg in this region.

Attitude of Turkey.
The attitude of Turkey, which has been a subject of paramount anxiety to the foreign offices of Europe, seems to have been decided for her if the story is true that Roumania, Greece and Bulgaria have agreed to prevent Ottoman intervention on behalf of Germany and Austria. The allies have been working strenuously to this end.

A message received here from Copenhagen says the condition of Prince Joachim Albrecht, of Prussia, second cousin of Emperor William, who received a bullet through the thigh, is still serious.

A careful scrutiny of the news from France and Germany leads English observers to the conclusion that both sides are still operating to the east of Paris on a huge scale, but without that

Fresh Air Child Scores High in Tests in Fort Wayne Better Babies' Contest

Blanche Louise McClellan ranked high in the tests given by physicians at the Fort Wayne Mothers' club better babies contest Thursday afternoon in spite of the fact that she was born in a colostis camp at Springfield, Ohio. She is two years old and is a fresh air baby and Miss Irene Byron, of the anti-tuberculosis society, had her there to demonstrate the benefit of right living.

The father is Vernon McClellan, of Walton and McKinnis avenue, and there was no intention of putting him in the paper, but that smile got him in. He was so elated at the good health of his little one that he couldn't help it.

GERMAN FLEET IN BALTIC IS ACTIVE

Berlin, Sept. 11.—(Via Copenhagen and London 12:10 p. m.)—In accordance with its principle of reporting only accomplished facts, the general headquarters of the army in Berlin is still silent concerning the great battle which is being fought to the east of Paris.

The Berlin censors, however, are permitting local papers to publish dispatches from abroad, and from these the people of Berlin have learned that great events are now taking place.

In the meanwhile the German fleet is active in the Baltic. It is reported to have invaded even the gulf of Bothnia, where it captured and sunk a Russian merchant steamer, the Uleaborg. This vessel was in Finnish waters, in other words behind the barrier formed by the Aland islands, which has been considered impassable for the sea forces of Germany.

A German torpedo boat stopped the Uleaborg and took off the crew and 34 passengers including 35 enlisted men. She then opened fire on the steamer, which sank in five minutes. The passengers and crew were brought to a German port where citizens of hostile countries are being interned as prisoners of war.

German Crown Prince's Army Takes Fortifications.
Washington, Sept. 11.—The German embassy today received the following wireless from Berlin:

"Official headquarters reports that the German crown prince's army yesterday took fortifications southwest of Verdun. The German Paris army is attacking the fortress south of Verdun. The other forts since Wednesday have been cannonaded by heavy artillery.

Gen. Hindenburg with the eastern army outflanked and defeated the left wing of the Russian army still in East Prussia. The Russians gave up fighting and are now retreating everywhere. The eastern army is pursuing the Russians in a southeasterly direction towards the river Niemen."

GERMANS SHOW SIGNS OF WEAR

Furious Fighting Tells on Kaiser's Wonderful War Machine.

London, Sept. 11.—8:30 a. m.—A dispatch to the Times from Bordeaux dated Thursday, says:

"Since Sunday, when the enemy's sweep southeast of Paris was checked on the Grande Morin, the German war machine has been showing signs of wear and each fresh day of battle has closed with the allies in a more favorable position.

"On Sunday there was furious fighting along the Grande Morin which continued at La Ferte-Gaucher throughout the night and Monday the enemy began a retreat upon their next line along the Petit Morin.

"Here they were allowed no rest for the allied forces were tasting the rare

ONLY A POLITE ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Washington, Sept. 11.—President Wilson was carefully considering today his reply to Emperor William's message protesting against the alleged use of dum dum bullets by the French and the activity of Belgian citizens. While it was not known what form Mr. Wilson's answer would take it was the general impression that it would be merely a polite acknowledgment of receipt of the message.

President Wilson will not reply to Emperor William's message until after his return from Cornish next week.

President Wilson will leave Washington at 5:35 o'clock this afternoon to spend the week-end at the summer white house at Cornish, N. H. He will take with him Miss Lucy Smith and Miss Mary Smith, of New Orleans, his cousin, Miss Margaret Wilson and Mrs. F. B. Sayre, his daughters, are already at Cornish. The president plans to return to Washington early Tuesday morning.

LAST-MINUTE NEWS

RETIRE FROM 37 TO 46 MILES.

Paris, Sept. 11.—(3:17 p. m.)—News from the fighting line to the east of Paris is to the effect that at some points the Germans have retired from sixty to seventy-five kilometers—from thirty-seven to forty-six miles.

WITHDRAW TO STRASSBERG AND METZ.

London, Sept. 11.—(4:50 p. m.)—A Central News dispatch from Rome says that telegrams from Berlin state that the evacuation of upper Alsace by the Germans continues. They are withdrawing to Strassberg and Metz. It is admitted that the German army in France is extremely fatigued whereas the enemy is continually receiving fresh troops.

ALLIANCE WAS FIRST TO AGREE.

Copenhagen, Sept. 11.—Via London, 4:10 p. m.—The Vossische Zeitung of Berlin declares that previous to the outbreak of the war Germany and Austria-Hungary agreed, as now have the parties to the triple entente, not to make peace separately.

WAR BULLETINS

Petrograd, Sept. 11.—German troops which have been transported from the west have been concentrated along the banks of the river Alle and are now marching in long columns in an easterly direction and crossing the Masurie lakes. The Russian advance guard is retreating to the east.

Petrograd, Sept. 11.—(6:35 p. m.)—An Austrian steamer has been sunk by a Russian battery located on the banks of the Danube.

effect that there are about 20,000 men serving in the ranks of the Russian army.

Rotterdam, Sept. 11.—(Via London 4:15 a. m.)—An official German statement made public here denies the news that the Germans have taken many prisoners at Lemberg, that the fortress at Przemyśl is surrounded by Russians and that Russian forces are advancing towards it.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The embassy's wireless dispatch from Berlin today contained the statement that the action of the French army in the east is being watched with interest.

Today's War News Given in Summary.

Official German advices received in Washington declare that the Germans held their own in two days' fighting east of Paris, capturing fifty guns and several thousand prisoners, but retired the flank upon the advance of strong hostile columns.

Earlier dispatches from Berlin represented the Germans as having lost fifty guns and several thousand prisoners. The French embassy at Washington has received reports from Bordeaux of marked advances against the German right wing. These appear to be based on statements by the French ministry of war, made public last night. Today it is announced in Paris that the Germans have retired in some places forty or fifty miles.

Important news comes from East Prussia, where the Russians appear to have made little, if any progress since the reverse at Allenstein. They are now reported to be bombarding the strongly fortified capital of Koenigsberg. There are indications, however, that Germans are arriving in force and moving toward Koenigsberg. A dispatch from Petrograd says that the Germans from the west, concentrated on the banks of the river Alle, and are marching in an easterly direction, while the Russian advance guard is retreating. The Alle river flows north and east in a direction southeast from Koenigsberg.

A general retirement of the Germans east of Paris continues, according to a statement this afternoon by the war information bureau in London. It is said that British troops yesterday captured 1,500 prisoners and several guns.

A dispatch from Rotterdam says that an official German communication denies that the fortress at Przemyśl is surrounded by Russians or that the Russian forces are advancing on Cracow, as has been represented at Petrograd and London.

Renewed activity by the German navy in the Baltic is indicated in reports from Berlin and elsewhere. Nish reports that Serbian forces have occupied Semlin, a town of Austria-Hungary, from which the Austrians began their original attack on Serbia. Serbian and Montenegrin troops have effected a junction and begun a march on Sarajevo, the capital of Bosnia.

SEMLIN IS TAKEN IN BLOODY FIGHT

Nish, Sept. 10.—Via London, Sept. 11.—8:14 a. m.—The Serbians occupied Semlin across the river from Belgrade, this morning after a bloody battle.

Semlin is an important town of Austria-Hungary in Slavonia. It is located on the tongue of land formed by the junction of the Danube and the Sava, opposite Belgrade, with which it was connected by a railway bridge across the Sava.

It was from Semlin that the Austrian infantry and artillery in conjunction with the monitors on the river, began their fighting on July 29 against the Serbians. The Serbians early that morning blew up the bridge connecting Semlin with Belgrade. An intermittent bombardment, according to reports, has since been kept up by the Austrians in Semlin on Belgrade.

CARRIER PIGEONS BEAR WAR PLANS

New York, Sept. 11.—German newspapers here publish the following under date of Stuttgart, Aug. 20:

"The general commanding the Wuerttemberg army corps announces that a French carrier pigeon has been intercepted at Andernach, which bore exact reports regarding the transport of German troops. This pigeon was probably started some where in Wuerttemberg or Baden. There is also a possibility that several French carrier pigeon stations are being operated in those districts.

BOY SCOUT IS BELGIAN HERO

Paris, Sept. 11.—11:12 a. m.—The hero of Belgium today is the Boy Scout Leysen, who has been decorated by King Albert for his valor and devotion to his country.

This young man who was born at Liege, is described by the Figaro as of almost uncanny sharpness, with senses and perceptions as keen as a savage. He was able to find his way through the woods and pass the sentinels of the enemy with unerring accuracy.

Leysen made his way through the German lines from Aachen to the tenth line last Sunday, carrying dispatches to secret representatives of the Belgian government in Brussels. He was decorated and his name is being spread in all Belgian newspapers.

MRS. CARMAN HAS COLLAPSE IN JAIL

Minneapolis, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Florence Carman, indicted yesterday by the grand jury on a charge of murder in the first degree for the killing of Mrs. Louise Bailey, was today under the care of the Nassau county jail physician. Mrs. Carman collapsed last night soon after being looked up.

Mrs. Carman had anticipated the action of the grand jury and with her attorney and her husband, Dr. Edwin Carman, of Freeport, in whose office the murder occurred, she was waiting in the sheriff's office when the indictment was voted, which supersedes an indictment on the charge of manslaughter, returned last summer.

Since the first indictment Mrs. Carman had been enjoying full liberty on bail. Her activities at Freeport have been much the same as before the murder. Apparently her health has been good.

District Attorney Smith said that he would ask for a special term of the supreme court in October for the Carman trial. If this is not granted the case probably will go over until next year.

POINCARÉ MAKES REPLY TO KAISER

Washington, Sept. 11.—President Poincaré, of France, has cabled to President Wilson a reply to the protest of Emperor William which charged that the allies had been using dum dum bullets. The French president declared in his message that Emperor William was attempting to shift the responsibility for the use by Germany of dum dum bullets practically since the outbreak of the war.

President Poincaré used most vigorous terms in referring to Emperor William's statement speaking of them as a calumny. He charged, moreover, that the message of the emperor was in his opinion an excuse for the committing of further atrocities by the Germans.

President Poincaré assured President Wilson that France was observing the rules of civilized warfare and pointed to numerous violations of the same which he said had been committed by Germany.

MANY CHARGES ARE SHOCKING

Belgians Here to Protest Alleged Atrocities of Germans.

DE LICHERVELDE CITES A NUMBER

King Albert's Commission Nearing American Capital.

New York, Sept. 11.—A partial list of the alleged German atrocities in Belgium against which the Belgian king has sent a protest to President Wilson, was made public today by Count Louis De Lichervelde, secretary of the Belgian commission hearing the protest. The commission reached this city today on its way to Washington.

"At Linsmeau, when the Germans entered the village, two uniformed German soldiers attacked the Germans," Count De Lichervelde said. "In revenge the village was invaded on the night of August 10. Two farms were destroyed; the crops were destroyed or carried away; six houses were burned and all the men were compelled to hand over their arms."

"It was found that none had been discharged recently and finally the men were separated into three detachments. Two of the detachments disappeared. A third, consisting of eleven men, was driven at the point of the bayonet into a ditch and when they were piled in the ditch they were killed."

TURKS FIGHT A DUEL OVER WAR

Paris, Sept. 11.—(6:43 a. m.)—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Rome says:

"A telegram from Athens to the newspaper Vita says that a violent discussion arose between the crown prince of Turkey and Enver Pasha, the Turkish minister of war on the subject of the political policy of Turkey."

"Enver Pasha becoming greatly excited fired two shots from a revolver at the prince, who was slightly wounded. The prince replied and shot Enver Pasha in the leg."

DR. GOHEEN HELD TO CIRCUIT COURT

Bound Over Under $5,000 for Death of Little Ulmer Twins.

Following a preliminary hearing before Judge Kerr in the city court, Friday morning, Dr. Charles M. Goheen was bound over to the circuit court on two charges of involuntary manslaughter in having caused the death of Paul and Pauline Ulmer, 6-year-old twins of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Ulmer, 422 Fairmount place, by the hypodermic administration of an overdose of hyoscin.

Commitment was made solely on the testimony of Dr. Edward H. Kruse, coroner of Allen county, who testified that he had held an inquest on the bodies of the twins, that he had directed the post mortem examination and that his finding in the cases when filed was that Paul and Pauline Ulmer had died as the result of hyoscin poisoning.

Deputy Prosecutor Stephen A. Callahan conducted the examination for the state and went only so far into the affair as was necessary to establish a probable substantiation of the charge. Attorney Levi M. Todd appeared as counsel for Dr. Goheen and the cross-examination of Coroner Kruse was very brief. At the conclusion of Dr. Kruse's testimony both sides rested and Judge Kerr certified the case to the circuit court. Examination was had in the case of the death of Paul Ulmer and the other case being identical Attorney Todd waived examination and bond was fixed at $2,500 in each case.

Dr. Goheen furnished two bonds of $2,500 each with two sureties, John Junk, a Washington township farmer, who signed his earlier bonds, being one of them.

The Ulmer twins died Thursday night, August 27, about six hours after Dr. Goheen had administered hyoscin hypodermically as an anesthetic proceeding an operation for the removal of tonsils and adenoids.

WILSON APPROVES IT.

Washington, Sept. 11.—President Wilson has approved the sentence of dismissal from the army and three years' imprisonment in the penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., imposed by a general court martial at San Francisco upon Captain Jos. H. Griffiths, of the quartermaster corps of the army. Captain Griffiths was charged with embezzling about $8,000 in government funds at Seattle, Washington.

SUES BARTON ESTATE.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 11.—Dr. Julian Pabell of Washington, physician for many years to the late Clara Barton, former head of the Red Cross, has brought suit here against the estate of Miss Barton to recover $20,000, which she had paid to him for his services.

LAY DOWN YOUR ARMS!

A Thrilling Story, of Woman's Side of War

READ THIS FIRST.

The late Baroness Bertha von Suttner stirred the civilized world with her book, "Lay Down Your Arms." At the request of the American Peace Society the book has been translated into English. It is one of the most graphic and impressive descriptive works on the horrors of modern warfare ever written. It tells the "woman's side" of conflict, and the authoress actually experienced most of the stirring events she describes.

Editor's Note.—The Sentinel has obtained serial rights to this wonderful story of the woman's side of war which was first produced in photoplay form by the Great Northern Film Company, of Copenhagen, Denmark, staged on the same ground where the war is now going on a few weeks before it broke out.)

By Baroness Bertha von Suttner. (Famous Austrian Novelist and Peace Advocate and in 1905 Winner of the Nobel Peace Prize.)

CHAPTER I.

At seventeen I was a thoroughly overwrought creature. This perhaps I should no longer be aware of today, if it were not that my diaries have been preserved. But in them the enthusiasms long since fled, the thoughts which have never been thought again, the feelings never again felt have immortalized themselves, and thus I can judge at this present time what exalted notions had stuck in my silly, pretty head. Even this prettiness to which my glass has now little left to say, is revealed to me by the portraits of long ago.

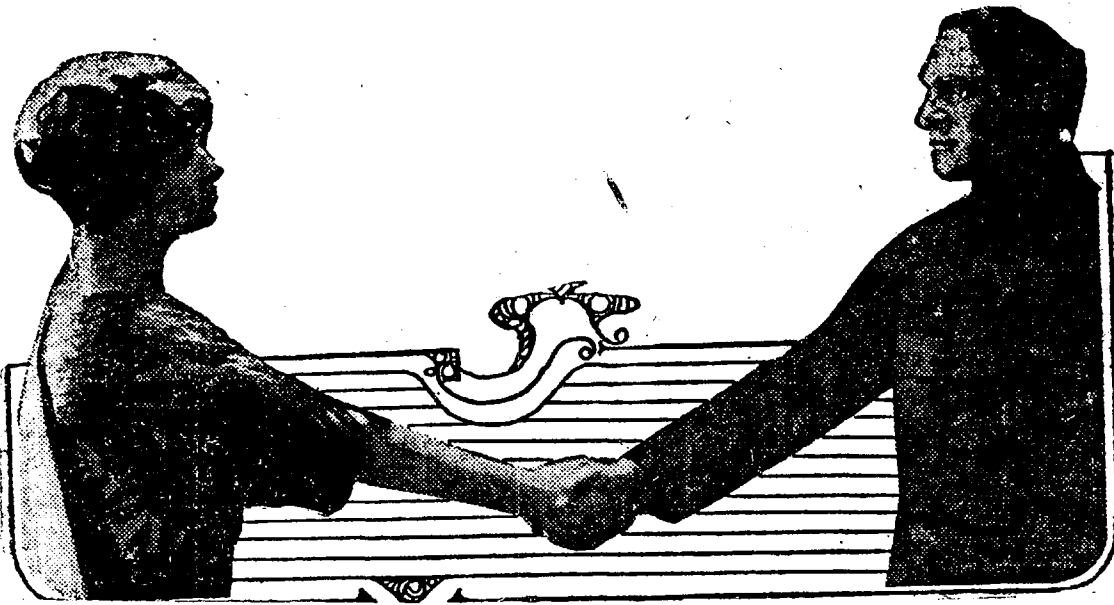

I can figure to myself what an envious person the Countess Martha Althaus—youthful, thought beautiful and surrounded by all kinds of luxury—must have been. These remarkable diaries, however, bound in their red covers, point more to melancholy than to joy in life.

I recollect that the highest conception of human greatness seemed to me to be embodied in warlike heroism.

For scholars, poets, explorers, I had, indeed, a sort of respect, but only the winners of battles inspired me with real admiration. These were, indeed, the chief pillars of history, the rulers of the fate of countries; these were in importance and in elevation near to the divinity, as elevated above all other folk as the peaks of the Alps and Himalayas above the turf and flowers of the valley.

From all which I need not conclude that I possessed a heroic nature. The fact was simply that I was capable of enthusiasm and impassioned, and so I was, of course, passionately enthusiastic for that which was most highly accounted of by my school books and my entourage.

My father was a general in the Austrian army, and had fought at Custoza under "Father Radetzky," whom he venerated to superstition. What eternal campaigning stories had I to listen to! Dear papa was so proud of his warlike experiences, and spoke with such satisfaction of the campaigns in which he had fought, that I felt an involuntary pity for every man who possessed no such reminiscences.

"HAVE YOU THE COTILLION FREE, COUNTESS?"

But what a drawback for the female sex to be excluded from this most magnificent display of the manly feeling of honor and duty. If anything came to my ears about the efforts of women after equality—and of this in my youth but little was heard, and then usually in a tone of contempt and condemnation—I conceived the wish for emancipation. "She carried on war with this women also should have the right to carry arms and take the field."

Ah, how beautiful it was to read in history about a Semiramis or a Catherine II. "She carried on war with that or that neighboring state—she conquered this or that country!"

I was not like so many of my companions in rank educated in a convent, but under the direction of governesses and masters in my father's house. My mother I lost early. Our aunt, an old canoness, filled the place of a mother to us children—for there were three younger children. We spent the winter months in Vienna, the summer on a family estate in lower Austria.

I can remember that I gave my governess and masters much satisfaction, for I was an industrious and ambitious scholar, gifted with an accurate memory. When I could not, as I have remarked, satisfy my ambition by winning battles like a heroine, I contented myself with passing judgment on them in my lessons, and extorting admiration by my zeal for learning.

On March 10, 1857, I celebrated my seventeenth birthday. "Seventeen already!" runs the entry of that date in my diary.

In the following carnival I was to be "brought out." This prospect delighted me, but not to such an extraordinary degree as is usually the case with young girls.

This summer my aunt was ordered to take a course of the waters at Marienbad. She was pleased to take me with her. Though my official introduction into the so-called "world" was not to take place till the following winter, I was yet allowed to take part in some little dances at the Kurhaus, with an idea also of exercising me in dancing and conversation, so that I might not be altogether shy and awkward in entering on my first carnival season.

But what happened at the first party I visited? A serious, vital love affair. It was, of course, a lieutenant of hussars. The civilians in the hall appeared to me like cockchafers to butterflies compared to the soldiers. And of the wearers of uniforms present the hussars were every way the most splendid; and, finally, of all the hussars Count Arno Dotzky was the most dazzling.

Over six feet high, with black, curly hair, twisted mustache, glittering white teeth, dark eyes, with such a penetrating and tender expression—in fine, at his question, "Have you the cotillion free, countess?" I felt that there might be other triumphs as exciting as the banner-waving of the Maid of Orleans, or the scepter-waving of the great Catherine. And he at the age of twenty-two felt something similar as he flew around the room in the waltz with the prettiest girl in the hall (for one may say so thirty years afterward)—at any rate, he was probably thinking, "To possess thee, thou sweet creature, would outweigh a field marshal's baton."

"Why, Martha, Martha!" remonstrated my aunt, as I sank breathless on the seat at her side, covering her head-dress with the floating muslin of my robe.

"Oh, I beg your pardon, auntie," said I, and sat more upright. "I could not help it."

"I was not finding fault with you for that. My blame was for your behavior with that hussar. You ought not to cling so in dancing, and who would ever look so close into a gentleman's eyes?"

I blushed deep. Had I committed some unmaidenly offense, and might the incomparable have conceived a bad idea of me?

I was relieved of this anxious doubt before the ball was over, for in the course of the supper waltz the incomparable whispered to me: "Listen to me. I can not help it—you must know it even today—I love you."

This sounded a little more sweet than Joan's famous "voices." However, while the dance was going on I could not give him any reply. He must have seen this, for he came to a stop. We were standing in an empty corner of the room, and could continue the conversation without being overheard.

"Speak, countess; what have I to hope?"

"I do not understand you," was my insincere reply.

"Perhaps you do not believe in love at first sight? I myself held it a fable till now, but today I have experienced the truth of it."

How my heart beat! But I was silent.

"I have leapt head over heels into my fate," he continued. "You or no one! Decide then for my bliss or my death, for without you I neither can nor will live."

"Will you be mine?"

"To so direct a question I was obliged to give some reply. I sought for some extremely diplomatic phrase which, without cutting off all hope, would sacrifice nothing of my dignity, but I got out nothing more than a tremulous whispered 'yes.'"

"Then may I tomorrow propose for your hand to your aunt, and write to Count Althaus?"

"Yes" again, this time a little firmer. "Oh, what happiness! So at first sight you love me, too?"

This time I only answered with my eyes, but they, I fancy, spoke the plainest "yes."

On my eighteenth birthday I was married, after having been first introduced into society and presented to the empress on my engagement. After our wedding we went for a tour in Italy.

Be Pretty! Turn Gray Hair Dark

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.

For this purpose Armo had got a long leave of absence; of retirement from the military service nothing was ever said. It was true we both possessed a tolerable property, but my husband loved his profession, and I agreed with him. I was proud of my handsome husband, and looked forward with satisfaction to the time when he would rise to the rank of major, colonel, even general. Who knows? Perhaps he might even be called to a higher fortune; perhaps he might shine in the glorious history of his country as a great military commander!

That the red volumes exhibit a break just during the happy wedding time and the honeymoon is now to me a great grief. The joys of those days would indeed have been evaporated, dispersed, scattered to the winds, even if I had entered them there, but at any rate a reflection of them would have been kept bound tight between the leaves. But not for my grief and my pain I could not find complaints enough—enough dashes and notes of exclamation.

All grievous things had to be cried over carefully before the world, present and to come, but the happy hours I enjoyed in silence. I was not proud of my happiness, and so gave no one, not even myself, in my diary, any information about it, but sufferings and longings I looked on as a kind of merit, and so made much of them. But how true a mirror these red volumes present of my sad experiences, while in the happy times the leaves are quite blank! It is too silly! It is as if during a walk a man were to make a collection to bring home with him, and to collect of all the things he found by the way only those that were ugly, as if he filled his botanic case with nothing but thorns, thistles, worms and toads, and left the flowers and butterflies behind.

John 13:12-26.

12 So after he had washed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was set down again, he said unto them, Know ye what I have done to you?

13 Ye call me Master and Lord; and ye say well; for so I am.

14 If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet.

15 For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you.

16 Verily, verily, I say unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord; neither he that is sent greater than he that sent him.

17 If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them.

18 I speak not of you all; I know whom I have chosen; but that the Scripture may be fulfilled, He that eateth bread with me hath lifted up his heel against me.

19 Now I tell you before it come, that, when it is come to pass, ye may believe that I am he.

20 Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that receiveth whomsoever I send receiveth me; and he that receiveth me receiveth him that sent me.

21 When Jesus had thus said, he was troubled in spirit, and testified, and said, Verily, verily, I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.

23 Now there was leaning on Jesus' bosom one of his disciples, whom Jesus loved.

24 Simon Peter therefore beckoned to him, that he should ask who it should be of whom he spake.

25 He then lying on Jesus' breast saith unto him, Lord, who is it?

26 Jesus answered, He it is to whom I shall give a sop, when I have dipped it. And when he had dipped the sop, he gave it to Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon.

VOL. LXXXII No. 4

FRIDAY, SEPT. 11, 1914.

A Captian You Can Trust.

With most primary elections now out of the way, it is possible to sum up. With few exceptions, machine candidates have won. Beginning with Penrose in Pennsylvania and down the line past Harding in Ohio, Curtis in Kansas and Roger Sullivan in Illinois, the victory of the "regulars" over the "reformers" is practically unbroken.

While the folks have been thinking of war, the crops and business, the professionals of politics have been thinking of votes and have landed enough to land themselves on the ballot. They, too, have been "attending to business."

Thus at the polls in November citizens who are progressive in sympathies will have a restricted choice. Some will support what is left of Roosevelt's third party while hoping for a larger opportunity. Many, recalling the nation's debt to Woodrow Wilson, will give him a vote of encouragement, even at the cost of having incidentally to stand for some poor local timber that may have crept in here and there.

The country knows Wilson; knows that he is wise, patriotic, devoted, safe. It will make no mistake in upholding his hands.

Pay As You Go.

In Boston, awhile ago, a state official quizzed the people who sell goods to learn if other folks were paying their bills, and found that 1,183 tradesmen were carrying on their books more than a million dollars of "N. G." accounts.

One Bostonian in every ten was revealed to be a chronic "deadbeat." That is, he refused to pay or to make an effort to pay for value received. There is no reason to believe that the human nature in Boston is unique; we dare say there's some of the same brand right here.

And it's another of the reasons why old Cost of Living perches high—the man who pays his bills has to carry the man who can't or won't. It's not so bad helping to carry the man who can't—that's Christianity. But the other thing is—well, quite the contrary.

There are more ways of being patriotic than by shouldering a rifle. One way is to pay what you owe—if you can; but if you can't, to pay as much as you can as soon as you can.

Many folks who run into debt do so heedlessly. They owe it to society, now of all times, to think before they plunge.

It is much to be hoped that the sentence to a term of years in the state reformatory imposed by Judge Egge-man, in the circuit court in the case of flagrant and persistent neglect of wife and children by one heartless wretch will have a salutary effect on others of the same ilk. The courts in Fort Wayne are all too frequently called on to deal with cases of similar character, varying only in the degree of offense, but all of them shameless. Certainty that a penitentiary term will be the penalty for that sort of thing will at least tend to have a restraining influence upon the man who has no scruples against deliberately inflicting hardship and suffering on those dependent upon him. No other treatment appears to be at all efficacious.

It will doubtless be impossible to accurately measure the good work done in connection with the milk depot for babes which has been maintained at the First Presbyterian church during the heated term now at an end, but the general results have been splendid. To have aided scores of mothers in bringing their little ones through the summer season and avoiding its infantile ills is a work distinctly worth while. The work was so wholly fine-spirited and unselfish that it has abundantly merited all the commendation that has been given it, and more.

News that Austria will in all probability sue for peace at an early date is the first rift in the war cloud that seems to offer any progress toward possible peace in the great European conflict. At the same time it can scarcely be doubted that each and every one of the warring powers would welcome the chance to let go gracefully.

FIRST GERMAN PHOTOS OF FEARFUL HAVOC AT LIEGE.

These photographs, just in from Berlin, show what these terrible 16-inch German siege guns did to the stubborn turret forts which held out so long at Liege. These forts of nickel-armor steel, with concrete walls as thick as a house, were torn to pieces, as shown in the photographs, and the places they occupied made the craters of veritable volcanoes.

SOME COUNTRY.

(Pittsburgh Dispatch.)

In these days of "due to the war" explanations that do not always explain, it is interesting to examine the facts as to the ability of the United States to feed, clothe and shelter itself. The figures are at hand in a summary just issued by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce which show the peculiarly fortunate position of this nation.

We produce two-thirds of the world's production of corn, one-fifth of the world's wheat crop, 1-4 of the world's oat crop, more than half of the world's cotton crop, 40 per cent. of the world's coal output, two-thirds of the world's petroleum production, nearly half the world's iron ore, a full half of the world's copper, one-fifth of the world's gold product and 22 per cent. of the world's silver output and 30 per cent. of the world's lead product. Notwithstanding the decrease in cattle, we have 15 per cent. of the world's supply, twice as many as in Argentina or Russia, and half as many as in India. Besides the 59,000,000 cattle, we have 60,000,000 swine, 50,000,000 sheep and 24,000,000 horses.

All this for 6 per cent. of the world's population. We lead the world, too, in the value of our manufactures, chiefly consumed at home, but about 5 per cent. being shipped abroad. What percentage we may have of the world's foreign trade, if we improve the present opportunity, depends on the vigor with which we go after it. Meanwhile, if we also attend to our business at home there is no reason for pessimism. A country as self-sustaining as this has least to fear from the turmoil in Europe.

WITH WINTER COMING.

(Kansas City Times.)

Whenever there is a strike on a large scale it is inevitably accompanied with great suffering on the part of the families of the men involved. If a hundred thousand coal miners quit work, within a few weeks the women and children feel the pinch of hunger. This privation exists in spite of the fact that grocers are able to carry their customers, and that strike benefits are paid.

What must be the situation in countries where men are withdrawn from work, not by the hundred thousand, but by the million, and where all industry is paralyzed?

The horror of war is not so much on the battlefield as in the ranks of the women and children who must bear not only the distress of uncertainty, but also the hardship of hunger and cold. From hundreds of thousands of homes in France and Germany the breadwinner has been taken, and the families certainly have nothing laid by for their support. What are they to do this winter?

The suffering of the families in an American mining camp, where the men are on strike, will be multiplied a hundredfold on the continent of Europe this winter.

EDITORS PREPARE TO COME.

Fort Wayne Meeting Promises to Be Notable Gathering.

Laporte, Ind., Sept. 11.—Harry B. Darling, of the Northern Indiana Editorial association, is in receipt of the information that the Fort Wayne Commercial club will offer a prize of $25 to the member of the association attending the mid-summer meeting, which will be held in Fort Wayne, September 17 and 18, who writes the best article regarding Fort Wayne and its commercial and social life. A second prize of $10 will be given the person writing the second best article.

All indications point to the fact that the meeting will be the best in the history of the organization and editors from all parts of the district have signified their intention of being present.

The Kokomo chamber of commerce has already made a bid for the 1915 meeting, having extended a pressing invitation to the association to name that city for its meeting a year hence.

One of the speakers at the banquet will be Colonel B. G. Whitehead, of Laporte, editor of that entertaining publication, Yankee Doodle. Colonel Whitehead a few years since gained an international reputation by organizing the famous Ananias club of which Col. Roosevelt, and other prominent Americans were made charter members, and his theme will be along the line of newspaper romancing.

Car Stalls on Railroad Crossing.

Scottsburg, Ind., Sept. 11.—Four persons were killed instantly and two others suffered fatal injuries when a Pennsylvania passenger train struck an automobile at Austin, near here, yesterday. The dead:
ELLISWORTH BELCH, Dayton, Ky.
MRS. ELLISWORTH BELCH.
MRS. MARY BELCH, 60, Austin, Ind.
ANIELLA BELCH, 20, daughter of Ellsworth Belch.
The injured:
BEULAH ROBBINS, 14 years old, Austin, Ind.
LEONA TRULOOK, 12 years old, Austin, Ind.
Belch was driving the car which stalled on the crossing at Austin. The engineer of the on-coming train was unable to stop and the automobile was demolished. Beulah Robbins and Mrs. Mary Belch lived for a short time after the accident.

TWO KILLED; TWO INJURED.

Attica, Ind., Sept. 11.—H. M. Bird and wife of Mason, Mich., were killed and their son and daughter injured at Yeddo, near here, yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding overturned and rolled down a ravine. An hour later a laborer found the machine in a gravel pit near a sharp turn in the road. On the road was an 18-month-old baby boy unhurt.

LOOKING FOR ORATORS.

L. A. Worsh to Round Up His Best Talent for Debate With Buffaloes.
L. A. Worsh, secretary of the local lodge of Elks, is looking for oratorical talent and expects to round up enough of it in a short time to enable him to accept a challenge received in the mails Friday morning which reads as follows and is self-explanatory:
"The L. A. Worsh, Secretary Elks' lodge, No. 165, Fort Wayne, Ind.:
"Dear Sir:—As chairman of the boosters' committee of herd No. 1, Benevolent Order of Buffaloes, I am requested to hereby challenge three members of your order for a public debate, to be held either in the Elks' hall or the Buffaloes' hall on Sunday afternoon, October 4, 1914, beginning at 2 o'clock. Herd No. 1 will select three members to discuss the question, and this question is to be arranged by the three members from our lodge and the three members whom you may select. In order to have the question decided by disinterested parties, the Elks' lodge may be permitted to select six non-members and the Buffaloes' lodge will do likewise. These twelve judges are to render a decision and a majority vote shall decide the question.
"This challenge is being sent you following a meeting of the boosters' committee, and we shall expect a reply accepting or rejecting at your earliest possible convenience.

"Trusting that you will see fit to accept, and awaiting your reply at once, I am,
"Very fraternally yours."

IMMENSE FLOODS IN CHINA.

Much Loss of Life and Destruction of Property in Shantung.
Peking, Sept. 11.—Loss of life and great destruction of property are attending the floods spreading over the Shantung peninsula. A correspondent at Wehsien telegraphs as follows:
"The Wehsien river, ordinarily a small stream flowing placidly fifteen feet below the level of the town, is now at flood, causing enormous damage. It poured through the city gates reaching its crest apparently on Tuesday night. On that night the American and British teachers, at the Wehsien missionary college were aroused by the crash of falling walls and heartrending cries of despairing Chinese. Leaving their homes the teachers plunged into the waters and rescued many from drowning. The American physicians by the use of canoes which they skillfully managed in the dangerous currents, rescued a number of women patients at the hospitals."

Study Marriage Laws
to Prevent Divorce.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Believing that if prospective brides were compelled to read the marriage contract before they sign it there would be fewer divorces, Mrs. Charlotte C. Rhodus, president of the woman's party of Cook county, suggests that all laws relating to the marriage contract be assembled in pamphlet form and presented to each bride before a marriage license is issued.
"Upon signing any other contract than the marriage contract," says Mrs. Rhodus, "the law requires that the contracting parties shall swear they read the instrument and understand its provisions. When the marriage contract is taken as seriously as a sale of real estate we will have fewer divorces."

TURKEY STRIKES

Seizes Opportunity to Free
Herself from Domina-
tion of Powers.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Turkey formally notified the United States and the nations of the world yesterday that she had abrogated the series of conventions, treaties and privileges, originating as early as the eleventh century, whereby foreigners in the Ottoman empire have been exempt from local jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases. Foreign subjects no longer will enjoy what is known as extra territorial rights, through which they have been tried by their own judges, diplomatic representatives or consuls.

This practice, abolished by Japan several years ago through the negotiation of new treaties Turkey has removed by a stroke of the pen. Her purpose, it is declared, is to assert her independence and free herself from the domination of the great powers.

Upon the rights revoked has rested the legal status of American missionaries in Turkey, permitting them to maintain churches, hospitals and schools in religious freedom. Administration officials declined tonight to discuss the effect of the action on American missions.

"The removal of every kind of privileges enjoyed by the powers in excess of what the general principles of international law is the meaning of this step," A. Rustem Bey, Turkish ambassador to the United States, declared last night. "This war is Turkey's opportunity."

No intimation was given by the ambassador as to whether the action fore-shadowed war on Great Britain, without whose consent in the past no such radical action would have been attempted.

Among diplomats of the allied powers, however, the belief prevailed that Turkey was appealing to the nationalist sentiment of her people and was ready to seize upon any difficulties that may arise with Great Britain as a pretext to declare war.

HAS BEEN GRAND SUCCESS.

Milk Depot at First Presbyterian Church About Ready to Close.

After a season that has been a grand success in that it has started a number of Fort Wayne babies on the road to good health, the milk depot maintained at the First Presbyterian church is about to close. The season has passed when babies are exposed to the dangers of improper feeding that exists through the hot months.

Working quietly, but effectively, the good people in charge of the undertaking have accomplished a great amount of good without embarrassing publicity and they feel satisfied with their labors.

With a view of getting the salesmen traveling out of Fort Wayne combined in a boosting campaign for the city, E. W. Puckett, chairman of the Fort Wayne Commercial club committee on entertainment, has called a "get-together" meeting at the club for Tuesday evening, Sept. 15. A smoker and luncheon will feature the session.

True Toasted Corn

Is as different from commonplace corn flakes, as succulent green sweet corn is different from the hard, flinty, yellow grain of the farmer's corn erib.

In spite of the numerous "corn flakes" marketed, few persons really know the rich sweetness of choice corn when skilfully cooked, flavoured and toasted.

This true toasted corn—distinctive in its rich, rare flavour—is called

Post Toasties

A call for "corn flakes" often brings some one of the many brands of ordinary flakes. To avoid disappointment ask for, and insist upon Post Toasties.

This food can be distinguished by the original yellow package; by the rich, true corn flavour imprisoned in the making; and by the size and tender crispness of the golden brown flakes.

Toasties are ready to serve out hot or cold, with cream or good milk—also with fresh fruit in season. A further delicate flavour may be released by heating a few minutes in oven before serving. And it's a flavour worth knowing!

English Woman on Battlefield Tells
American Women What She Saw There

Mrs. St. Clair Stobert, Who Organized Women's Convoy Corps, Writes of Horror Among the Torn and
Mangled Soldiers at the Front.

(One English woman, Mrs. St. Clair Stobert, after much difficulty, secured permission to go to the "firing line" in the late Balkan war and organized the "Women's Convoy Corps," consisting of sixteen young women volunteers; and after terrible privations and endless toil, caring for the mangled Turks and Bulgarians at Kirk Kilise, has put her experience on the line of battle into a book, "War and Women" from which the following extract is taken.—Editor.)

By Mrs. St. Clair Stobert.
I myself am an old campaigner in Africa and elsewhere, and no praise can therefore possibly be due to me for qualities of endurance or for my share in the undertaking. But I feel it is incumbent upon me to refer to this aspect of the experiment as concerns my companions, because it affords the demonstration which was needed, of the fact that women can endure stoically and cheerfully and with safety to themselves, hardships and privations which, being incidental to campaigns of war, have been considered only suitable for men.

The nursing at the Red Cross hospital was in the hands of volunteer women of society, who for the most part wore linen frocks and white caps and aprons, with Red Cross badges on their arms. Though nearly all were untrained and had at first been quite unused to sights of blood and horrors, they one and all gave it an invariable experience that, though they had previously imagined they would faint at the sight of blood, they had not even felt squeamish when it came to the reality. There was no time, they said, for anything but to work at relieving the overwhelming mass of human suffering which was all around.

Nearly all of them had near relatives at the front, and I asked one woman, whose husband and two sons were fighting if she had heard lately from them, and where they now were. She told me that she had not heard for ten days, and that even when they wrote they were not allowed to give the date or the name of the place from which they wrote, nor were they allowed to mention names of those who had been killed or wounded. No list of killed or wounded would be published till the war was over.

(After a seven days' trek in ox carts across the vast, war-stricken wastes of Bulgaria, Mrs. Stobert describes her arrival at the seat of war.)

It was 1 o'clock when the oxen and buffaloes were harnessed in the mud-trampled encampment by the side of the road, on the outskirts of the town. My business now was to find the commandant and receive orders—to find also, as I hoped, my good friend, Dr. Kiranoff.

I asked for orders. These were simple. We were to go through the town and select for ourselves any houses we thought suitable for conversion into hospitals, and set to work at once.

There were thousands of additional wounded hourly expected from Chatalja, and help would be sorely needed.

I had expected that perhaps the buildings would have been already selected, but I of course acquiesced without comment. "And if?" I asked, "the houses we should select should chance to be inhabited—what are we to do?"

"Turn out the inhabitants," was the answer.

"All right," I replied, as though it were part of my daily routine to walk through Turkish towns turning the inhabitants out of their own houses.

When the first day's work was done, I then told me what was the matter, and he then confided to us, after a lit-

BRITISH WOMEN HOSPITAL CORPS ATTACHED TO THE TERRITORIALS PHOTOGRAPHED GOING THROUGH DRILL IN RECENT PRACTICE MANEUVERS.

They dig their own campfire trenches, construct their own camp kitchen and cook their own food in the open, whatever the weather may be.

They perform all their own quartermastering and steward's work, sleep on straw mattresses, in unboarded tents, and, without the aid of male hewers of wood and drawers of water, undergo a general training in improvisation, discipline and self-reliance, and learn, generally speaking, to approximate as nearly as possible to conditions likely to obtain in time of war.

One day at the front estimated that of the 84 patients in our hospital, 48 had been hit in the legs and 16 in the arms, and of the remainder, the injuries were distributed amongst heads, shoulders, ribs, back, etc., while seven of the cases were medical.

This prevalence of leg wounds was explained to me by the soldiers as due to the fact that the Turkish soldier is so illiterate that he can not read the sighting on his rifle and aims point-blank. With the usual result that the bullet hits below the mark at which it is aimed. A man came in with his right arm, shockingly shattered by shrapnel. He had traveled in the usual comfortable ox carts for five days from Lule Burgas.

He arrived in an exhausted condition, and was suffering, as many were when first admitted, from severe shock. He was discovered the next morning weeping inconsolably.

We asked him what was the matter, and he then confided to us, after a little hesitation, that he was engaged to be married, and he was terribly afraid that if—as he feared—he should lose his arm, his fiancée—who was, of course, the only girl in all the world—might refuse to marry him. Owing to the skill of the doctors and the devotion of the nurses, the arm was saved.

Soldiers who came into the hospital with their brains protruding through their skulls, at first paralyzed in speech and in every limb—men with buttocks shot away, men with arms and legs shattered—with wounds which made it impossible to believe as you gazed upon them that this raw, bleeding, nauseous-smelling object formed part of a human being—these one and all recovered in what seemed to me miraculous fashion.

It was to my mind also worthy of note that this little band of women—drawn from classes accustomed in their own homes to every luxury—should have withstood not only the work but the hardships and privations, without a grumble or a word of discontent.

REV. GRIMES AGAIN CHOSEN.

North Manchester Pastor Superintendent of U. B. Conference.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 11.—The Rev. J. E. Grimes, of North Manchester, last evening was elected superintendent at the annual conference of the United Brethren church, which is being held at Otterbein. A number of names were before the conference, but the Rev. Mr.

Grimes received a big vote. He already has served a year as superintendent. The session opened with an address by Bishop H. H. Fouts of Dayton, O. He was editor of the International Sunday School literature for sixteen years, and he gave a talk on the study of the Bible. Dr. Nelson, editor of the Ram's Horn, spoke on temperance and Dr. Schell, secretary of the educational department, and Dr. L. D. Bonebrake, president of the Indiana Central university, addressed the conference last night. Today is Institute day, and the 100 ministers present will be called on to tell of the work being accomplished in their districts.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

VETERANS OF 44TH
HOLD A REUNION

Survivors of the Gallant Band of Warriors of 60's Gather in Avilla Annual Meeting

Avilla, Ind., Sept. 11.—Within a few weeks of the fifty-third anniversary of the regiment's mustering in at Camp Allen, Fort Wayne, the survivors of the gallant Forty-fourth Indiana volunteers met here yesterday for their thirty-fifth annual reunion. There was a fair attendance of the veterans and the reunion was made an enjoyable affair for all of them. Charles Miller, of Orland, was elected president of the association; L. C. Palmer of Hicksville, Ohio, vice president, and J. H. Willis, of Waterloo, secretary. Orland was selected as the place for holding next year's reunion. Attorney Fred L. Bodenbaver, of Kendallville, delivered the address of welcome to the veterans, to which J. J. Gillette responded in behalf of his comrades. A drum carried in the battle of Shiloh by her father was presented by Mrs. Frank Broughton, of Kendallville. Judge Luke H. Wrigley, of Albion, delivered the afternoon address and the program was given a broad variety by recitations, songs, short addresses and reminiscences of the war. It was shown by the report of the secretary that eleven veterans of the Forty-fourth had died since the last reunion. Seventy-five survivors were present.

AN UNDESIRABLE CITIZEN CANNED

A Quiet, Orderly and Perfectly Dignified Affair Participated in by 100 Hicksville Men.

Hicksville, Ohio, Sept. 11.—The Hicksville News this week thus recounts the removal of Charles Myers from "our midst," and tells why:
An expression of disapproval was demonstrated in Hicksville Friday evening that was most unusual but effective.
Charles Myers, member of the firm of the Hicksville Woollen and Tailoring company, was asked by a body of men numbering about 100 to leave town and stay away, and after serious reflection upon the request he acquiesced, departing on No. 3 that evening.
This demonstration was quietly staged. No features were anticipated, although the request was firmly made. There was no occasion for any one "losing his head," and no one did.
The reason given Mr. Myers was that citizens of Hicksville and vicinity objected to his prominence in the domestic trouble in the H. J. Otis household, which, as was stated last week, blossomed forth into a divorce proceeding begun by Mrs. Otis.
Night Marshal Saylor was advised by the crowd that Mr. Myers was not wanted here and he was asked to go to him and inform him of the feeling. Mr. Saylor did as requested, with a view of forestalling any drastic methods, thus keeping the crowd within the bounds of peace and quietude.
Mr. Myers went to Auburn for the night. The next day he returned to Hicksville, and in company with Mr. Saylor, came up town from the depot, between trains, looked after some affairs and got some personal effects.

KILLED BY STEAM SHOVEL.

Night Watchman at Wabash Gravel Pit Near Wolcottville, Crushed.

Wolcottville, Ind., Sept. 11.—The overturning of a steam shovel in the Wabash railroad's gravel pit, one mile east of here, instantly killed Samuel Hart, night watchman at the pit, and seriously injured Daniel Owen, the engineer. Hart's body was pinned beneath the massive shovel and he was terribly crushed. Owen's injuries consist of a badly cut head and painfully wrenched knee. Hart was on the shovel at the time of the accident and had no chance whatever to escape, it is said.

The steam shovel was regarded as dangerous, and this is the second time it overturned since being in operation at the Wabash pit. On the first occasion no one was injured.
Mr. Hart was a prominent citizen here and had resided in Wolcottville for over forty years. He had been employed as watchman at the pit for several years. He was prominent in fraternal circles and was a member of the Masonic order and the Odd Fellows, under whose auspices the funeral will be held.
Besides the widow, three sons, Forrest, brakeman on the Wabash; Ora, of Hammond; and Virgil, at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Harry Reed, of near here, survive.

TO END HIGH SCHOOL HAZING.

Hartford, City, Ind., Sept. 11.—High school hazing and class fights are to end in this city. The school board is contemplating the passage of a resolution against these practices. Any student who violates the rule will be permanently expelled. This action is to be taken in view of the fact that many parents, especially those living in the country, are averse to sending their sons to school in this city because of the rule and oftentimes harmful practices in which the students have indulged. The schools here have been rather the exception and not the rule with regard to hazing and class fights, for there are few cities in the state where these things are allowed. There is a great deal of sentiment here against hazing.

SHOOTER OF WOMAN IN JAIL.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 11.—Pale and haggard and showing plainly the effects of worry and exposure, John Thompson, who shot Miss Ruth Turkes in this city on Thursday afternoon of last week, as she was returning to her home on the Boundary pike, in company with Mrs. Laura Flora and the latter's daughter, Mrs. W. H. Kavenaugh, surrendered himself to Sheriff Cunningham in the early morning at the threshold of the county jail. Thompson had been at liberty since he fired the shot that came near ending the life of Miss Turkes as she crouched behind the hood of the automobile. Miss Turkes is not yet out of danger.

AGED RESIDENT IS DEAD.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Diana Newlin, age 86 years, died at the home of her son, Elijah Newlin, one mile west of the city, Wednesday evening, at 6 o'clock, following a lingering illness of many weeks. Death was the result of the infirmities incident to old age. She was born in Pennsylvania and came to this section of the country in 1866. For twenty years she was a resident of Kendallville, moving to the farm with her son several months ago. Her husband, Jesse Newlin, died nine years ago.

CONVOY MAN BADLY SHOCKED.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 11.—Sherman LaRue, of Convoys, well known in this city, had a narrow escape from instant death when he came in contact with a heavily charged switch at the Ohio Electric interurban station in that town. Mr. LaRue is employed as night agent at that station and it is presumed that he attempted to shut off the power as usual about 11 o'clock and came in contact with the switch, receiving a shock of about 33,000 volts of electricity. He was rendered unconscious and was taken

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 13 THE TEN VIRGINS.

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 25:1-13. GOLDEN TEXT—"Watch therefore for ye know neither the day nor the hour when the Son of Man cometh." Matt. 25:13.

A parable is "an earthly story with a heavenly meaning." An analogy is "a likeness." This story is a parable. It is to illustrate the vigilant, expectant attitude of faith, Heb. 6:28; II Tim. 4:8. Leaving the temple, Jesus drew the disciples' attention to its buildings and predicted its destruction. Proceeding to the Mount of Olives, his disciples ask him, "Tell us, when shall these things be? And what shall be the sign of thy coming, and the end of the world?" In reply Jesus gave the disciples his Olivet discourse and prophecies found in chapters 24 and 25. To fully comprehend this parable we ought to review all of this teaching. The discourse as a whole falls into these parts: (1) 24:1-44 deals with Israel as a nation; (2) 24:45-25:30 deals with the church as being responsible for the king during the period between his two advents; and (3) 25:31-46 deals with the judgment of the nations when the Son of Man comes in his glory. It will be seen then that this lesson comes in the second part and is one of three parables concerning the responsibility of the church. Jesus is the bridegroom, John 3:28, 29; Eph. 5:25; II Cor. 11:2; Rev. 21:9, and sets forth the love of Christ for the church, Eph. 5:25, 28, 30-32.

Two Classes.

I. "While the bridegroom tarried" vv. 1-5. The first and strongest idea of this section is that he, Jesus, the bridegroom, is coming again. Among those who wait are two classes, the wise and the foolish, though both were right in their intention. The lamps symbolize Christian profession, Luke 12:35; II Tim. 3:5, and the oil that which is essential to give us power whereby we maintain our profession, Acts 10:38; I John 2:20-27. The foolish virgins were superficial and had not enough to maintain their professions. The wise virgins had enough oil; so also may the believer have the abiding spirit of Christ's presence wherein to maintain his Christian profession. Waiting they all nodded (slumbered) and others evidently lay down (slept). The wise virgins could afford to rest as they had all things ready. If they had been awake, however, they might have seen and rendered aid to those who were in the sorry plight of not being ready. The tarrying was a test of the faith and patience of both the wise and the foolish as both awaited the "fulness of time" when he should appear.

The Great Question.

II. Behold the bridegroom cometh" vv. 6-13. All are awakened by this midnight cry. The hour was one when he was least expected, and the church of today needs to be awakened to a realizing sense of this truth. Both the wise and the foolish have to meet him, but the wise were the only ones whose lights could shine and show the way into the banquet room. They all outwardly appear alike even to the very point of separation. The church of God individually and collectively, has yet to sense the danger to it and to others if its light for any reason be not continuous. This cry was a call to "meet him" and we all need to ask ourselves, "are we ready to meet him?" The hour was too late to make needful preparation to meet him. In their emergency they turned to the five wise ones but the wisdom of one cannot supply the deficiency or the foolishness of others (v. 9). There is no Scripture to support the teaching that one man's merit is applicable to another except the merit of the God-man Jesus as applied to sinful humanity. Hence the wise sent their sisters to the original source of supply for oil, and as they went "the bridegroom came." So will it be with all who put off too long the securing of the Holy Spirit in their lives.

"They that were ready" went in, they that were not ready when they came found the door "shut." To attend a marriage feast is highly esteemed everywhere, but it is a privilege that is worthy of careful preparation. Remember that Jesus is here showing the attitude towards himself of those who profess to be devoted to him during the period of his absence, and who expect his return as king. That being so, we need to remind ourselves of the laws of the kingdom as he gave them. Jesus knows those that are his, John 10:27; II Tim. 2:19; I Cor. 8:3, but such are not those who make a mere outward profession of faith and lack the abiding presence and power of the Holy Spirit. The day of separation between the true and the false is surely coming, a time when the real, genuine, Spirit-filled Christian will rejoice "at his coming."

The lesson for us is "Watch." Because we do not know the day nor the hour when he will come, therefore "watch." This word does not mean simply to look or to gaze but to be awake, to be vigilant.

THIS BRASS BED OUTFIT

Including the New Ball Post Brass Bed Cotton Surface Mattress and all Metal Spring

Terms: $2.00 Cash; Weekly or Monthly Terms to Suit

You Naturally Would Like to Know How We Can Afford to Make This Offer

It is the most natural thing in the world to wonder how any firm can afford to sell furniture at such low prices (and it must indeed be evident to anyone that $19.50 is an exceedingly low price for this Brass Bed Outfit). Our reason for offering this Brass Bed Outfit at $19.50 is as follows: The inducement of a "Bargain" pleases our regular customers and brings in new customers whom we can also please and make permanent customers. Our sale is a mutual benefit—you profit and so do we—in every case you get value plus, otherwise there would be no inducement. In many cases you make more money on the purchase of an article of furniture than we do. But we gladly sacrifice the retailer's customary profit in order that more people may become better acquainted with this institution. Not through printed advertisements, but through actual contact with our organization, which will be more convincing of the service we render our customers, the quality of merchandise, our liberality of credit and lowness of price than we could possibly convey in any printed advertisement.

A Most Distinctive Brass Bed Design

The Brass Bed manufacturers are constantly striving to produce Brass Bed designs that are not over-ornate and yet having enough distinctiveness to them to be pleasing to the American family that wishes exclusive things in its home. And this Brass Bed design created recently by the Simmons Manufacturing Company meets this condition in every respect. It is simple in its lines, yet very out of the ordinary and does not involve high manufacturing costs which bring this bed within the means of everyone.

The Mattresses' Downy Surface of Cotton

The makers of the mattresses included in this outfit have studied for years to produce a mattress that was not only extremely comfortable, but would also withstand constant use without becoming lumpy. This sanitary mattress is the result of years of experimenting. The required resiliency and proof against lumping is produced by a combination of materials, the surface being soft Sanitary Cotton. The ticking in which this mattress is encased is extra durable.

Do Not Delay Your Selection

The only disadvantage of offering these specials at the low prices we do lies in the fact that very often we underestimate the demand that our offers will create and sometimes our entire stock is sold in a few hours and those who put off their selection are disappointed. Therefore, we warn you to attend this sale as early as possible to avoid the possibility of being disappointed.

$2.00 Delivers All Three Pieces

No better evidence of our sincere desire to make it as easy as possible for everyone to profit by our special sales could be asked for than the low terms we offer. The man of little income can share in these special sales as well as a man of large income who can afford to pay cash. If any man offered to buy twenty-five of these outfits and pay spot cash for them, he could not possibly buy them for any less than the man who buys but one of these outfits and pays for it on the credit terms of $2.00 cash and balance weekly or monthly to suit.

Guaranteed Construction and Finish

The Simmons Manufacturing Company is unquestionably the largest producer of Brass Beds in America and they do not produce any beds which they cannot guarantee both as to finish and construction. The lacquering on this bed is of the very highest quality applied according to a patent controlled by this factory. This lacquering is proof against all common acids, soaps, etc., and every part is screwed and bolted rigidly in place.

You Can Estimate Its True Value

We prefer letting you be the judge of the actual worth or regular selling price of this outfit. Or rather still, we would like to have you inquire at any furniture store to find out what an outfit of this sort actually sells for in the average store. It will be far more convincing to have someone else tell you the regular selling price than ourselves. We will say this much though, if any dealer in this city offers this outfit for anywhere near this price, we will refund your money gladly.

PIGEON SPY BETRAYED.

London, Sept. 11.—A story of the capture of a spy near Namur, told by a soldier to a Belgian angler, has been received. Belgian soldiers in a wood near Namur saw a man fishing and taking no notice of patrols that passed. Questioned as to what luck he had had, the answer was, "The beggars won't bite." From the fishing basket on which he was sitting came the unusual sound of a "coo-coo," and another spy was caught. "My friend," says the correspondent, "said that the pigeons were fairly tender."

GEN. BOTHA'S SON ENLISTS.

Johannesburg, South Africa, Sept. 11.—General Botha's son, who is aged 17, has left school and enlisted as a private for active service, without obtaining his parents' consent. His parents, however, are understood not to offer any opposition.

THREE GENERATIONS WIPED OUT.

Amsterdam, Sept. 11.—The Dutch illustrated weekly newspaper, Het Leven, prints a narrative by the Dutch writer, Dr. Lambertus H. van der Maas, of Maastricht. The story begins with the Franco-German war of 1870 and concerns a farmer's family named Hauff, then living in Alsace. When the Germans invaded Alsace they plundered Hauff's farm. Hauff shot a couple of them and was shot himself. His wife found her little boy weeping on the body of his father. "Mamma," said the boy, "when I have grown up I will shoot the Germans who killed father." Mme. Hauff settled near Vise. Her son married and had two sons. When the Germans came into Vise the other day Farmer Hauff shot one of them. "My friend," says the correspondent, "said that the pigeons were fairly tender."

DIFFERENCES WITH PANAMA ARE CLEARED UP BY TREATY

Differences between the United States and the Republic of Panama by which boundaries are fixed to the better understanding of both countries have been cleared away by the new treaty signed at Panama by William Jennings Bryan, American Minister, and Ernesto T. Lefevre, Secretary of Foreign Relations of Panama. The principal object of the United States—the safeguarding of the Panama Canal from attack of a foreign power by the acquisition of islands and control of waters commanding important approaches—has been accomplished.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You
Have Been Eating too
Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's uric waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

JELlicoe RULES THE KING'S NAVY

But His Wee Daughters
Rule the Noted British Admiral.

(By Nikola Greeley-Smith.)
"At this grave moment in our national history, I send to and through you to the officers and men of the fleet of which you have assumed command, the assurance of my confidence that under direction they will revive and renew the old glories of the royal navy and prove again the sure shield of Britain and her empire in the hour of trial."
—"GEORGE, R. I."

The man who received this splendid message from the king of England on Aug. 4th, the day that war was declared between Great Britain and Germany, is Admiral Sir John Rushton Jellicoe.

No man since the hero of Trafalgar has had such absolute power over the marine forces of England as this quiet, shrewd eyed man of 54, who British sailors call the "future Nelson."

Jellicoe has been at sea ever since he was thirteen years old. Born in 1859 he entered the navy in 1872.

At 22 he had his first whiff of gunpowder in the naval attack on Alexandria, Egypt. In 1886 he gained his first navy medal. This was given to him for gallantry in attempting to save life. As a lieutenant on the Monarch he commanded a gig which went to the assistance of a ship stranded off Gibraltar in a pounding sea. The gig was capsized by the murderous force of the waves and the gallant rescuers were compelled to swim for their lives. This incident and the fact that he survived the greatest disaster in the history of the British navy, the collision between the Victoria and the Camperdown, led the British jacks to remark irreverently of their supreme chief that he "must be born to be 'anged as you cawn't drown 'im."

Jellicoe was actually a commander on the Victoria, but at the time of the collision he was sick in his cabin with Malta fever. The collision which sank the pride of the English navy saved Jellicoe's life.

"With the aid of a midshipman I escaped from my sick bed into the sea and swam about until I was picked up," he said once. "It was a terrible ordeal for a man ill with a burning fever, but at that I believe it saved my life. My temperature when I jumped into the sea was 103. When I was picked up it had dropped to normal—98—and my illness never returned."

Jellicoe saw distinguished service in the Chinese Boxer Rebellion in 1900 and was severely wounded in the advance on Peking. For this he was made Knight Commander of the Bath and received the Order of the Red Eagle from the Kaiser.

From that time on Jellicoe rose rapidly in his profession. He was largely responsible for the great improvement in gunnery practice shown by the British navy in recent years. From 42 hits out of a hundred rounds of ammunition Jellicoe increased the average percentage to 70 in less than one year. For this the king made him a knight.

Like Kitchener, Jellicoe believed for a long time that "Down to Gehenna or up to the Throne, He travels the fastest who travels Alone!"

He used to say that a good husband can't be a good sailor and vice versa. The admiral changed his mind, however, when in 1902, at the age of 42, he met Miss Florence Gwendoline Cayzer, daughter of Sir Charles Cayzer, and fell in love with her. After an impetuous wooing worthy of the great Nelson the daughter of one of England's wealthiest shipowners accepted him and they were married. They have three little daughters who rule the supreme admiral of the world's greatest fleet with an iron severity.

Today's Lesson in War Geography.

LA FERTE-SOUS-JOUARRE—A town of 4,000 inhabitants, lying in a beautiful valley between high wooded hills, about 40 miles to the east of Paris. There are the ruins of a thirteenth century convent and a beautiful fifteenth century church in the village.

EPERNAY—Center of the champagne industry. The town has a population of 26,000, and is extremely prosperous. The champagne cellars, miles of galleries hewn in the solid chalk cliffs, draw visitors from all over the country. There are 5,000,000 bottles of champagne laid down annually in these cellars.

VITRY LE FRANCOIS—Once a strongly fortified place founded by Francis I in 1545. The population is now 9,000. The village is near to Brienne-le-Chateau, the famous seat of the military school of which Napoleon I was a pupil.

MIKOLAJOW—A strong fortress on the banks of the Dniester, 28 miles south of Lemberg, in the neighborhood of large gypsum quarries. The fortress is equipped with steel cupolas and heavy guns, and commands the river, valley and the railroad.

STANISLAU—An important trading town and railroad center, with a population of over 33,000, half of which is Jewish. It is 87 miles from Lemberg and within sight of the Carpathian mountains. Branch railroad lines from this town to Strzy and many other smaller places makes its possession of great strategic value.

STRZY—A busy town with a great cattle market, on the slopes of the Carpathian foothills. As the center of a cattle raising district. Strzy is of great value to the Russian commissary department. The population is 30,000.

Acute Indigestion.

"I was annoyed for over a year by attacks of acute indigestion, followed by constipation," writes Mrs. M. J. Gallagher, Geneva, N. Y. "I tried everything that was recommended to me for this complaint but nothing did me much good until about four months ago I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I soon realized that I had gotten the right thing for they helped me at once. Since taking two bottles of them I can eat heartily without any bad effects. Sold by all dealers.—Adv.

TIDE EBBS AND FLOWS IN FIVE DAYS' FIGHTING

impetuously which characterized the first month of the war.

Enough damage already has been inflicted to give the antagonists a whole some respect for the fighting power of each other.

Germans Are Strengthened.

Lasonic official announcement declares that the Germans have been driven back 36 to 47 miles from the line they had reached to the east of Paris, but no indication is given of the breaking of the powerful battle array which swept through Belgium and northern France. Berlin admits that its forces have retired before the attack of the allies, but the invaders have been strengthened by the arrival of fresh troops from Belgium, and they may resume the offensive. The allies also are said to be preparing for German reinforcements by bringing up reserves. A French offensive is not unexpected by military experts as the French lines occupy ground that has been used for many years for maneuvers; consequently every inch of it is known to the French officers. There are indications here that the reported extremity of the Austrian forces in Galicia is exaggerated. The Russians apparently have halted their attack either because of exhaustion or because the Austrian and German forces were found to be unexpectedly strong.

On the east Prussian front neither side seems to have been able to hold its positions. There is a possibility, however, that Russia is awaiting the advent of winter, which will freeze the marshes, before making a serious attack in this direction. Germany has about 500,000 men along the east Prussian border and will doubtless make a stubborn stand there to prevent the opening of the most direct road to Berlin.

Nish reports the capture of the Austrian stronghold of Semlin. If this is confirmed it means that Belgrade is relieved from investment after stubbornly resisting an Austrian bombardment since the beginning of the war. The supposed retirement of the Germans from a portion of the territory they occupied in Belgium has apparently led to tentative efforts on the part of Belgian troops to assume an offensive movement against their strong base at Antwerp.

FRENCH CLAIM ADVANCE.

Bordeaux Says Gain is Made Against German Right Wing.
Washington, Sept. 11.—The French

embassy today received from Bordeaux the following dispatch dated Sept. 11, but presumably written last night:

"Today, at eighteen o'clock (6 p. m.) from indications given by the war department marked advances against the German right wing have been gained by our troops. To the north of La Feltous Jouaire, the first German army was obliged to recross the Marne and yesterday night below a line formed by the river Landins and Mezy and Foren Triens.

"The main valley was free from German troops according to reports. French troops at Champagne were forced by the Third German army to retire to Gourgoncon and Salons, but part of what we lost was regained. The fifth German army before Vassincourt in the Argon was attacked by our troops. We progressed slightly.

"The fort Genicourt in the Meuse was attacked by the Germans.

"Slight progress on the road to Chateau Salins in Lorraine by the sixth German army in the forest of Champagne. Part of that advance was lost.

"As for Maubeuge, we have no official confirmation of its having been taken. The garrison was not half what German agencies say."

TURKEY REJECTED OFFER.

Was Approached by Entente Powers, Declares Berlin.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The German embassy today received the following message from Berlin:

"The three entente powers apprehending Turkey's intervention in favor of Germany and Austria, expressed to Turkey their readiness to consent to the abolition of capitulations in case of Turkey's neutrality during the present war.

"Turkey replied that her neutrality was not to be purchased and drawing the consequences from the notification of the entente Ambassadors at once issued irades revoking the capitulation."

GERMANS SHOW

joy of the offensive and wished to taste it to the full.

"On Tuesday the German command became apprehensive for the safety of its communications and saw looming on its right flank a possibility of disaster.

"North of Paris the French found room for assembling a large army and while the British were slipping from the northeast of Paris to the east with the Germans, their place of glory was taken by a strong French force which moved up to the river Ourcq and became a very serious menace to the enemy's retreating movement.

"The Ourcq formed the upper blade of a pair of shears of which, as they were gradually closed, the Grande Morin, the Petit Morin and the river Marne formed the lower blade.

"Immediately the German staff realized this situation it endeavored to extricate itself from between the blades by a rapid retreat and by a series of furious but fruitless onslaughts upon the French holding the right bank of the Ourcq.

"The fighting here has been of a peculiarly desperate character which is shown by the fact that two standards captured, one of the 36th infantry regiment of Magdeburg, was torn from the hands of its bearer by a French infantry reservist."

CLASH OVER WAR ARGUMENT.

Fifty Men in Maine Lumber Camp Engage in Battle.

Millinocket, Me., Sept. 11.—More than 50 lumber men battled in the woods at Grand Brook last night after an argument over the European war. One man was killed and three were injured according to reports which came here. Grand Brook is 14 miles in the woods. Two sheriffs who went to the scene with deputies are reported to be on their way here with 53 prisoners. The lumbermen are part of a crew of the Great Northern Paper company. Most of them are Poles and French Canadians.

CONTEST CLOSES UP ON SATURDAY

Better Babies to Be Examined All Day to Finish Up the Work.

In order to finish up the work of examining babies entered in the better babies contest at the court house, the committee from the Fort Wayne Mothers' club has decided to begin examinations at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning and continue through the day. All babies presented from three to six months old and from three to four years old will be examined, if it is possible, to complete the task.

This change is made necessary that the contest was originally scheduled for five days and cannot be continued into next week, as the physicians and nurses have given liberally of their time and the club members do not feel that they can reasonably ask them to go further.

The attendance on Friday afternoon was fully up to the high standard of the preceding days and every member of the medical staff was put to his and her best to get through. The examinations were to continue as late in the afternoon as circumstances would admit of.

Work is progressing on the score cards, but in two classes there were 230 babies and it takes some time to go over these cards and get at the results. Announcements of the findings will be made through the newspapers and if means can be provided the score cards will be sent to the mothers for their guidance in advancing the welfare of their children.

One of the entries for Friday afternoon was a prize winner of last year, but the name was not made known to the examiners and this child went before them on the same basis as the others. Many handsome children have been presented every day during the contest and the entries today were well up to the high standard.

Final entries will be made tomorrow and mothers will find it to their interest to go to the court house as early as possible.

OFFER TO JACK HENDRICKS.

Chicago Baseball Public Much Interested in Reported Tender.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Chicagoans today attempting to get first-hand information on the report that Jack Hendricks had been offered the management of the Chicago Nationals were unable to find President Thomas, of the local club, though he was supposed to have returned from Indianapolis. The report was generally credited that Hendricks had declined the offer because of his long association with Owner James C. McGil in Denver and Indianapolis, came a rumor from Cincinnati that Mr. McGil himself might "buy into" the Chicago club and take active part in its affairs. Hendricks learned his baseball here, as a member of semiprofessional teams. He is a Chicago resident in the winter.

AT THE MAJESTIC

Ruth St. Denis This Evening.

The Battle Creek Tribune of Sept. 9 has the following to say of Ruth St. Denis who comes to the Majestic this evening:

"Battle Creek looked into the orient last night and saw its most artistic dances; it looked back into ancient Greece in the heyday of that nation and saw its most classic dances; and it looked into the modern day and witnessed the dances which are to be seen on the ballroom floors at the present time. For Ruth St. Denis was here, and with her Ted Shawn and Hilda Beyer, clever dancers, who vied with the star for popular favor.

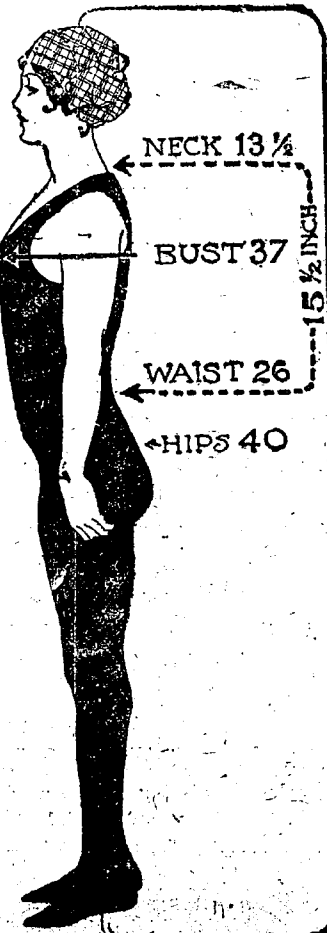

"Battle Creek has seen grand opera, it has seen light opera, it has seen comic opera. But seldom has it been privileged to witness a performance so classic as that which Miss St. Denis brought to the Post theater last night and played before a large and appreciative audience.

"Miss St. Denis, in her famous Hindu temple dance, closed the performance. The scene was lavishly set for an ancient temple, while real Hindus acted as attendants. In this Miss St. Denis, as the idol in which the spirit suddenly returns, dances the dance of sight, hearing, smell, touch and taste, and then returns to the pedestal as the idol. The scenic effects and lighting of this portion were most beautiful."

"Freckles" Saturday Matinee and Night.

"Freckles," a lad famous in the pages of a most charming story written by Gene Stratton-Porter, appears now on the stage in a dramatization of the book "Freckles" will be presented at the Majestic on Saturday matinee and night. The story of the play is simple and altogether charming. The scene is laid in the depths of the virgin forests

ONE OF THE FINEST READY-TO-WEAR DEPARTMENTS IN THIS PART OF THE COUNTRY.

This welcome addition to our business will find a happy accord in the hearts of all thrifty women; and with all critical dressers who recognize the hat is no more important than the gown, coat or dress that accompanies it—the finished costume depends for its success on the harmonious whole, and that is easier of accomplishment when the stylish dresser can try on the hat and gown at one and the same time. Economy of effort, economy of time, economy of price, and a maximum of satisfaction are the certain results of this system. We have adopted this plan in answer to the many requests of our patrons that we install this ready-to-wear department.

Our buyers have just returned from the eastern markets with the most carefully selected assortments of fall attire. From a Fort Wayne everything as new as the morning—everything as stylish—every garment is as stylish and becoming as human ingenuity and artistic effort can make it. So Here is Our Broad Welcome to Every Woman to Come and Enjoy the Exhibit Friday and Saturday, the Opening Days.

We want you to tell your friends to share this invitation with you and see with what infinite care and discrimination we have chosen to meet your critical requirements in ready-to-wear attire.

known as the "Lumberlost." It is not only a faithful study of the great "Lumberlost," but it is also a complete picture of the conditions that existed in the now famous timber belt of Indiana.

"The Under Dog," a new four-act drama by Rachael Marshall and Oliver Bailey, comes to the Majestic Monday and Tuesday with Tuesday matinee. It is a story of gripping and intense human interest in which two love stories and the tangled threads of four captivating Americans are beautifully and brilliantly united in a sandy happy ending. There is no sermonizing or weary preaching in the crisp and often laughable dialogue, but in the life of the lad who is "the under dog" of the

Signor, Monsieur, Herr, Don or whatever the proper handle is for Rapoli's monicker, would be a fright in the present European war situation, if he caught the enemies' cannon balls as easily as he does those that are hurled at him during the course of his juggling act on the Temple's current bill. The Ruten Song Birds have an exceptionally attractive act, closing with a lively bit of singing and stage business. Katherine Luce Ruten, the petite comedienne of the company, is a winsome little miss with a sweet voice and a contagious style all her own, while her brother's sweet, full boy soprano is a source of constant delight. George Dixon, the musical jack in the box, pops out of his box for all the world like the toy that is one of childhood's best friends. His instrumental music is excellent. AT THE EMPRESS

The Empress theater has a very interesting act as its headliner for the latter part of the week. In "The Dining Car Minstrels" a very entertaining quarter hour of songs and jokes is offered the Fort Wayne public. The act is set in a handsome Pullman dining car. Two women passengers, one man passenger and two colored waiters participate in the sketch. Howard and Fields, the best minstrel men of the day are the colored waiters, while the man passenger is the interlocutor. Dixon, Bowers and Dixon, with Anna Burt, appear in "The Arkansas Fiddler." Miss Burt does some remarkable work on the tight wire while the others live the proceedings with inimitable comedy. Haydn, Burton and Haydn present "Original Oddities." Two pretty girl scholars, calling themselves "Black and White," have a very entertaining gymnastic act, while Taz Weatherford imitates all the inhabitants of a barnyard and some other things in a really remarkable manner. The Joe Funtion athletes are great. Excellent motion pictures complete the regular bill.

The Empress management has specially engaged for the latter part of the week Ralph D. Tompkins, a one-legged peddler, who is covering the whole of the United States on one foot.

THE ORPHEUM.

A STRANGE STORY.

"A Mysterious Mystery" at the Orpheum Today.

In the two-reel Victor drama which is being shown this afternoon and which will be repeated this evening at the Orpheum, is really a play within a play. Those who have had an advance look at the picture describe it as one of the queerest mystery dramas ever conceived. At the opening of the piece Miss Florence Lawrence, the "movie" star, is seen entering a motion picture house, where "A Mysterious Mystery" is being shown. Strange as the arrangement may seem, Miss Lawrence appears in herself in the story—that is, she does not act the part of another person. There is a plenty of comedy and some tragedy before the story ends.

Another story of interest to be shown with "A Mysterious Mystery" is entitled "The Juvenile Reformer," which brings before Fort Wayne motion picture fans for the first time Little Matty Roubert, "The Universal Boy." A dog figures strongly in the story, which depicts some interesting phases of city life.

Tomorrow's Program.
On Saturday the Orpheum will present "Our Enemy's Spy," a splendid three-reel military spectacle by the Bison company. William Clifford and Marig Welcom will play the leads.

Today and tomorrow the Orpheum orchestra will render two pleasing programs.

BOSTON CLUB IS LOCAL FAVORITE

Fandom Wanted Series in the West But Can't Get It This Year.

If the selection of the team to finish at the head of the National league pennant race for 1914 had been left to the great number of fans in Fort Wayne who follow the schedule in the major leagues, the choice would probably have fallen on Chicago or St. Louis, with the Cardinals given the edge, but with all of the clubs in the western division counted out, Boston is the favorite here.

If Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburgh or Cincinnati had won the flag opportunity would have been afforded many lovers of the game to see part of the world series, and this is probably the reason hoisted in one of the western ball yards. With Boston and Philadelphia, or New York and Philadelphia, the championship of the world there is little chance that Fort Wayne people will see any of the games.

Pulling for Boston is natural. When a team comes straight through from the bottom to the top of the percentage column, the mere fact that it has accomplished this unusual feat draws a big following. The Giants have won too many National league pennants and the public is so sickle that it wants a change.

Tickers and score boards are drawing a lot of people during the present fight between the Braves and the Giants and the sentiment of the public can easily be gathered by listening to the drift of the talk.

Fear was expressed that Boston would break under the strain but just at the time it looks like New York is not equal to the trying fight that is being waged. When a master of the pitching art of the caliber of Christy Mathewson is unable to win against Brooklyn with his badly balanced club there is ample evidence that the break is falling where the public least expected it.

Beginning Saturday Boston will tackle the Brooklyn aggregation, which has steadily been making the Giant chances for the championship. If the Braves can show they are equal to the task of defeating the Boston contingent, Boston has the advantage of being at home, and this is counted as a decided aid in any race. New York will play at Philadelphia and will meet some stubborn resistance there.

The season has nearly a month to run as the schedule will end on Oct. 7 in the east, and in the meantime there is opportunity for John M. Grant to bolster up his wavering battle line and show the great American public one of those strong finishes for which he has become famous.

MARANVILLE HAS RECORD SIGHTED

Is in Position to Lead the World in Starting Double Plays.

(By Ernest J. Langdon.)
Walter Maranville, diminutive shortstop of the Braves, is leading both major leagues in starting double plays this season and probably will set a new record in this respect. The agile infielder up to last Saturday had made the pioneer move in thirty-six two-ply killings, which was eight more than any other National or American leaguer had set under way. The "Warbler's" nearest rival in taking the initiative in duplex massacres is Owen Bush, of the Tigers. He has twenty-eight to his credit.

This is the third season statisticians have kept track of the number of double plays each major leaguer has started. The topnotch figure previously was 41, Arthur Fletcher, of the Giants, setting this number of run smothering stunts in motion in 1912. Lacked in the National league leader was Bob Fisher, of Brooklyn, with 36 to his credit. The American league's pace setters were Jack Barry, of Philadelphia, in 1912, with 34, and Owen Bush, of Detroit, and Ray Chapman, of Cleveland, in 1913 with 26. Maranville will undoubtedly smash all previous records to infinitesimal smithereens. Experts are of the opinion that he will be a Chalmers car winner this year as well.

Maranville has started about 39 per cent of the double plays made by the Braves. Bush takes credit for setting in motion 33 per cent of the Tiger's duplex killings, the records of the other shortstops in starting double plays being as follows:

National League.
Wagner, Pirates, 35 per cent; Herzog, Reds, 27 per cent; Corriden, Cubs, 23 per cent; Fletcher, Giants, 21 per cent; O'Mara, Superbas, 13 per cent; Martin, Phillies, 12 per cent; Butler, Cardinals, 11 per cent.

American League.
McBride, Senators, 30 per cent; Barry, White Elephants, 28 per cent; Scott, Red Sox, 25 per cent; Peckinpaugh, Yankees, 19 per cent; Vares, Browns, 17 per cent; Weaver, White Sox, 16 per cent; Chapman, Naps, 15 per cent.

The second baseman who has started the most double plays this year is Larry Doyle, of the Giants, in the National, and Derrill Pratt, of the Browns, in the American. Each athlete has inaugurated 18. Miller Huggins, of the Cardinals, has started 15 and Chubby Dovers, Maranville's side partner, 17. The Maranville-Dovers-Schmidt combination is destined to become as famous in starting double plays as the celebrated trio of Tinker, Evers and Chance. The last year Johnny Schmitz, of the Yankees, started 16, and studying this question, it was impossible to get complete data as to nationalities. In the major leagues were found representatives of sixteen nations each.

THE NUMBER OF DOUBLE PLAYS STARTED BY THE SECOND BASEMEN OF EACH TEAM IS AS FOLLOWS:

Braves—55.
Maranville, 17; Duguey, second base, 2; Chapman, shortstop, 14; Lajoie, second base, 12; Olson, second base, 10; Vares, second base, 8; Wambagans, shortstop, 3; Blisland, shortstop, 2; Chapman, second base, 2; Turner, second base, 1; Wambagans, second base, 1.

Red Sox—43.
Scott, shortstop, 20; Vares, second base, 16; Janvrin, second base, 6; Janvrin, shortstop, 1; Engle, second base, 1.

Giants—40.
Doyle, second base, 19; Fletcher, shortstop, 18; Grant, shortstop, 2; Grant, second base, 1.

Reds—39.
Herzog, shortstop, 20; Groh, second base, 16; Berghammer, second base, 2; Berghammer, shortstop, 1.

Tigers—39.
Bush, shortstop, 28; Kavanagh, second base, 10; Heilmann, second base, 1.

BASE BALL IS GETTING TO BE COSMOPOLITAN GAME IN THE UNITED STATES

WILLIAMS IS A HAWAIIAN; BENDER AN INDIAN; ACOSTA IS A CUBAN.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton.)
Have you thought what a cosmopolitan game baseball is getting to be here in the United States? In going over Louie Heilmann's "Japs" at Fort Wayne and studying this question, it was impossible to get complete data as to nationalities. In the major leagues were found representatives of sixteen nations each.

There were representatives of four races. A rapid search through the names revealed twenty-two Cubans and about thirty Indians, one Chinaman, one Jap, in organized baseball. More than two dozen French-Canadians were discovered. The Cubans appear to be an even more active ingredient than the others. Take the major leagues; there was Maranville and there is Gonzalez, with Cincinnati.

Washington has Acosta, Boston had Luque, and two others who have gone back. Three tried out with New York. They are excellent throwers and runners, but few of them can hit much, although they show improvement each year.

The Indian is coming into baseball in large numbers. New York has Myers and Thorpe. Philadelphia has Bender. There is Tineup and Bluejacket. Hawaii thus far has sent us only one player of major caliber. He is Williams, who was with Detroit and now with Sacramento, and will be heard from here, if he comes.

There are a dozen over there who are rated as high or higher. In Honolulu the best player is half Chinese, half South Sea Islander.

The range of the scouts is widening.

GONE TO PERU HOSPITAL.

Engineer John Owens Injured in Gravel Pit Accident.

John Owens, the Wabash engineer who went down into the gravel pit at Wolcottville yesterday morning, with the clam shell derrick, which he was operating, was not permanently injured as feared. He is able to get about with crutches and hobbled to the train which took him to Peru last night. He will go in the hospital there to remain until he is able to resume work. Mr. Owens is a Fort Wayne man and before going to Wolcottville a few weeks ago to take charge of the clam shell derrick, he had charge of "Fido," the little switch engine in the Wabash shop yards in this city.

When the derrick went into the gravel pit yesterday, it caught Samuel Hartz, the night watchman, in such position that he was held beneath the water in the pit until he was drowned. Some time afterwards the body was released and was found floating in the water, but life was extinct. Hartz was an old resident of Wolcottville, having resided there over thirty years. He is survived by a widow, a daughter and two sons. This was the second time the steam derrick upset at Wolcottville. The first time no one was injured, however.

THUMB BROKEN AND BRUISED.

Machinist Charles W. Rodenbeck, of the Pennsylvania air brake department, sustained injuries this morning which will put him out of commission for a week or two. While he was standing at the side of a locomotive, with his left hand resting on a part of it, another workman pushed a piece of the machinery through in such manner that it caught Mr. Rodenbeck's hand. The thumb was bruised and the bone fractured, a combination of injuries that is painful. The company's surgeon attended the unfortunate man.

WILL BEGIN OPERATIONS NEXT WEEK.

In another week galvanized roll roofing, ridge roll, troughs, valleys for roofs, spouting and kindred products will be made in Fort Wayne and placed on the markets at wholesale. The Schaab Roofing and Supply company of Monroeville, has leased the brick building at the corner of First and Harrison streets, and is equipping it with machinery. This will be accomplished early next week, when the plant will be put in operation. It will employ a small force in the start, but a few years will probably find several hundred men on the company's pay rolls. A. E. Schaab, a member of the firm, has already moved to the city and the other members will bring their families here in a few weeks.

IS GREAT ADVERTISING FEATURE.

An advertising feature and business getter the demonstrating automobile out on the road in the interest of the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump works has few equals. This car carries an oil tank and its appurtenances ready for use and the orders that are coming in from the route over which it is plying indicate that it did the work well. The demonstrator, in charge of W. P. Canaday, one of the company's salesmen, started from Fulton, Ill. several weeks ago and followed the Lincoln highway to New York. It will probably be sent out in another direction when it returns to Fort Wayne.

THEY POURED IN LIKE FLOODTIDE

Writer Describes Invasion of France from German Viewpoint.

Viewpoint.

London, Sept. 11.—A m. a. Correspondent of the Associated Press, who has been through Belgium, sends a long message from Rotterdam which was rather heavily censored throughout, but which appears to be an account of the invasion of Belgium obtained from a German point of view. Something was deleted at the beginning. The story follows:

"From Brussels the German army poured over southern Belgium like a floodtide, spreading like a fan in the directions of Beaumont, Maubeuge, Mons and Lille, joining in the south of Belgium with other army corps proceeding from Gembloux, Dinant and Givet, totalling 40 army corps or over a million and half of men.

"They went over the French border without serious resistance, the French scattering before them in great disorder, leaving behind much war material and all sorts of personal equipment, the retreat extending as far as the forest of Mormal, northern France.

"Several rearguard actions occurred, resulting in considerable losses to both sides and bringing up the losses of the Germans in Belgium to about 50,000.

"Many Skirmishes Follow.

"From the Binche country southward in the direction of Maubeuge innumerable skirmishes occurred from August 22 to August 26. At Bray, just west of Binche, the French and English were repulsed by the Germans. The French then retreated to Boune Esperance where, after another skirmish, they fell back through Merbes, Saint St. Mare and Merbes-le-Chateau, 10,000 English retreating to Jeumont at the same time.

"Engagements in the vicinity of Bruissiere and Thimn constituted the most determined resistance offered by the allies during two days' continuous artillery duel, which swept the surrounding country and demolished almost every structure, the entire right wing of the allies withdrew far to the southward. This gave the Germans an opportunity to sweep throughout Beaumont and approach Maubeuge from the south.

"Meanwhile the other corps had approached Maubeuge from the north, cutting into the fortress. The English and French were on Aug. 23, driven across the Sambre river where, on the bank of the river in a 30 miles front, fighting continued for three days.

"Germans Move Rapidly.

"The correspondent first saw actual firing in the direction of Maubeuge on August 26, when white puffs of the German shrapnel clouded the horizon, but the forward movement of the German columns was so fast that when the correspondent reached the scene of the recent engagement the firing line had advanced fully ten miles southward. An extensive trench system, laid out by the French in front, marked the French retreat.

"The German wounded, in all cases, were immediately cared for and the dead buried as fast as the army continued on the march, while the French dead were left unburied and the wounded, in some cases, remained on the battlefield for three days before receiving attention.

"Large numbers of French wounded were brought into Solre-sur-Sambre from the surrounding woods, whether many had dragged themselves to escape. Every conceivable kind of building, such as the chateau, school house and inn, was used as a hospital and here the wounded received prompt attention, the French wounded being accorded the same care as the German wounded.

"A large proportion of the French wounded died from lack of prompt attention and long exposure in the open without food or drink. No cases were observed where French medical men were left behind to take care of their wounded. The German medical corps was fully occupied with the treatment of its own wounded and was hastened onward by the forced marches of extraordinary speed and duration made by the Germans.

"French Dead Everywhere.

The French dead, in all sorts of conveances, were a common sight, and squares and cemeteries with unfinished graves, gave mute evidence of a hurried French retreat.

"Dove shaped German aeroplanes whirled constantly over the country and occasionally one saw French aviators far enough aloft to be out of range of the special German guns designed for the destruction of air craft.

"It was a duel between French and German machines, both of which were disabled in a hard battle. After careening downward in giant circles the two machines plunged to the earth almost side by side and were completely shattered, while the aviators were instantly killed. While aloft both the pilots and their assistants kept up a lively exchange of revolver shots, which at first were ineffectual and then simultaneously, judging by the disturbed equilibrium of the machines, they reached their marks. After vain effort by the aviators to regain control, both machines fell to the earth like meteors."

BOARD OF WORKS USING THE PROD

Street Car Company and Contractors Urged to Get Up Some Speed.

Given anxiety because of poor progress being made on public work, Mayor Hosey and Messrs. Singrey, Kelly and Hilgeman, of the board of works on Friday afternoon inaugurated a prodding policy and will keep it in force as long as they can.

The first poke of the prod was at the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company for the belated condition of its track work on Calhoun street, from Wallace street to Creighton avenue. When the company got permission to construct a temporary track along the east side of Calhoun street so that street car service might not be interfered with, it promised to have the new double tracks completed in forty-five days. That period has expired and the track work is far from complete. Residents and business men along that part of Calhoun street are complaining of the delay.

Another job was given the Wabash Railroad company for the snail's pace with which its completion of its bridge at the Harrison street subway is going forward. The board wants to get the entire job completed before cold weather and the outlook is discouraging.

FIND THE COST TOO GREAT.

Property Owners Remonstrance and Koch Street Opening is Killed.

Because thirty-nine property owners—among them several who had in the first place petitioned for the improvement—remonstrated against the opening of Koch street, from the alley north of Hoffman to Huffman, the board of works Thursday evening rescinded all action and the project for the present is dead. It was found that the expense of making the extension of the street would probably exceed the benefits expected. The board continued the resolution for the opening of Summit street from its eastern terminus to Main street.

avenue. The property owners affected met with Councilman-at-Large Jacob Hartman, who lives in the Eighth ward, and Councilman A. H. Keller, who represent that ward in the council, and expressed a strong desire to have the street extension made. The board ordered the engineering department to prepare plans for opening an alley between Alexander and Abbott streets, Eckart to Franklin, and plans for widening Alexander street to fifty feet from Eckart to Pontiac.

RETAINING WALL A HARD JOB.

Quicksands and Rain Embarrass Tapp Construction Company.

Construction of the big concrete retaining wall between Spy Run avenue and the St. Joe river from the State street bridge to the Centlivre brewery is proving a task of greater difficulty than had been anticipated. Besides considerable embarrassment from rains the Tapp Construction company, contractor for the work, has encountered many deposits of quicksand below the bed of the stream and these have greatly hindered work. It was the hope of the board of works and the county commissioners, who jointly let contracts for the improvement, that the wall would be up early enough to afford protection to the street and approaches to the State street bridge before the advent of heavy fall rains, but there is a discouraging prospect as to this. The work is going to require much more time for completion than had been figured on. The water and sand got into the biffer dams and impose many delays on progress.

WILL FLUSH A NEW SEWER.

Board Will Let Daylight Through Wayne Heights Drain.

Unless the remonstrants against acceptance of the work have more to show than they have exhibited the board of works will on next Thursday evening confirm the final assessment rolls for the Wayne Heights sewer system and formally accept the work from the Moellering Construction company. After an extended inspection, completed Thursday afternoon, the board became thoroughly convinced that the work is all right and as good as could be expected under conditions so difficult. The board will have a square of one 12-inch sewer, through which daylight could not be seen, flushed with a fire hose. Nothing but mud is believed to be obstructing it. The Moellering company will replace six bricks that had fallen from the arch of the main sewer where a lateral connection had been made. The board believes the remonstrants have been purposely misled as to conditions in the new sewer.

MORE TYPHOID FEVER.

Two cases of typhoid fever were reported to the health office Thursday. One of them was brought in to the city for treatment and the other is resident. They are: Lawrence Rump, aged 12 years, 2818 Indiana avenue. Mrs. Edward Burgess, Payne, Ohio, at Lutheran hospital.

EN ROUTE TO WAR ZONE.

Girls Expect to Play Part in German-Jap Controversy.

Cleveland, Sept. 10.—En route to China are two girls with a big motor car. They intend to play a big part in the hostilities on Chinese soil, between the Japanese and the Germans. One is twenty, mobile faced and alert. If China was a kingdom ruled by monarchs she would be Princess Hi Jung. As it is she is just Hi Jung. The other is an American princess, of German and Dutch royal descent. Her name is Miss Lillian von Oyen.

"By virtue of being the wealthiest man in a village near Kiao-Chau, Hi Jung's father is the mayor. She is the idol of the village. "Germans have been very, very fine and taught us many things," Hi Jung told Hal Fleming of the F. B. Stearns company, of this city. "I like little German girls and if war comes, I will put them in my motor car and flee." Miss von Oyen is a former schoolmate of Hi Jung, and when it appeared as if war would result in the far east, she sailed with her former friend and intends to nurse the German soldiers.

CRUEL MOTHER HEAVILY FINED

Mrs. Benevol Lebaratto is Proved Guilty of Beating Little Son.

Mrs. Benevol Libratto, 357 Melita street, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Kerr in the city court Friday morning on a charge of assault and battery. Her little son, 7 years old, was the victim of the assault and he is reported by neighbors and men who work in the vicinity as having been subjected to a long and persistent course of cruelty at the hands of his mother. Mrs. Libratto, her husband, a roomer at the house and the little boy himself all denied in court that the lad was mistreated or that more was done than to try to frighten him. That the boy had been coached for his role as witness and put under duress of fear was evident and was frankly declared by Judge Kerr. The boy was seen Thursday morning to go running from home covered with blood and bleeding at the nose. He was taken care of at a near-by grocery, where Officer James Smith examined him and found him much bruised about the body. One witness, who works near the Libratto home, said he had seen the woman beat the child with a large stone. Judge Kerr warned the parents that if the child was further abused he would deal with them with severity by them. The affidavit was filed by A. E. Muller, secretary of the Associated Charities, who acted for Humane Officer Louis Schludroff, who is ill.

Time to Cool Off.
Roy Hayes got mixed up in the theft of a motorcycle in Fort Wayne several months ago, but got out of the difficulty with some ease, owing to the leniency of the court and the intercessions of his parents, and he went back home to Garrett. Evidently he came to consider that Fort Wayne, its police and its courts were just too easy for anything. Roy came into the city Thursday and notified the police he was looking for his half-sister, who was aged 16 and had hiked from home. Chief Lenz told the young man to let his father take the matter up with the marshal of Garrett in the customary way. An investigation disclosed that the young lady is aged 18, is no relative whatever of Hayes and wanted him to keep away from her. Hayes was counseled to get out of town. Instead he imbibed a dose and at length got arrested. Judge Kerr fined him $5 and costs and he went to jail. The girl stated at the Fitzgerald employment agency, whether Hayes went to locate her, that she had formerly been employed at the Hayes home in Garrett and had left because of the young man's objectionable attention to her.

Other City Court Cases.
The case of Harry Fehling, charged with violating the speed laws, was continued until Saturday morning.

Fred Bislew got drunk and showed poor consideration for his employer, who tried to do him a good turn, and was arrested. His employer was still on the job and got him off with a lecture in the city court.

Mike Harkenrider was slated for drunkenness, but was continued until Saturday, when an assault and battery charge may be preferred.

HEAD SEVERED BY TRAIN.

Man Falls on Track, is Stunned, Then Killed.

Tonawanda, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The body of John Glanz, 38 years old, of 375 Young street, an employee of the Erie and Canal company, was found lying on the Erie railroad tracks a short distance from his home.

It is believed that a north-bound Erie freight train, which passed along shortly after midnight, caused Glanz's death. The police and relatives of the dead man are inclined to believe that Glanz fell on the tracks and was rendered unconscious, lying there until the train came along and killed him.

Glanz left his home early in the evening to do some shopping. He returned home with George Earl and Charles Daniels as far as the corner of Elm and Young streets. That was the last seen of him alive.

Marvelous completeness in the Silk section

The decree of fashion has made Roman Stripe Silks the most demanded fabric of the day; so great is the demand that the manufacturers cannot supply one-tenth of the orders. Anticipating this condition we bought early a large selection—the largest ever shown in the state. They come in taffetas, bengalines, moire and messalines and are sold at popular prices.

The silk section is offering this week an assortment of satin soles, 40 inches wide; a highly finished texture that usually sells for $2.00 and up. It comes in browns, meringue, navy, light blue and wisteria—our price, per yard, is only $1.

This section also directs your attention to the crepe de chine and crepe nettings they are showing, in every conceivable shade, at $2.00 to $3.50.

What war will do to the price of Velvets will be apparent one month hence. We advise shopping now.

USE BEDSPRING AS AUGER.

Jailbirds File Through Prison Wall With Quick Instrument.

Newcastle, Wyo., Sept. 11.—John Clonney, James Jenkins and George Martin, prisoners in the county jail here, charged with numerous thefts, effected their escape by digging through a wall with a bedspring.

The escape was discovered half an hour after the men got away.

A bloodhound was placed on the trail, which it followed for two miles into dense timber. The trail was then lost and could not again be picked up. The fugitives still are at large.

The bedspring was sharpened at one end and used as an auger. A full coil was filed away before the jailbirds succeeded in cutting a hole in the jail sufficiently large to permit the passage of a man.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 11.—Another raid on alleged "blind tigers" was made by citizens' committees here yesterday afternoon and a large quantity of beer and whisky was confiscated. Forty deputies, under the direction of Sheriff Jesse White, raided ten alleged "tigers." No arrests were made, the special officers merely acting on search warrants. A similar raid was conducted about two weeks ago, when fifteen places were raided.

Notice to the Public!

On account of the large increase in our baking business and lack of room, I have concluded to discontinue the ice cream and soda water business. It is with a large measure of regret that I make this announcement. There has been no greater pleasure connected with my business career than to have a group of happy children surround our tables and see their faces brighten in the delight of sipping a cool soda or eating a dish of pure ice cream and nibbling at some dainty cakes; also will I miss the fascinating work of preparing for receptions, especially for children's parties, the various forms of moulded creams ranging from all kinds of animals and fruits to an Easter lily.

I want to take this opportunity to thank my many friends for the patronage extended us in this line of business and trusting for continued support, for by giving our undivided attention to the art of baking and with the assistance of the "Geller Boys" that have grown up with one business and are a part of it, we will be better able than ever to uphold our banner and prove that "GELLER'S GOODS ARE GOOD."

Yours very truly,

W. F. GELLER.

Here's Proof of Prosperity

Business in the United States is sound. America faces her greatest commercial opportunity.

This country is on the eve of an awakening—due to a wholesome state of affairs at home and to a condition abroad that will establish our trade supremacy beyond question.

The above statements represent a summary of the replies received by the Taylor-Critchfield Company, of Chicago, to telegrams addressed to some of the leading business men of the United States. Their answers ring with optimism—hope—assurance—confidence.

Business must be good. Proof of prosperity is found in the following messages:

E. Mapes, Secretary,
Cream of Wheat Company,
Minneapolis, Minnesota.

"I see no reason why, if business is not hampered for political reasons, the United States should not see great commercial prosperity during the continuance of the European war. This, however, is a time when the utmost latitude should be allowed by the government to all legitimate business interests. Upon that, coupled with wise action toward the establishment of mercantile marine and adequate banking facilities, I think the question depends entirely. I think this is the greatest chance for the American manufacturer and businessman that will probably come in several lifetimes, and think the business man of the United States can be safely trusted to take advantage of it if not hampered too much by unreasonable government restrictions. Of course there will come a reaction after the war, and how much the same will affect the United States depends entirely upon how firmly we have established our footing during the continuance of the war period."

Windsor T. White, President,
The White Company,
Cleveland, Ohio.

"Business with the White Company has steadily improved since the scare following the first announcement of war abroad. I believe general business will continue fair in this country and will boom if our surplus farm products and manufactures can be shipped to other countries."

United Cigar Mfrs. Co.,
New York City.

"In the main the present disturbances in American business are due to financial and merchandising readjustments made necessary by the European upset. This readjusting process is already well under way. In the meantime it would be a mistake to fear that the real fundamentals of American business are endangered. Even the cotton losses are already offset by grain increases. American business will emerge stronger from the present crisis than ever before, while other countries now at war will emerge badly weakened. Speaking for ourselves, we are following our normal progressive policy."

The Bartholomew Company,
Peoria, Illinois.

"Our trade this year will exceed that of last year and previous years. The war has had no effect on the sale of our automobiles, and with the increased prices that farmers will receive for their products we look for still larger business in all rural communities in the Central West."

A. J. Lavuer, Gen. Mgr.,
Burroughs Adding Machine Co.,
Detroit, Michigan.

"General conditions in America do not warrant the slump in business which is being felt all over the country. The uneasiness created by the sudden changes made necessary on account of European disturbances is responsible for the lack of business activity. However, I believe that as soon as the business public decides as to the best way to proceed under existing conditions business will resume its normal attitude and should show a considerable increase."

Woolson Spice Co.,
Toledo, Ohio.

"Our business is decidedly above normal. Outlook for fall and winter very favorable. We are taking advantage of present opportunity to extend our interests in many sections of the country."

G. M. Skiles, President,
Ohio Seamless Tube Co.,
Shelby, Ohio.

"My opinion is that this country was never on a more sound financial basis. If we will all comply with the President's message to the people, that is to be calm, cool, level-headed, and not 'rock the boat,' this country will continue to dominate the world."

Studebaker Corporation,
South Bend, Indiana.

"Our advertisement, 'Optimism and Opportunity,' expresses our views. We believe the opportunities for business hereafter supplied by Europe are now open to American manufacturers and merchants, and they should unite vigorously in taking advantage of the situation. Fundamental conditions of the United States are absolutely sound."

E. Rosenbaum, President,
Southern Plow Company,
Dallas, Texas.

"The larger the army the greater the commissary needs. Texas, the world's commissary, stands ready to feed the hungry and clothe the naked with an unusually large feed crop made and a big cotton crop maturing. We should quickly recover from the temporary depression caused by the closing of European cotton markets and eventually supply the world with finished cloth instead of raw cotton, to our lasting benefit."

Samuel Moody, Passenger Traffic Manager,
Pennsylvania Lines,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

"Business conditions and prospects good. The European war will, in my judgment, bring out the Yankee genius to produce the wants of home manufacturers so that this nation will not be dependent upon the foreigner in the future as it has been in the past."

C. W. Nash, Gen. Mgr.,
Buick Motor Co.,
Flint, Michigan.

"War or no war, there will be 40,000 Buick automobiles built in the 1915 season. We are going to manufacture 40,000 cars because we expect to dispose of that number and we have every assurance that we will. The present demand for Buick cars in this country has never been equalled and the cars we had planned to ship abroad will be sold in this country. The fact that no foreign-made cars are likely to be shipped into this country because of the war will have a balancing effect on the automobile situation, and in a measure affect the foreign shipments heretofore made by American automobile concerns."

Northwestern Knitting Company,
Minneapolis, Minnesota.

"Munswear sales this year are larger than last year. We expect a greatly increased demand this fall and winter. We deplore European conditions, but believe they indicate long continued prosperity in the United States. We are enlarging our plant and employing additional help. Those merchants will be wise who anticipate as far as possible the increased business that is certain to come as a result of good prices for farm products and good wages in industry."

Silas McClure, Secy.,
Malleable Iron Range Co.,
Beaver Dam, Wisconsin.

"The volume of our orders and the recent improvements in collections, with only a limited movement of crops up to this time, confirm our opinion that trade conditions are sound throughout the agricultural districts of the whole United States."

Detroit Engine Works,
Detroit, Michigan.

"The best proof of our belief in trade conditions is that our advertising campaign is larger than ever before. We believe present conditions, while deplorable, will increase in a very short time the already prosperous conditions of the United States. The crops of this country alone and prosperous condition of the farmer make anything else impossible."

B. A. Fuller, Pres.,
Hercules Mfg. Co.,
Centerville, Iowa.

"Our neutrality, our record-breaking crops, and the immense European demand for our surplus crops are absolute proof that we are on the verge of the greatest wave of prosperity in the history of our country. The treasury department decision to accept cotton and tobacco warehouse receipts as a basis for emergency currency means the South will get its share of this great prosperity at once, the same as every other section."

Jas. A. Craig, General Manager,
Janessville Machine Co.,
Janessville, Wisconsin.

"With the abundant harvest we have this year and the positive assurance of high prices for all agricultural products, and being at peace with all nations of the world, we can't help but prosper."

J. L. Hamilton, President,
Alabama Tube Co.,
Grand Rapids, Michigan.

"Europe's calamity is America's opportunity. We are due to witness, and can be instrumental in securing, the greatest era of prosperity known in this country's history. Wise legislation, liberal financing, universal optimism, avoidance of strikes and lockouts, more fuel under the boiler, more pressure on the steam gauge, more money in advertising, and we will arrive."

Detroit Steel Products Co.,
Detroit, Michigan.

"The fact that the business community has mobilized forces and is on guard, associated with strong fundamental conditions, should insure a safe future. The most serious handicap in the attitude of Congress towards successful business. That has been sufficient to retard prosperity. If continued during the strain caused by war we may face hard times."

W. N. Brown,
Collins Plow Company,
Quincy, Illinois.

"American trade conditions are sound, but have been sluggish for a year. A strong revival which had set in has been temporarily checked by European war. We look for a heavily increased demand from foreign countries, to be followed by enormous demand for all other commodities from all countries and at home."

Hugh Chalmers, President,
Chalmers Motor Car Co.,
Detroit, Michigan.

"I believe the basic conditions in this country are extremely good, and I believe that after the people become accustomed to the war headlines in the papers and settle down that business conditions in this country are going to be of great benefit to us and in my opinion it will not affect our business seriously after the next thirty days. A great catastrophe, such as this war is, cannot help but have a bad mental effect upon our people temporarily, but this will wear away and then we will realize how fortunate as are to be Americans at this time and what a great opportunity for the world's trade is open to us."

J. Walter Earle, President,
Remington Typewriter Co.,
New York City.

"Our sales are a barometer of trade. Indications point to an increasing volume of business in America, as the one great industrial nation free from the ravages and horrors of war, should shape her activities that she may in increasing proportion supply the needs of those beyond her shores as well as her own people."

James Mfg. Co.,
Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin.

"In our opinion the war not only opens great new fields for business abroad, but also large markets at home for goods heretofore imported. Our information shows enormous crops practically throughout the United States, with prices high and money conditions sound. Farmers and business based on agriculture, must prosper. The gates of opportunity stand wide open to America's business. Our own sales were never better. July and August were both record breakers. Collections are normal. The war should increase our sales on dairy barn equipment in the United States, because our customers, who include farmers and city business and professional men, will have more money to spend."

Stark Bros. Nurseries & Orchards Co.,
Louisiana, Missouri.

"Business conditions with us are highly satisfactory. Our sales at this date show an increase of 33 per cent over this same date last year. Prospects for fall business are the best in years."

M. W. Savage, President,
International Stock Food Company,
Minneapolis, Minnesota.

"Absolute and permanent commercial supremacy of the world is the present exceptional opportunity of the United States, and this requires only good judgment and cool headness and such a practical, optimistic outlook as is fully justified by big crops and extraordinary markets and large increase in Farm Product Prices and in the strength and energy of our people. Fair and Square Commercial War will finally subdue man's animal tendency to kill his fellowmen and can be made the means of bringing about Universal Peace. The United States has the brains and the money and the undaunted ambition to lead the World in vast business enterprises and will quickly dominate the markets of all nations of the earth and help establish permanent peace. Farmers form the true basis of our prosperity and the present condition of the farmer, both as to home life and financial condition, is overwhelming and solidly optimistic. War among nations as well as war on business must necessarily cause tremendous unrest and loss. Mutual Fairness between business and government and a strong basis of unity together and the greatest commercial victory in all history will be ours."

George A. Hormel, President,
George A. Hormel & Co.,
Austin, Minnesota.

"In Minnesota and the northwest crops are good and we understand the banks are able to furnish money for the movement of grain, live stock and legitimate business enterprise. Collections good. Labor is scarce and well employed at good wages. We see no immediate cause for alarm."

James V. Roban, President,
Belle City Incubator Company,
Racine, Wisconsin.

"The effects of the war in my opinion should tend to improve rather than to retard the American trade conditions within the United States and Canada, though the export trade may be affected for a time."

Bissell Carpet Sweeper Co.,
Grand Rapids, Michigan.

"We consider the outlook for fall and holiday business very good and beyond this believe this country is approaching an era of prosperity greater than any in all its era."

Hayes Pump and Planter Co.,
Galva, Illinois.

"Bigger crops than ever before, better prices and the certainty for increased acreage of all cereal crops will give the greatest buying impulse this country has ever known. Surely the coming year looks like big business."

Frank D. Blake, Adv. Manager,
Deere & Co.,
Moline, Illinois.

"Agriculture is the basis of our wealth. With the greatest number of bushels of foodstuffs in our history and the best prices in years, our people will save money, materials add wealth. There is a chance for greater expansion. Our factory products will be in demand, our people profitably employed. We are a great agricultural people, at peace with the whole world."

E. C. Simmons,
Simmons Hardware Company,
St. Louis, Missouri.

"General business is absolutely sound and healthy. There need be no fear or apprehension about it. Our August business will I think show the largest sales of any August for fifty years, with promise of better business later."

John Clay, Pres.,
Clay, Robinson & Co.,
Chicago.

"The livestock business is not suffering from the effects of the war. It is likely to be benefited, as a consequence of the fighting will tend to increase the demand for our products. We are decidedly short of cattle and sheep, with a fair supply of hogs, the latter depending automatically on the corn crop. We are dealing in a product needed every day and the country cannot afford to have the streams of production and consumption seriously interfered with. In my judgment we are at the beginning of a long war which will only end by exhaustion. The enormous resources of the conflicting parties point this way. The United States is certainly at the gate of opportunity and by honest and upright dealing, payment of her just debts, even although other nations are tardy, she will gain immense benefits in credit and trade by a wise and liberal policy."

C. A. Patterson, Pres.,
Peoria Drill & Seeder Company,
Peoria, Illinois.

"Close attention to business and the new necessity caused by the existing conditions abroad will keep farm and factory busy. Opportunity has been unexpectedly forced upon the inventive minds of American business men and the splendid results of their accomplishment will be a surprise to other nations and an appreciable financial benefit to the United States."

L. Klima, General Manager,
Kling Ventilator Co.,
Owatonna, Minnesota.

"General outlook for business is very good. The increase in price on raw materials is more than offset by the value of farm products. Business generally will be what business men make it. We can keep the public from buying by talking war. We will make business by talking peace."

A. L. Haecker,
Woods Brothers Silo & Mfg. Co.,
Lincoln, Nebraska.

"The business outlook for the United States was never better. Our crops are good—our people are at work and we are mindful of our opportunity. There is a unity of sentiment for peace and thrift among us all. This will ripen into a golden period of prosperity."

W. C. Davis, Secretary,
Davis Milk Machinery Co.,
North Chicago, Illinois.

"We have been extremely busy and business has been very good with us. Our volume has run over 80 per cent in gain over last year's business for the same period and indications are that business will be fairly good throughout the year."

R. W. Neff, President,
The Remmers Soap Company,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

"No conditions exist that does not indicate that we Americans should have every confidence in the present and future. Bumper crops—banks sound with plenty of money—no overproduction. Although the war may affect a few, it will build up so many others that the few become negligible."

The E. C. Brown Company,
Rochester, N. Y.

"Though our past fiscal year just closing has been the best in our history, many signs point to improvement in 1915. While collections have been tardy, the excellent crop and market conditions already show improvement and a boom seems started."

Beechnut Packing Company,
Canajoharie, New York.

"We look confidently to the future, expecting supply and demand to regulate prices as they always have in the past. We are doing our best from day to day to promote our business. We feel that conditions are good; that the best times we have ever had are coming soon."

John Wanamaker,
Philadelphia, Pa.

"Now is certainly a most excellent time for the American people to find out how much they can do for themselves of the things they have been depending upon foreign workmen to do. We not only can, but must, find out now whether or not this nation can stand firm on its own two hundred million feet and make its own inventions to meet its own necessities and provide its own luxuries, and at the same time feed and clothe a great part of the rest of the world. We have the youth, energy, capital, will, the men and women to do these things. We can do everything that we are called upon to do, but deliver the goods, and we can't deliver the goods because we have no merchant marine. Let us get the ships first of all. It will be no trouble to put the crews and cargoes aboard them. We must start ploughing the seas for an early harvest."

B. L. Hupp, Sec.,
Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co.,
Kansas City, Missouri.

"We look for favorable business conditions in this country during the war period, since European manufacturers are hampered in doing business here—especially in agricultural sections and in those manufacturing districts, a demand for whose products is directly created by the war. We anticipate a very satisfactory business this fall."

Fred Warner, Sales Manager,
Oakland Motor Car Co.,
Pontiac, Michigan.

"Our connections throughout the entire United States report constantly improving business conditions. The only complaints are from the Cotton states, and the feeling there is that their condition will be righted very soon. War should in most lines very materially increase our volume of business and prestige in world markets. We believe the next twelve months will show great prosperity."

L. K. Wynn, President,
Black Silk Stove Polish Works,
Sterling, Illinois.

"American business and the new banking system are concrete. There is no cause for alarm. The people are the architects of the situation. If there is any danger, it is in the minds of the people who might become panicky. Ignore discussion—keep everybody busy."

H. C. Phelps, President,
Ohio Carriage Mfg. Co.,
Columbus, Ohio.

"Our great crops, with good prices assured, backed by our safe and sound banks, make an irresistible force. What others destroy we can and will replace. There is nothing wrong with Ohio or the United States. We can't be stopped."

O. E. Sovereign, President,
North American Construction Company,
Bay City, Michigan.

"If we can keep our hat out of the ring we will have the greatest period of prosperity in history. Our own immediate business future looks exceptionally bright. Our Aladdin mills have been running full force twenty hours a day for five months. Orders booked now necessitate doubling our capacity for 1915."

Alfred Hanchett, Adv. Mgr.,
F. A. Patrick & Co.,
Duluth, Minnesota.

"The European situation will bring American commercial independence and pre-eminence. It will be a strong stimulus to American manufacturers, a powerful promoter of foreign trade. Our administration, with keen business foresight, should make opportunities out of present conditions."

W. R. Wooden, Gen. Mgr.,
Nichols & Shepard Co.,
Battle Creek, Michigan.

"The conservative lines followed by business generally for the last two or three years make present conditions sound. Same advantage of present opportunities insures a period of commercial prosperity."

A. O. Silver, Treas.,
W. K. Mullins Company,
Salem, Ohio.

"Business is perfectly healthy but taking a vacation, pending further developments of the European war and exportation of crops. An American merchant marine now would open the doors of opportunity unused by American manufacturers."

O. C. Hansen Mfg. Co.,
Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

"American inventiveness, ingenuity and push will cope successfully and rapidly with any conditions the war between European nations may have precipitated in this country, and the new opportunities now at hand will result in a new prosperity for this country never before realized."

The sentiments above are the same, or similar, to those expressed to us daily in our interviews with prominent advertising manufacturers. The universal opinion among well informed men of affairs is that the shock of unexpectedness and uncertainty has passed, the period of preparation for undoubted prosperity is well under way, and advertising is more necessary now than ever before. Notwithstanding of opportunities, substantial needs, big crops, revived banking facilities, which command unquestioned confidence and a shoulder-to-shoulder optimistic meeting the situation make the getting of a share in the prosperity merely a matter of the individual's energy.

3 Teller 10 Pfennig

A TELLTALE POSTER

This is the "Bouillon Kub" poster which the German army employed as a silent messenger for spies through the entire north of France. The Germans had pressed on through Belgium and were well into France before the French army discovered that the many "Bouillon Kub" posters really were sign boards and guiding posts for the advancing German army. The wording on each one was different, and later the words were found to be in a code employed by the German army. For instance, "3 Teller 10 Pfennig," as on the poster above, was found to mean: "Masked batteries or entrenchments one and one-half miles south of this road." "Six Teller, 20 Pfennig," on another poster, was found to mean "roads and river bridges mined in this vicinity." Upon a German officer who was captured in the fighting around Charleroi the French found a code book in which there was an important meaning for every word and phrase on the bouillon cube posters. It was then that the French discovered that the poster advertisements really were the messengers of German spies.

FOUR BRIDES AT ONE WEDDING

Four orphan sisters who kept a mutual vow to stick together until all could marry were brides recently at a quadruple wedding in East London. Daughters of a dockworker named Bradley, their loyalty to each other brought about a happy ending to a grim battle against the world. When their parents died and left them to fight the world alone the girls decided that matrimony would not be allowed to break up the home they had established for themselves. As each one became engaged she made the condition Eppingham; Jessie Bradley, 21, and that she would not marry until the four sisters married together.

The four brides and their grooms are Elizabeth Bradley, 25, and Will Thompson; Florence Bradley, 23, and Arthur Eppingham; Jessie Bradley, 21, and Thomas Cobb; Julia Bradley, 10, and George Skeggs.

States and of the world generally learn true democracy as the best means of preventing destructive wars like that involving the nations of Europe.

He advocated that before the war ceases, secret movements of rulers must cease. He told about the old arguments that seemed to make war for the civilized world impossible and then showed how useless the old arguments that the destructiveness of modern weapons and equipment was rapidly making war impossible, the economic and industrial reason to make war impossible the argument that the best way to preserve peace is to be armed to the eye lids, of the smallness of the modern world which can send a message around the world in nine minutes, of the good fellowship which was said to have made war impossible, of Christianity which was creating a world-wide sentiment against war.

"But," said the Rev. Folsom, "none of these were sufficient to guard off the blow that has fallen upon unfortunate Europe. Christian nations are at war. Pagan peoples, heathen peoples, savage peoples look on with terror."

Steals Money Woman Saved to Defend Imprisoned Husband.

Detroit, Sept. 11.—All the money she had saved in several weeks and which she expected would pay an attorney to get her husband out of jail was stolen by George Patruick, of Windsor, according to Mrs. Jennie Hartman, of Ford City, Ont., who caused Patruick's arrest.

Dennis Hartman, husband of the plaintiff, was arrested in Detroit several weeks ago when he is alleged to have assaulted a man. Mrs. Hartman saved $30 with which to engage an attorney to fight her husband's case. Unable to speak English, she trusted the money to Patruick, she says, and the latter was authorized to engage a Detroit attorney. According to Mrs. Hartman, he spent the money.

SPIRITS TELL OF POT OF GOLD.

Aged Negro in New Jersey Would Dig for It.

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 11.—E. S. Richardson, 80 years old, one of Elizabeth's most respected negro citizens, has asked permission of the city council to dig in Jefferson park for a pot of gold which he insists was buried there during colonial times.

Richardson told the council he knew the exact spot where the treasure was buried and would be satisfied to excavate in only one place. He added that police protection would be necessary.

The aged negro says that for twelve years the spirit world has brought mea-sages to him of the nature and location of the treasure.

WILL ASK FOR WATCHMAN.

Residents of Neighborhood Want Man at Crossing on Goshen Road.

A petition has been prepared and will be presented for signatures at a meeting of the residents of the neighborhood.

ing to be held Saturday night at the Scarlet school house asking the Indiana Public Utilities commission to require the G. R. & I. railroad officials to place a watchman at the crossing on the Goshen road. Attorney Frank Enrick prepared the petition and he will be among a number of speakers.

The crossing is dangerous, will be on the Lincoln highway and is approached by steep grades. As a remedy it is suggested that a tunnel might be constructed, eliminating the necessity for a watchman.

As the dairy business of the Netherlands has been transferred from the farm to the factory there has come a tendency to adulterate the cheese and butter with foreign substances.

SUNDAY

One Monday morning a little girl appeared at the door of her pastor's house with some very fine berries. The clergyman thanked her profusely, then recalling the day of the week, he said: "I hope you didn't pick these on Sunday." With a puzzled look the child replied: "No, sir, I picked them this morning, but they grew on Sunday."

POPE BENEDICT'S PLEA FOR PEACE

New Pontiff in Encyclical Outlines Program for Pontificate.

Rome, Sept. 11.—The Osservatore Romano, the official organ of the Vatican, publishes a pastoral letter from Pope Benedict XV., in the form of an encyclical to the episcopacy of the world.

It contains the program for the pontificate of Pope Benedict, which summarizes, calls for renewed efforts to spread religion throughout the world and urges peace and brotherhood among peoples and nations in fear of God.

The encyclical which is addressed to the universal Catholic world, deals chiefly with the European war.

"Looking out upon the flock entrusted to our care," Pope Benedict says, "the immense spectacle of a general war has struck us with unutterable horror and sadness."

"When we see such a considerable portion of Europe devastated by fire and sword and drenched with the blood of Christians, it is incumbent upon us to embrace all without distinction, lambs and sheep, in the arms of paternal charity."

"The pope implores intercession for peace to the virgin, whose nativity has just been celebrated, and then continues:

"We exhort most earnestly those who govern the destiny of the nations that they should bring themselves to a frame of mind, whereby they may put aside all dissensions contrary to the welfare of humanity."

"Let them realize that there already is too much suffering and sorrow attached to this mortal life and that it should not be rendered more wretched or more sorrowful. Let them realize how much ruin and disaster already has been wrought and how much human blood has been shed."

"Addressing the heads of the nations, the pope says:

"Hasten therefore to enter into a council of peace. Grasp the right hand of friendship and receive a special reward from God for yourselves and your native and earn the greatest praise from the brotherhood of man."

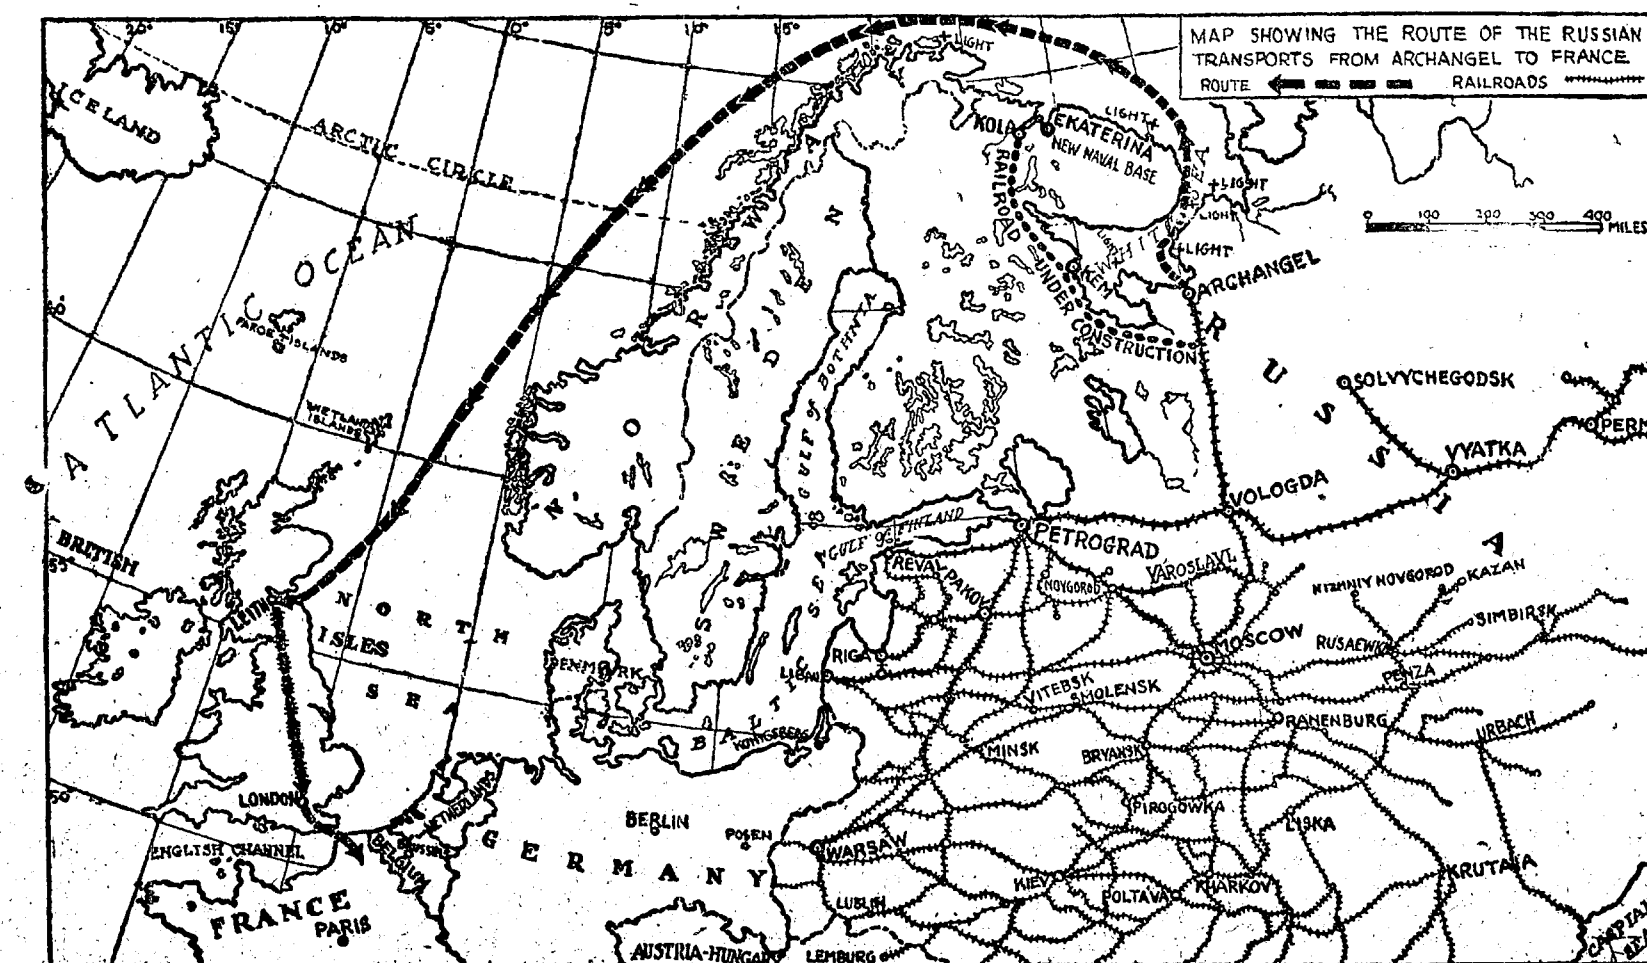

"The encyclical ends by the pope expressing the hope that the beginning of his pontificate will see the end of wars."

HOW RUSSIA IS TRANSPORTING TROOPS TO AID ALLIES IN FRANCE

All indications point to preparations by Great Britain to throw an enormous mass of Russian troops into France directly across the German line of connections. This new and practically unlimited supply of men is coming from Archangel and Ekaterina, on the Arctic coast of Russia, around the North Cape of Norway and thence to the Firth of Forth and East England ports. From Leith and Hull the Russians have a clear, straightaway railway run of it to the Channel, and can be landed at Ostend, Calais, Havre, Cherbourg or wherever, in fact, the immediate exigencies demand. For the handling of the great army which Russia can supply, the practically unlimited facilities of the British transport service are available. Archangel, which has suddenly sprung into prominence as a point of embarkation of the Russian troops, is distant from the North Cape not more than forty-eight hours' steaming for England's fast transport steamers, and from North Cape the run can be made to Leith by those same vessels under moderate steaming in about fifty hours. Five days from Archangel to Leith may be regarded as a fair steaming run for England's fast troop ships. Archangel is in direct railway connection with Vologda to the south. The distance is 398 miles. From Vologda to Moscow is 304 miles, making a total distance from Moscow to Archangel of 700 miles, or less by 200 miles than the distance between New York and Chicago, and about the same distance between Paris and Berlin. The Archangel railway is one of the great military strategic roads of Russia. It is the knowledge that the Russians are coming that has spurred the allies, doubtless, to maintain an unbroken line behind which the reinforcements of which Lord Kitchener has hinted but never spoken, may come up a reinforcement which may be regarded as unlimited in number to long as England's navy maintains command of the sea and continues to keep open an open road from Archangel.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Discouragement on the part of numerous small holders of wheat made values today continue to recede. After opening 1/2c to 1/4c lower the market rallied a little, but then sagged further than before.

The close was nervous at the same as last night to 3/4c off.

Yours fell with wheat. Prices opened 3/4c to 1/2c off and later offered some additional setbacks.

Prices, however, were unsettled at a shade to 1/4c net decline.

Liquidation sales by scattered commission houses pulled oats downward from the start.

Good support turned the provision market up grade.

IGNORE WAR, THE ADVICE OFFERED

Sir George Paist's Views
Should Be Considered
by Americans.

New York, Sept. 11.—"Orders should be given, factories should be run and everything should be arranged to maintain, as far as possible, the productive power and the income of the country." That is the advice offered to Britons by Sir George Paist, editor of the Statist, who has resigned his position to devote his time and talents in the service of the British treasury.

The foregoing counsel could be very well adopted by Americans, some of whom are inclined to act somewhat precipitately.

Here are extracts from the Statist article: "At such a time it is of the greatest importance that every one should endeavor to act as if great events were not impending. Were confidence seriously disturbed business would come practically to an end, and our ability to face the difficulties that may be in front of us would be seriously impaired. "Therefore, it is of vital importance that, as far as possible, the events that are now taking place should not interfere with the daily life and the daily work of the nation.

"It cannot be too clearly realized that the nation's income is dependent upon its daily work and its daily production, and that at a time such as the present it is desirable that every one should work harder and be more productive in order that we may have the income, and therefore the money, with which to meet any expenditure and any burden that may be placed upon us.

"In the current year the new issues of capital in the London market alone will probably reach £250,000,000, after providing for the nation's expenditure upon the construction of houses and extensions of works. If the occasion should arise the British people should be able, without any serious difficulty, to raise loans amounting to £200,000,000 a year over and above any sums they may derive from the sale to the United States of a part of the great quantity of American securities they now possess.

"But, for this to be accomplished the situation must be faced with courage and confidence on the part of every one. Investors must continue to invest, bankers must continue to lend, the stock exchange must continue to deal, and every one according to his ability must endeavor to work hard in order that individual incomes, and therefore the income of the whole nation, may be maintained at the highest possible level."

AUTOMOBILES PROVE TO BE OF GREAT VALUE IN THE EUROPEAN CONFLICT.

MOBILIZATION OF FRENCH ARMY MOTOR TRUCKS.

WILLIS-UTILITY TRUCK CONVERTED INTO CARRIAGE FOR BRITISH TROOPS.

One of the most noteworthy features of the present conflict in Europe is the remarkable success that all the armies have experienced in the use of motor vehicles. Whether used in the transportation of troops or supplies, in hospital service or in the movement of artillery, the automobile has proved itself most efficient and reliable. The photographs reproduced herewith show a few of the ways in which the automobile is employed at present. The Willis utility truck in the illustration is one of several recently purchased by the British government for army use.

TIDE EBBS AND FLOWS IN 5 DAYS FIGHTING

London, Sept. 11.—1:45 p. m.—The conflicting claims in official communications issued at the headquarters of the forces opposing each other so far in the several war zones, emphasize the prudence of the advice volunteered in the latest French communication against drawing inferences from phases of the struggle before a decisive result is attained.

The key to the ultimate outcome of what perhaps will be the greatest battle in history still rages on the plains of Champagne, to the east of Paris, lies in the center.

The Germans would still appear to be making headlong efforts to drive their wedge into the French line at a point north of Verdun and the already large army under Crown Prince Frederick William has been reinforced with the object of pushing home this attack, the result of which is conceded to be of extreme importance.

On the German right wing where the troops of Emperor William are opposed to the British forces, Germany officially admits retirement but not defeat, as was first reported because of telegraphic errors in the transmission of messages.

Activity of Belgians.
The renewal of activity on the part of the Belgian army seems to be a fact but up to the present time it has not gone beyond harrying the small forces of German reservists left behind when the army of occupation was sent to the battlefields to the east of Paris.

From the extreme right of the French line comes a report that battle raged near Moulhausen has again fallen into the possession of the French. If this is true, it will be the fifth or sixth time that this Alsatian town has changed hands in the present war. On the eastern field of battle the Russians appear to have been driven back in east Prussia.

but according to Petrograd advices they continue to pursue the Austrians.

Germans Best Russians.
The latest intelligence from Berlin indicates that Gen. von Benckendorff and von Hindenburg has gained an important success in east Prussia. According to this version the Russians are in full retreat with the Germans in close pursuit. The Russian version is that their advance detachments are falling back, but holding.

German naval activity in the Baltic sea is watched with much interest here, but the report that there has been an engagement between German and Russian squadrons off the Aland Islands is denied. This probably arose from the sinking by a German torpedo boat of the Russian merchant steamer "Mearburg" in this region.

Attitude of Turkey.
The attitude of Turkey, which has been a subject of paramount anxiety to the foreign offices of Europe, seems to have been decided for her if the story is true that Roumania, Greece and Bulgaria have agreed to prevent Ottoman intervention on behalf of Germany and Austria. The allies have been working strenuously to this end.

A message received here from Copenhagen says the condition of Prince Joachim Albrecht, of Prussia, second cousin of Emperor William, who received a bullet through the thigh, is still serious.

A careful scrutiny of the news from France and Germany leads English observers to the conclusion that both sides are still operating to the east of Paris on a huge scale, but without that

SEMLIN IS TAKEN IN BLOODY FIGHT

Nish, Sept. 10.—Via London, Sept. 11.—8:14 a. m.—The Servians occupied Semlin across the river from Belgrade, this morning after a bloody battle.

Semlin is an important town of Austria-Hungary in Slavonia. It is located on the tongue of land formed by the junction of the Danube and the Save, opposite Belgrade, with which it was connected by a railway bridge across the Save.

It was from Semlin that the Austrian infantry and artillery in conjunction with the monitors on the river, began their fighting on July 29 against the Servians. The Servians early that morning blew up the bridge connecting Semlin with Belgrade. An intermittent bombardment, according to reports, has since been kept up by the Austrians in Semlin on Belgrade.

CARRIER PIGEONS BEAR WAR PLANS

New York, Sept. 11.—German newspapers here publish the following under date of Stuttgart, Aug. 20:

"The general commanding the Wuerttemberg army corps announces that a French carrier pigeon has been intercepted at Aulendorf, which bore exact reports regarding the transport of German troops. This pigeon was probably started some where in Wuerttemberg or Baden. There is also a possibility that several French carrier pigeon stations are being operated in those districts.

"The general commanding here calls the attention of the population to such carrier pigeons and at the same time requests them to report immediately any observation they may make in this regard."

BOY SCOUT IS BELGIAN HERO

Paris, Sept. 11.—11:12 a. m.—The hero of Belgium today is the Boy Scout Lysen, who has been decorated by King Albert for his valor and devotion to his country.

This young man who was born at Liege, is described by the Figaro as of almost unearthly sharpness, with senses and perceptions as keen as a savage. He was able to find his way through the woods and pass the sentinels of the enemy with unerring accuracy.

Lysen made his way through the German lines from Antwerp for the tenth time last Sunday, carrying dispatches to secret representatives of the Belgian government in Brussels. He has discovered and denounced eleven German spies in Belgium and performed a variety of other services, and all without impairing his boyish simplicity.

Blanche Louise McClellan, high in the tests given by physicians at the Fort Wayne Mothers' club better babies' contest Thursday afternoon in spite of the fact that she was born in a leprosy camp at Springfield, Ohio. She is two years old and is a fresh air baby and Miss Irene Byron, of the anti-leprosy society, had her there to demonstrate the benefit of right living.

The father is Vernon McClellan, of Walton and McKinzie avenue, and there was no intention of putting him in the paper, but that smile got him in. He was so elated at the good health of his little one that he couldn't help it.

MRS. CARMAN HAS COLLAPSE IN JAIL

Minneapolis, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Florence Carman, indicted yesterday by the grand jury on a charge of murder in the first degree for the killing of Mrs. Louise Bailey, was today under the care of the Nassau county jail physician. Mrs. Carman collapsed last night soon after being locked up.

Mrs. Carman had anticipated the action of the grand jury and with her attorney and her husband, Dr. Edwin Carman, of Freeport, in whose office the murder occurred, she was waiting in the sheriff's office when the indictment was voted, which suspended an indictment on the charge of manslaughter, returned last summer.

Since the first indictment Mrs. Carman had been enjoying full liberty on bail. Her activities at Freeport have been much the same as before the murder. Apparently her health has been good.

District Attorney Smith said that he would ask for a special term of the supreme court in October for the Carman trial. If this is not granted the case probably will go over until next year.

POINCARE MAKES REPLY TO KAISER

Washington, Sept. 11.—President Poincare, of France, has cabled to President Wilson a reply to the protest of Emperor William which charged that the allies had been using dum dum bullets. The French president declared in his message that Emperor William was attempting to shift the responsibility for the use by Germany of dum dum bullets practically since the outbreak of the war.

President Poincare used most vigorous terms in referring to Emperor William's statement speaking of them as a calumny. He charged, moreover, that the message of the emperor was in his opinion an excuse for the committing of further atrocities by the Germans. President Poincare assured President Wilson that France was observing the rules of civilized warfare and pointed to numerous violations of the same which he said had been committed by Germany.

American Crew Has Been Recruited for Red Cross Steamer.

MANY CHARGES ARE SHOCKING

Belgians Here to Protest Alleged Atrocities of Germans.

DE LICHERVELDE CITES A NUMBER

King Albert's Commission Nearing American Capital.

New York, Sept. 11.—A partial list of the alleged German atrocities in Belgium against which the Belgian king has sent a protest to President Wilson, was made public today by Count Louis de Lichervelde, secretary of the Belgian commission hearing the protest. The commission reached this city today on its way to Washington.

At Liessman, when the Germans entered the village, two uniformed gendarmes attacked the Germans, Count de Lichervelde said. "In revenge the village was invaded on the night of August 10. Two farms were destroyed; the crops were destroyed or carried away; six houses were burned and all the men were compelled to hand over their arms."

"It was found that none had been discharged recently and finally the men were separated into three detachments. Two of the detachments disappeared. A third, consisting of eleven men, was driven at the point of the bayonet into a ditch and when they were piled in the ditch they were killed."

TURKS FIGHT A DUEL OVER WAR

Paris, Sept. 11.—(6:43 a. m.)—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Rome says:

"A telegram from Athens to the newspaper Vita says that a violent discussion arose between the crown prince of Turkey and Enver Pasha, the Turkish minister of war on the subject of the political policy of Turkey. "Enver Pasha becoming greatly excited fired two shots from a revolver at the prince, who was slightly wounded. The prince replied and shot Enver Pasha in the leg."

"According to another version Enver Pasha has since died of the wounds received in the duel with the crown prince."

DR. COHEEN HELD TO CIRCUIT COURT

Bound Over Under $5,000 for Death of Little Ullmer Twins.

Following a preliminary hearing before Judge Kerr in the city court, Friday morning, Dr. Charles M. Coheen was bound over to the circuit court on two charges of involuntary manslaughter in having caused the death of Paul and Pauline Ullmer, 5-year-old twins of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Ullmer, 422 Fairmount place, by the hypodermic administration of an overdose of hyoscin.

Commitment was made solely on the testimony of Dr. Edward H. Kruse, coroner of Allen county, who testified that he had held an inquest on the bodies of the twins, that he had directed the post mortem examination and that his finding in the cases when blood would be that Paul and Pauline Ullmer had died as the result of hyoscin poisoning.

Deputy Prosecutor Stephen A. Callahan conducted the examination for the state and went only so far into the affair as was necessary to establish a probable substantiation of the charge. Attorney Levi M. Todd appeared as counsel for Dr. Coheen and the cross-examination of Dr. Kruse was very brief. At the conclusion of Dr. Kruse's testimony both sides rested and Judge Kerr certified the case to the circuit court. Examination was had in the case of the death of Paul Ullmer and the other case being identical Attorney Todd waived examination and bond was fixed at $2,500 in each case.

Dr. Coheen furnished two bonds of $2,500 each with two sureties, John Junk, a Washington township farmer, who signed his earlier bonds, being one of them.

The Ullmer twins died Thursday night, August 27, about six hours after Dr. Coheen had administered hyoscin hypodermically as an anesthetic preceding an operation for the removal of tonsils and adenoids.

WILSON APPROVES IT.

Washington, Sept. 11.—President Wilson has approved the sentence of dismissal from the army and three years' imprisonment in the penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., imposed by a general court martial at San Francisco upon Captain Jos. H. Griffiths, of the quartermaster corps of the army. Captain Griffiths was charged with embezzling about $8,000 in government funds at Seattle, Washington.

SUES BARTON ESTATE.

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 11.—Dr. Julian Fabbell, of Washington, physician for many years to the late Clara Barton, former head of the Red Cross, has brought suit here against the estate of Miss Barton to recover $20,000 for professional services in caring for her during her last illness. The suit covers the period from Jan. 1, 1908, to April 12, 1912.

GERMAN FLEET IN BALTIC IS ACTIVE

Berlin, Sept. 11.—(Via Copenhagen and London 12:10 p. m.)—In accordance with its principle of reporting only accomplished facts, the general headquarters of the army in Berlin is still silent concerning the great battle which is being fought to the east of Paris.

The Berlin censors, however, are permitting local papers to publish dispatches from abroad, and from these the people of Berlin have learned that great events are now taking place.

In the meanwhile the German fleet is active in the Baltic. It is reported to have invaded even the Gulf of Bothnia, where it captured and sank a Russian merchant steamer, the "Ushorg". This vessel was in Finnish waters, in other words behind the barrier formed by the Aland Islands, which has been considered impassable for the sea forces of Germany.

A German torpedo boat stopped the "Ushorg" and took off the crew and 34 passengers, including 35 Englishmen. She then opened fire on the steamer, which sank in five minutes. The passengers and crew were brought to a German fort where citizens of hostile countries are being interned as prisoners of war.

German Crown Prince's Army Takes Fortifications.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The German embassy today received the following wireless from Berlin:

"Official headquarters reports that the German crown prince's army yesterday took fortifications southwest of Verdun. The German Paris army is attacking the fortress south of Verdun. The other forts since Wednesday have been commanded by heavy artillery. Gen. Hindenburg with the eastern army outflanked and defeated the left wing of the Russian army still in East Prussia. The Russians gave up fighting and are now retreating everywhere. The eastern army is pursuing the Russians in a southeasterly direction towards the river Niemen."

GERMANS SHOW SIGNS OF WEAR

Furious Fighting Tells on Kaiser's Wonderful War Machine.

London, Sept. 11.—8:30 a. m.—A dispatch to the Times from Bordeaux dated Thursday, says:

"Since Sunday, when the enemy's sweep southeast of Paris was checked on the Grande Morin, the German war machine has been showing signs of wear and each fresh day of battle has closed with the allies in a more favorable position."

"On Sunday there was furious fighting along the Grande Morin which continued at La Ferte-Gaucher throughout the night and Monday the enemy began a retreat upon their next line along the Petit Morin."

"Here they were allowed no rest for the allied forces were tasting the rare

ONLY A POLITE ACKNOWLEDGMENT

Washington, Sept. 11.—President Wilson was carefully considering today his reply to Emperor William's message protesting against the alleged use of dum dum bullets by the French and the activity of Belgian citizens. While it was not known what form Mr. Wilson's answer would take it was the general impression that it would be merely a polite acknowledgment of receipt of the message.

President Wilson will not reply to Emperor William's message until after his return from Cornish next week.

President Wilson will leave Washington at 6:35 o'clock this afternoon to spend the week-end at the summer white house at Cornish, N. H. He will take with him Miss Lucy Smith and Miss Mary Smith, of New Orleans, his cousin, Miss Margaret Wilson, and Mrs. J. B. Sayre, his daughters, are already at Cornish. The president plans to return to Washington early Tuesday morning.

Copenhagen, Sept. 11.—The German embassy here today received the following wireless from Berlin:

"Official headquarters reports that the German crown prince's army yesterday took fortifications southwest of Verdun. The German Paris army is attacking the fortress south of Verdun. The other forts since Wednesday have been commanded by heavy artillery. Gen. Hindenburg with the eastern army outflanked and defeated the left wing of the Russian army still in East Prussia. The Russians gave up fighting and are now retreating everywhere. The eastern army is pursuing the Russians in a southeasterly direction towards the river Niemen."

Petrograd, Sept. 11.—German troops which have been transported from the west have been concentrated along the banks of the river Alle and are now marching in long columns in an easterly direction and crossing the Masurie lakes. The Russian advance guard is retreating to the east.

Petrograd, Via Paris, Sept. 11.—(8:35 a. m.)—An Austrian steamer has been sunk by a Russian battery located on the banks of the Viistula.

Paris, Sept. 11.—(11:10 a. m.)—The Figaro today prints a statement to the effect that there are about 20,000 priests serving in the ranks of the French army.

Rotterdam, Sept. 11.—(Via London, 4:15 a. m.)—An official German statement made public here denies the Russians have taken many prisoners at Lemberg, that the fortress at Przemyśl is surrounded by Russians and that Russian forces are advancing on Cracow.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The German embassy's wireless dispatches from Berlin today contained this statement:

"The action of the French and English in holding up neutral Holland steamers, taking off American and other neutral mail, is causing rising resentment in Holland."

WAR BULLETINS

HEAD OF AMERICAN RED CROSS WHO IS SENDING AID TO EUROPE

MISS MABEL BOARDMAN

Always prominent in the affairs of the national capital and known in social and intellectual circles of many European capitals, Miss Boardman has now, through the activities of the Red Cross following the crushing of arms in Europe, suddenly become one of the conspicuous figures of the country. Upon her falls the burden of responsibility of raising funds to equip the American society for service on the field of battle in France, Germany, Belgium, Russia and other Continental countries. It is a big task. It is a task which would tax the resources and physical strength of any of the big capitalists of industry, and Miss Boardman is going about it with as much sangfroid and decision as any general in command of an army.

MACHINE GUNS ROUT
CHARGE OF LANCERS

London, Sept. 11.—(4:30 a. m.)—The Rouen correspondent of the Daily Mail sends a picturesque story of a great cavalry charge at Thun, a town in Belgium near Charleroi, and the subsequent retreat to Compiègne. The story follows:

"On Monday morning, August 24, after a long delay, the second British cavalry brigade let loose at the enemy's guns. The Ninth lancers went into action singing and shouting like school boys."

"For a time all seemed well, few saddles were emptied, and the leaders had charged almost within reach of the enemy's guns, when suddenly the Germans opened a murderous fire from at least twenty concealed machine guns at a range of 150 yards."

"The result was shattering and the lancers caught the full force of the storm. Vicomte Vauvinaux, a French cavalry officer who rode with the brigade as interpreter, was killed. Captain Letourcy, who was the French master of a school in Devon, was riding by the side of Vauvinaux and had a narrow escape as his horse was shot from under him. Other officers also fell."

"While the bulk of the brigade swerved to the right the others held on and rode full tilt into wire entanglements, buried in the grass thirty yards in front of the machine guns and were made prisoners. Three regiments of the best cavalry in the British army went into the charge and suffered severely. The Eighteenth Hussars and the Fourth dragoons also suffered, but not to the same extent as the others."

"A happy feature of the charge was the gallant conduct of Captain Grenfell, who, though twice wounded, called for volunteers and saved the guns. It is said he has been recommended for the Victoria Cross."

"After this terrible ordeal the British brigade was harassed for fourteen days of retreat, the enemy giving them rest neither day or night. At 2 o'clock each morning they were roused by artillery fire and every day they fought a retiring action pursued relentlessly by the Germans."

"It was a wonderful retreat. Daily the cavalry begged to be allowed to go for the enemy in force to recover lost ground, but only once were they permitted to taste that joy at the village of Lassigny, which they passed and re-passed three times."

"The Germans made repeated efforts which were always foiled, to capture the retreating transport. It had, however, many narrow escapes. At one point it escaped by a furious gallop which enabled the wagons to cross a bridge less than an hour ahead of the enemy. The engineers had mined the bridge and were waiting to blow it up. They sent a hurry-up call to the transport and the latter came with alacrity. The bridge was blown up just in time to separate the two forces."

"At Compiègne the brigade for the first time saw and welcomed their French brothers in arms."

MANY CHARGES

German soldiers set upon them and beat their brains out with the butt ends of their rifles. The eleven battered bodies were found later by Belgian troops."

List a Shocking One.

"On August 12, after the battle of Haelen, Col. Van Damme, commander of a Belgian regiment, was lying wounded on the battlefield. He was unable to move. Several German soldiers found him and, placing their revolvers against his mouth, blew his head off."

"At Bruxelles, the German troops went into battle carrying the Belgian flag."

"On Aug. 10 the German cavalry raided the town of Voten, while the inhabitants slept. One instance of what they did may be cited in the case of a man named Deglimme, whose house was fired and looted. He and his wife were taken from the house half naked. He was dragged away in one direction, she in another. She was released when two miles away and told to run. When she ran the German soldiers fired at her, but she escaped the bullets and staggered back to the site of her ruined home in a pitiable condition. Her husband also was stabbed and fired upon when he ran. He was found, mortally wounded, next day on the road outside the town."

"Count De Lichtervelde said he had read the statement attributed to the Germans which said that treatment of Belgians was made necessary in some cases because the Belgian civilians fired on German soldiers."

"I do not see how it is possible for a man to lie so," Count De Lichtervelde said.

Denies Kaiser's Charges.

Members of the commission said that as soon as they had officially presented their protest and statement to President Wilson they would be free to discuss the war situation as it relates to Belgium. Count Louis De Lichtervelde, secretary of the commission, said:

"I have read what is said to be the statement of Emperor William that Belgian citizens fired on German soldiers. Except in isolated cases this is not so. With the breaking out of the war King Albert issued an official proclamation which was distributed in large posters in all the cities, commanding civilians to take no part in the fighting. The same notice was carried in the daily newspapers."

"I was in Antwerp about August 20, when German air craft passed over the city and dropped bombs. One of these dropped on a government building not far from where I stood. Several innocent persons were killed."

"The reception of the Belgian commission here was formal. Consul General Pierre Mail of New York, and several of the attaches of the consulate met the Belgians at quarantine. At the dock to welcome the commission was the Belgian minister, E. Haventil."

"An autograph letter from King Albert, of Belgium, to President Wilson is in the custody of the commission to be presented by them to the president."

NOT BEFORE NEXT WEEK.

Washington, Sept. 11.—As President Wilson goes to Corvish, N. H., today for the week-end, it will not be possible for him to receive the Belgian commission here before his return next week. If the commission comes to Washington to await the president's return, it probably will be received in the meantime by Secretary Bryan.

ENDS LIFE WITH CARBOLIC ACID

Mrs. Adam Hatfield Found Dead in Kitchen at Her Home Near Ossian.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Ossian, Ind., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Elizabeth Hatfield, aged 62 and wife of Adam Hatfield, a widely known farmer of Wells county, residing two and one-half miles southwest of Ossian, ended her life by swallowing carbolic acid some time between 2 and 4 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Hatfield was found shortly after 4 o'clock lying on a couch in her kitchen, unconscious and with life almost extinct. A half-pint bottle that had contained carbolic acid told the story of her condition and Dr. D. C. Wybourn, of this place, was hastily summoned. When he reached the Hatfield home the woman was beyond aid. Shortly after Dr. Wybourn went out Dr. E. W. Dyer was also called from this place.

Mr. Hatfield, who had been ill during the night with cramps and had been up at 2 o'clock, says Mrs. Hatfield was in bed at that hour. At 4 o'clock Mr. Hatfield again awoke, found his wife absent from bed and started to search for her. He found her lying in the kitchen.

That the suicide was due to a sudden impulse and not to premeditation, is believed, because Mrs. Hatfield made extensive preparations Thursday evening to do the family baking today. She had discussed it and other matters and appeared normal and cheerful. She had been ill for some time with excessive blood pressure and fear that she might be stricken with apoplexy had been entertained by her family and other friends.

Mrs. Hatfield was well known here and throughout the countryside, where she had long resided and was universally respected and liked. Besides her husband she leaves four children—Mrs. Jennie Logan, wife of Frank Logan, of Fort Wayne; Kirk Hatfield, of Fort Wayne; Porter Hatfield, of New Haven, and Harold Hatfield, at home. She leaves also three sisters—Mrs. John Gorham, of Ossian; Mrs. Frank Staber, of Bluffton, and Mrs. Frank Forst, of Linton.

THE STORE THAT DOES THINGS

GIVE WAY BEFORE
PRESS OF ALLIES

London, Sept. 11.—(4:35 p. m.)—The official press bureau today gave out the following announcement:

"The general retirement of the enemy continues."

"The British forces yesterday captured 1,500 prisoners, including wounded, and several guns, including Maxim and large quantities of transport."

"The enemy is retreating rapidly east (Soissons in some disorder). In a letter telegraph it is declared that from further information the captures of yesterday are higher than first reported. Considerable bodies of infantry are being found hiding in the woods, having been left behind owing to the rapid retirement of their forces. These surrender at sight."

"This and the rifling of villages and evidences of drunkenness point to the demoralization of the enemy."

"The pursuit of the enemy is being vigorously pressed."

A dispatch received here from Kington, Jamaica, says that the Hamburg-American line steamer Bethania, has been towed into the harbor there as a prize by a British cruiser. She has on board 400 Germans who have been taken prisoners. The Bethania left Genoa July 25 and Tenebriff Aug. 3 for the west coast of South America. She is a steamer of 4,847 tons.

Belgians Pursue Germans.

A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Ghent says that Belgian troops are pursuing a German army corps which is marching toward France.

An engagement has taken place on the right bank of the Scheldt in the triangle formed by Audenard, Courtlart and Renais.

The Germans are said to have completely evacuated the region of the Scheldt, between Antwerp and Ghent. Many German soldiers detached from their units, are being made prisoners in the environs of Termonde.

GERMAN STRATEGIC PLAN IS THWARTED

London, Sept. 11.—(4:37 a. m.)—The correspondent of the Times at Bordeaux sends the following:

"It is now beyond doubt that the German turning movement to the southeast of Paris has been defeated and there is a dawning hope that the allies' left, which has borne a rain of the enemy's blows since the fighting at Mons began, is now about to take its revenge."

"The Germans have been fighting desperately to guard their line of communication which is in considerable danger from the allies' left. They have been forced to retreat before the onslaught of the British and the withdrawal of the German right is bound to assist the French in forcing back the center unless the Germans desire again to find themselves obliged to follow the imprudent way to victory."

chancellor's advice and 'back' their way through."

"The German check in front of the Meuse and Verdun line has had its echo throughout the field of operations. On the extreme French right the enemy's division, bearing down upon Nancy, has been thrown back behind the forest of Champenoux."

"The French however, stand firm along the Ourcq while the British have crossed the Meuse and driven the enemy a distance of twenty-five miles."

"From the center news is meager but the French are understood to be progressing. The Germans apparently are suffering from lack of ammunition and it would seem that their difficulties in obtaining supplies from their base have only begun. If all their plans succeed, as they have done during the last few days, the allies should be well on their way to victory."

HELD THEIR OWN,
DECLARES BERLIN

Washington, Sept. 11.—The German embassy today received the following wireless from Berlin:

"Headquarters on Thursday in its first official report says that in a battle east of Paris the Germans held their own in a heavy two days fight against superior forces attacking between Meaux, Montmirail and from the direction of Paris. We captured fifty guns and several thousand prisoners, but retired the flank when the advance of strong hostile columns was reported. The enemy failed to pursue."

"Headquarters also reports fighting west of Verdun and on the eastern side of war."

"Vienna reports that the Austrians have assumed the offense in the region of Lemberg. This marks the second stage of a nine day battle in which 450,000 infantry, 4,000 cavalry, 1,500 machine guns and 2,000 field guns were engaged on the Russian side. On Sunday night the Austrians annihilated the entire Serbian Timok division near Mitrovitz. The military attaches of the neutral powers with the German troops officially state that the enemies of Germany are using dum dum bullets. "The vanguard of the right wing of the German troops advancing over the Marne river eastward from Paris were attacked by superior forces, but the attack was stopped, the German vanguard being taken back, the enemies, however, not following. The Germans captured fifty guns and several thousand men."

A TELLTALE POSTER

This is the "Bouillon Kub" poster which the German army employed as a silent messenger for spies through the entire north of France. The Germans had pressed on through Belgium and were well into France before the French army discovered that the many "Bouillon Kub" posters really were sign boards and guiding posts for the advancing German army. The wording on each one was different, and later the words were found to be in a code employed by the German army. For instance, "3 Teller 10 Pfennig," as on the poster above, was found to mean: "Blacked batteries or entrenchments one and one-half miles south of this road." "Six Teller, 20 Pfennig," on another poster, was found to mean "roads and river bridges mined in this vicinity." Upon a German officer who was captured in the fighting around Charleroi the French found a code book in which there was an important meaning for every word and phrase on the bouillon cube posters. It was then that the French discovered that the poster advertisements really were the messengers of German spies.

POPE BENEDICT'S PLEA FOR PEACE

New Pontiff in Encyclical Outlines Program for Pontificate.

Rome, Sept. 11.—The Osservatore Romano, the official organ of the Vatican, publishes a pastoral letter from Pope Benedict XV., in the form of an encyclical to the episcopacy of the world.

It contains the program for the pontificate of Pope Benedict, which summarizes, calls for renewed efforts to spread religion throughout the world and urges peace and brotherhood among peoples and nations in fear of God.

The encyclical which is addressed to the universal Catholic world, deals chiefly with the European war.

"Looking out upon the flock entrusted to our care," Pope Benedict says, "the immense spectacle of a general war has struck us with unutterable horror and sadness."

"When we see such a considerable portion of Europe devastated by fire and sword and drenched with the blood of Christians, it is incumbent upon us to embrace all without distinction, lambs and sheep, in the arms of paternal charity."

"We exhort most earnestly those who govern the destiny of the nations that they should bring themselves to a frame of mind, whereby they may put aside all dissensions contrary to the welfare of humanity."

"Let them realize that there already is too much suffering and sorrow attached to this mortal life and that it should not be rendered more wretched or more sorrowful. Let them realize how much ruin and disaster already has been wrought and how much human blood has been shed."

Addressing the heads of the nations, the pope says:

"Hasten therefore to enter into a council of peace. Grasp the right hand of friendship and receive a special reward from God for yourselves and your natives and earn the greatest praise from the brotherhood of man."

The encyclical ends by the pope expressing the hope that the beginning of his pontificate will see the end of wars.

States and of the world generally learn true democracy as the best means of preventing destructive wars like that involving the nations of Europe.

He advocated that before the war ceases, secret movements of rulers must cease. He told about the old arguments that seemed to make war for the civilized world impossible and then showed how useless the old arguments that the destructiveness of modern weapons and equipment was rapidly making war impossible, the economic and industrial reason to make war impossible the argument that the best way to preserve peace is to be armed to the eye lids, of the smallness of the modern world which can send a message around the world in nine minutes, of the good fellowship which was said to have made war impossible, of Christianity which was creating a world-wide sentiment against war.

"But," said the Rev. Folsom, "none of these were sufficient to guard off the blow that has fallen upon unfortunate Europe. Christian nations are at war. Pagan peoples, heathen peoples, savage peoples look on with terror."

Mrs. Hartman saved $30 with which to engage an attorney to fight her husband's case. Unable to speak English, she entrusted the money to Patruck, she says, and the latter was authorized to engage a Detroit attorney. According to Mrs. Hartman, he spent

Elizabeth, N. J., Sept. 11.—E. S. Richardson, 80 years old, one of Elizabeth's most respected negro citizens, has asked permission of the city council to dig in Jefferson park for a pot of gold which he insists was buried there during colonial times.

Richardson told the council he knew the exact spot where the treasure was buried and would be satisfied to excavate in only one place. He added that police protection would be necessary.

The aged negro says that for twelve years the spirit world has brought mes-

Residents of Neighborhood Want Man at Crossing on Goshen Road.

A petition has been prepared and will be presented for signatures at a meet-

The crossing is dangerous, will be on the Lincoln highway and is approached by steep grades. As a remedy it is suggested that a tunnel might be constructed, eliminating the necessity for a watchman.

HOW RUSSIA IS TRANSPORTING TROOPS TO AID ALLIES IN FRANCE

All indications point to preparations by Great Britain to throw an enormous mass of Russian troops into France directly across the German line of connections. This new and practically unlimited supply of men is coming from Archangel and Ekaterina, on the Arctic coast of Russia, around the North Cape of Norway and thence to the Firth of Forth and East England ports. From Leith and Hull the Russians have a clear, straightaway railway run of it to the Channel, and can be landed at Ostend, Calais, Harve, Cherbourg or wherever, in fact, the immediate exigencies demand. For the handling of the great army which Russia can supply, the practically unlimited facilities of the British transport service are available. Archangel, which has suddenly sprung into prominence as a point of embarkation of the Russian troops, is distant from the North Cape not more than forty-eight hours' steaming for England's fast transport steamers, and from North Cape the run can be made to Leith by those same vessels under moderate steaming is about fifty hours. Five days from Archangel to Leith may be regarded as a fair steaming run for England's fast troop ships. Archangel is in direct railway connection with Vologda to the south. The distance is 396 miles. From Vologda to Moscow is 304 miles, making a total distance from Moscow to Archangel of 700 miles, or less by 200 miles than the distance between New York and Chicago, and about the same distance between Paris and Berlin. The Archangel railway is one of the great military strategic roads of Russia. It is the knowledge that the Russians are coming that has spurred the allies, doubtless, to maintain an unbroken line behind which the reinforcements, of which Lord Kitchener has hinted but never spoken, may come up; a reinforcement which may be regarded as unlimited in numbers so long as England's navy maintains command of the sea and through it can assure an open road from Archangel.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

John 13:12-25.

12 So after he had washed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was set down again, he said unto them, Know ye what I have done to you?

13 Ye call me Master and Lord; and ye say well; for so I am.

14 If I then, your Lord and Master, have washed your feet; ye also ought to wash one another's feet.

15 For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you.

16 Verily, verily, I say unto you, The servant is not greater than his lord; neither he that is sent greater than he that sent him.

17 If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them.

18 I speak not of you all; I know whom I have chosen; but that the Scripture may be fulfilled, He that eateth bread with me hath lifted up his heel against me.

19 Now I tell you before it come, that, when it is come to pass, ye may believe that I am he.

20 Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that receiveth whomsoever I send receiveth me; and he that receiveth me receiveth him that sent me.

21 When Jesus had thus said, he was troubled in spirit, and testified, and said, Verily, verily, I say unto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.

23 Now there was leaning on Jesus' bosom one of his disciples, whom Jesus loved.

24 Simon Peter therefore beckoned to him, that he should ask who it should be of whom he spake.

25 He then lying on Jesus' breast saith unto him, Lord, who is it?

26 Jesus answered, He it is to whom I shall give a sop, when I have dipped it. And when he had dipped the sop, he gave it to Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon.

A Captian You Can Trust.

With most primary elections now out of the way, it is possible to sum up. With few exceptions, machine candidates have won. Beginning with Penrose in Pennsylvania and down the line past Harding in Ohio, Curtis in Kansas and Roger Sullivan in Illinois, the victory of the "regulars" over the "reformers" is practically unbroken.

While the folks have been thinking of war, the crops and business, the professionals of politics have been thinking of votes and have landed enough to land themselves on the ballot. They, too, have been "attending to business."

Thus at the polls in November citizens who are progressive in sympathies will have a restricted choice. Some will support what is left of Roosevelt's third party while hoping for a larger opportunity. Many, recalling the nation's debt to Woodrow Wilson, will give him a vote of encouragement, even at the cost of having incidentally to stand for some poor local timber that may have crept in here and there.

The country knows Wilson; knows that he is wise, patriotic, devoted, safe. It will make no mistake in upholding his hands.

Pay As You Go.

In Boston, awhile ago, a state official quizzed the people who sell goods to learn if other folks were paying their bills, and found that 1,183 tradesmen were carrying on their books more than a million dollars of "N. G." accounts.

One Bostonian in every ten was revealed to be a chronic "deadbeat." That is, he refused to pay or to make an effort to pay for value received. There is no reason to believe that the human nature in Boston is unique; we dare say there's some of the same brand right here.

And it's another of the reasons why old Cost of Living perches high—the man who pays his bills has to carry the man who can't or won't. It's not so bad helping to carry the man who can't—that's Christianity. But the other thing is—well, quite the contrary.

There are more ways of being patriotic than by shouldering a rifle. One way is to pay what you owe—if you can; but if you can't, to pay as much as you can as soon as you can.

Many folks who run into debt do so heedlessly. They owe it to society, now of all times, to think before they plunge.

It is much to be hoped that the sentence to a term of years in the state reformatory imposed by Judge Egge-man, in the circuit court in the case of flagrant and persistent neglect of wife and children by one heartless wretch will have a salutary effect on others of the same ilk. The courts in Fort Wayne are all too frequently called on to deal with cases of similar character, varying only in the degree of offense, but all of them shameless. Certainty that a penitentiary term will be the penalty for that sort of thing will at least tend to have a restraining influence upon the man who has no scruples against deliberately inflicting hardship and suffering on those dependent upon him. No other treatment appears to be at all efficacious.

It will doubtless be impossible to accurately measure the good work done in connection with the milk depot for babes which has been maintained at the First Presbyterian church during the heated term now at an end, but the general results have been splendid. To have aided scores of mothers in bringing their little ones through the summer season and avoiding their infantile ills is a work distinctly worth while. The work was so wholly fine-spirited and unselfish that it has abundantly merited all the commendation that has been given it, and more.

News that Austria will in all probability sue for peace at an early date is the first rift in the war cloud that seems to offer any progress toward possible peace in the great European conflict. At the same time it can scarcely be doubted that each and every one of the warring powers would welcome the chance to let go gracefully,

FIRST GERMAN PHOTOS OF FEARFUL HAVOC AT LIEGE.

These photographs, just in from Berlin, show what the terrible 16-inch German siege guns did to the stubborn turret forts at Liege held out so long at Liege. These forts of nickel-armor steel, with concrete walls as thick as a house, were torn to pieces, as shown in the photographs, and the places they occupied made the craters of veritable volcanoes.

SOME COUNTRY.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

In these days of "due to the war" explanations that do not always explain, it is interesting to examine the facts as to the ability of the United States to feed, clothe and shelter itself. The figures are at hand in a summary just issued by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce which show the peculiarly fortunate position of this nation.

We produce two-thirds of the world's production of corn, one-fifth of the world's wheat crop, 1-4 of the world's out crop, more than half of the world's cotton crop, 40 per cent. of the world's coal output, two-thirds of the world's petroleum production, nearly half the world's iron ore, a full half of the world's copper, one-fifth of the world's gold product and 22 per cent. of the world's gold stock, 28 per cent. of the world's silver output and 30 per cent. of the world's lead product. Notwithstanding the decrease in cattle we have 15 per cent. of the world's supply, twice as many as in Argentina or Russia, and half as many as in India. Besides the 59,000,000 cattle, we have 60,000,000 swine, 50,000,000 sheep and 24,000,000 horses.

All this for 6 per cent. of the world's population. We lead the world, too, in the value of our manufactures, chiefly consumed at home, but about 5 per cent. being shipped abroad. What percentage we may have of the world's foreign trade, if we improve the present opportunity, depends on the vigor with which we go after it. Meanwhile, if we also attend to our business at home there is no reason for pessimism. A country as self-sustaining as this has least to fear from the turmoil in Europe.

WITH WINTER COMING.

(Kansas City Times.)

Whenever there is a strike on a large scale it is inevitably accompanied with great suffering on the part of the families of the men involved. If a hundred thousand coal miners quit work, within a few weeks the women and children feel the pinch of hunger. This privation exists in spite of the fact that grocers are able to carry their customers, and that strike benefits are paid.

What must be the situation in countries where men are withdrawn from work, not by the hundred thousand, but by the million, and where all industry is paralyzed!

The horror of war is not so much on the battlefield as in the ranks of the women and children who must bear not only the distress of uncertainty, but also the hardship of hunger and cold. From hundreds of thousands of homes in France and Germany the breadwinner has been taken, and the families certainly have nothing laid by for their support. What are they to do this winter?

The suffering of the families in an American mining camp, where the men are on strike, will be multiplied a hundredfold on the continent of Europe this winter.

Scottsburg, Ind., Sept. 11.—Four persons were killed instantly and two others suffered fatal injuries when a Pennsylvania passenger train struck an automobile at Austin, near here, yesterday. The dead: ELLSWORTH BELCH, Dayton, Ky. MRS. ELLSWORTH BELCH. MRS. MARY BELCH, 60, Austin, Ind. AMELIA BELCH, 20, daughter of Ellsworth Belch. The injured: BEULAH ROBBINS, 14 years old, Austin, Ind. LEONA TRULOOK, 12 years old, Austin, Ind. Belch was driving the car which stalled on the crossing at Austin. The engineer of the on-coming train was unable to stop and the automobile was demolished. Beulah Robbins and Mrs. Mary Belch lived for a short time after the accident.

TWO KILLED; TWO INJURED.

Attica, Ind., Sept. 11.—H. M. Bird and wife, of Mason, Mich., were killed and their son and daughter injured at Yeddo, near here, yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding overturned and rolled down a ravine. LOOKING FOR ORATORS.

L. A. Worch to Round Up His Best Talent for Debate With Buffaloes.

L. A. Worch, secretary of the local lodge of Elks, is looking for oratorical talent and expects to round up enough of it in a short time to enable him to accept a challenge received in the mails Friday morning which reads as follows and is self-explanatory: "Dr. L. A. Worch, Secretary Elks' lodge, No. 155, Fort Wayne, Ind.:

"Dear Sir—As chairman of the boosters' committee of herd No. 1, Benevolent Order of Buffaloes, I am requested to hereby challenge three members of your order for a public debate, to be held either in the Elks' hall or the Buffaloes' hall on Sunday afternoon, October 4, 1914, beginning at 2 o'clock. Herd No. 1 will select three members to discuss the question, and this question is to be arranged by the three members from our lodge and the three members whom you may select. In order to have the question decided by disinterested parties, the Elks' lodge may be permitted to select six non-members and the Buffaloes' lodge will do likewise. These twelve judges are to render a decision and a majority vote shall decide the question. "This challenge is being sent you following a meeting of the boosters' committee, and we shall expect a reply no-cepting or rejecting at your earliest possible convenience.

"Trusting that you will see fit to accept, and awaiting your reply at once, I am,

"Very fraternally yours."

IMMENSE FLOODS IN CHINA.

Much Loss of Life and Destruction of Property in Shantung.

Pekin, Sept. 11.—Loss of life and great destruction of property are attending the floods spreading over the Shantung peninsula. A correspondent at Weihsen telegraphs as follows: "The Weihsen river, ordinarily a small stream flowing placidly fifteen feet below the level of the town, is now at flood, causing enormous damage. It poured through the city gates reaching its crest apparently on Tuesday night. On that night the American and British teachers at the Weihsen missionary college were aroused by the crash of falling walls and heartrending cries of despairing Chinese. Leaving their homes the teachers plunged into the waters and rescued many from drowning. The American physicians by the use of canoes which they skillfully managed in the dangerous currents, rescued a number of women patients at the hospitals."

Study Marriage Laws to Prevent Divorce.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Believing that if prospective brides were compelled to read the marriage contract before they sign it there would be fewer divorces, Mrs. Charlotte C. Rhodus, president of the woman's party of Cook county, suggests that all laws relating to the marriage contract be assembled in pamphlet form and presented to each bride before a marriage license is issued.

"Upon signing any other contract than the marriage contract," says Mrs. Rhodus, "the law requires that the contracting parties shall swear they read the instrument and understand its provisions. When the marriage contract is taken as seriously as a sale of real estate we will have fewer divorces."

DEFENDERS OF THE BELGIAN ARMY ON THE FIRING LINE.

TURKEY STRIKES

Herself from Domina-
tion of Powers.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Turkey formally notified the United States and the nations of the world yesterday that she had abrogated the series of conventions, treaties and privileges, originating as early as the eleventh century, whereby foreigners in the Ottoman empire have been exempt from local jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases. Foreign subjects no longer will enjoy what is known as extra territorial rights, through which they have been tried by their own judges, diplomatic representatives or consuls.

This practice, abolished by Japan several years ago through the negotiation of new treaties, Turkey has removed by a stroke of the pen, her purpose, it is declared, is to assert her independence and free herself from the domination of the great powers.

Upon the rights revoked has rested the legal status of American missionaries in Turkey, permitting them to maintain churches, hospitals and schools in religious freedom. Administration officials declined tonight to discuss the effect of the action on American missions.

"The removal of every kind of privileges enjoyed by the powers in excess of what the general principles of international law is the meaning of this step," A. Rustem Bey, Turkish ambassador to the United States, declared last night. "This war is Turkey's opportunity."

No intimation was given by the ambassador as to whether the action fore-shadowed war on Great Britain, without whose consent in the past no such radical action would have been attempted.

Among diplomats of the allied powers, however, the belief prevailed that Turkey was appealing to the nationalist sentiment of her people and was ready to seize upon any difficulties that may arise with Great Britain as a pretext to declare war.

HAS BEEN GRAND SUCCESS.

Milk Depot at First Presbyterian Church About Ready to Close.

After a season that has been a grand success in that it has started a number of Fort Wayne babies on the road to good health, the milk depot maintained at the First Presbyterian church is about to close. The season has passed when babies are exposed to the dangers of improper feeding that exists through the hot months.

Working quietly, but effectively, the good people in charge of the undertaking have accomplished a great amount of good without embarrassing publicity and they feel satisfied with their labors.

With a view of getting the salesmen traveling out of Fort Wayne combined in a housing campaign for the city, E. W. Pickett, chairman of the Fort Wayne Commercial club committee on entertainment, has called a "get-together" meeting at the club for Tuesday evening, Sept. 15. A smoker and luncheon will feature the session.

English Woman on Battlefield Tells
American Women What She Saw There

Mrs. St. Clair Stobert, Who Organized Women's Convoy Corps, Writes of Horror Among the Torn and
Front.

(One English woman, Mrs. St. Clair Stobert, after much difficulty, secured permission to go to the "living line" in the late Balkan war and organized the "Women's Convoy Corps," consisting of sixteen young women volunteers; and after terrible privations and endless toil, caring for the mangled Turks and Bulgarians at Kirk Kilise, has put her experience on the line of battle into a book, "War and Women," from which the following extract is taken.—Editor.)

By Mrs. St. Clair Stobert.

I myself am an old campaigner in Africa and elsewhere, and no praise can therefore possibly be due to me for qualities of endurance or for my share in the undertaking. But I feel it is incumbent upon me to refer to this aspect of the experiment as concerns my companions, because it affords the demonstration which was needed, of the fact that women can endure stoically and cheerfully and with safety to themselves, hardships and privations which, being incidental to campaigns of war, have been considered only suitable for men.

The nursing at the Red Cross hospital was in the hands of volunteer women of society, who for the most part wore linen frocks and white caps and aprons, with Red Cross badges on their arms. Though nearly all were untrained and had at first been quite unused to sights of blood and horrors, they one and all gave it as an invariable experience that, though they had previously imagined they would faint at the sight of blood, they had not even felt squeamish when it came to the reality. There was no time, they said, for anything but to work at relieving the overwhelming mass of human suffering which was all around.

Nearly all of them had near relatives at the front, and I asked one woman, whose husband and two sons were fighting if she had heard lately from them, and where they now were. She told me that she had not heard for ten days, and that even when they wrote they were not allowed to give the date or the name of the place from which they wrote, nor were they allowed to mention names of those who had been killed or wounded. No list of killed or wounded would be published till the war was over.

It was 1 o'clock when the oxen and buffaloes were yoked in the mud-trampled encampment by the side of the road, on the outskirts of the town. My business now was to find the commandant and receive orders—to find also, as I hoped, my good friend, Dr. Kiranoff. I asked for orders. These were simple. We were to go through the town and select for ourselves any houses we thought suitable for conversion into hospitals, and set to work at once.

There were thousands of additional wounded hourly expected from Chatalja, and help would be sorely needed.

I had expected that perhaps the buildings would have been already selected, but I of course acquiesced without comment. "And if," I asked, "the houses we should select should chance to be inhabited—what are we to do?"

"Turn out the inhabitants," was the answer.

"All right," I replied, as though it were part of my daily routine to walk through Turkish towns turning the inhabitants out of their own houses. In camp the women live in tents, which they pitch and strike themselves.

BRITISH WOMEN HOSPITAL CORPS ATTACHED TO THE TERRITORIALS PHOTOGRAPHED GOING THROUGH DRILL IN RECENT PRACTICE MANEUVERS.

They dig their own campfire trenches, construct their own camp kitchen and cook their own food in the open, whatever the weather may be.

They perform all their own quartermastering and steward's work, sleep on straw mattresses, in unboarded tents, and, without the aid of male leavers of wood and drawers of water, undergo a general training in improvisation, discipline and self-reliance, and learn, generally speaking, to approximate as nearly as possible to conditions likely to obtain in time of war.

I one day at the front estimated that of the 84 patients in our hospital, 48 had been hit in the legs and 16 in the arms, and of the remainder, the injuries were distributed amongst heads, shoulders, ribs, back, etc., while seven of the cases were medical.

This prevalence of leg wounds was explained to me by the soldiers as due to the fact that the Turkish soldier is so illiterate that he can not read the sight-ings on his rifle and aims point-blank, with the usual result that the bullet hits below the mark at which it is aimed. A man came in with his right arm shockingly shattered by shrapnel. He had traveled in the usual comfortable ox carts for five days from Lule Burgas. He arrived in an exhausted condition, and was suffering, as many were when first admitted, from severe shock. He was discovered the next morning weeping inconsolably.

We asked him what was the matter, and he then confided to us, after a little hesitation, that he was engaged to be married, and he was terribly afraid that if—as he feared—he should lose his arm, his fiancée—who was, of course, the only girl in all the world—might refuse to marry him. Owing to the skill of the doctors and the devotion of the nurses, the arm was saved.

Soldiers who came into the hospital with their brains protruding through their skulls, at first paralyzed in speech and in every limb—men with buttocks shot away, men with arms and legs shattered—with wounds which made it impossible to believe as you gazed upon them that this raw, bleeding, nauseous-smelling object formed part of a human being—these one and all recovered in what seemed to me miraculous fashion.

It was to my mind also worthy of note that this little band of women—drawn from classes accustomed to their own homes to every luxury—should have withstood not only the work but the hardships and privations, without a grumble or a word of discontent.

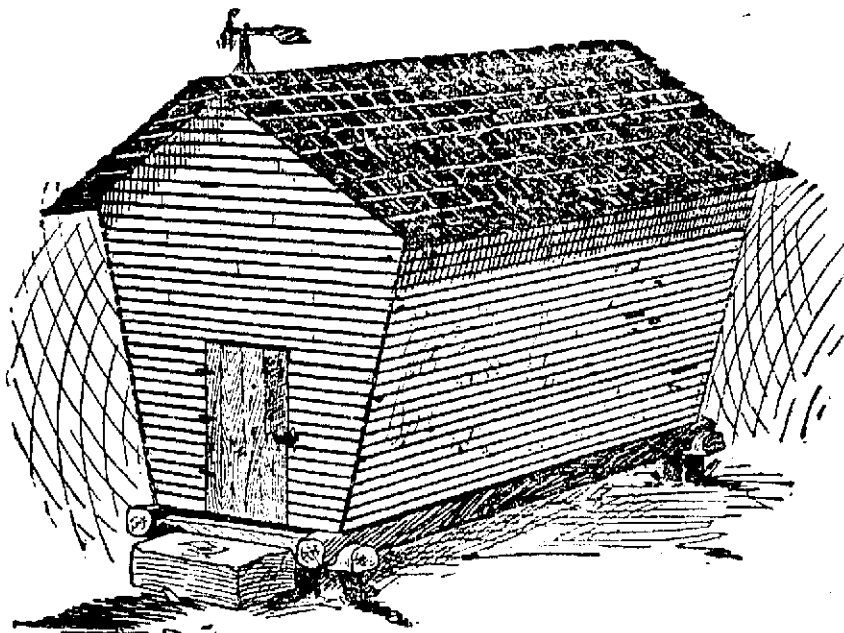

REV. GRIMES AGAIN CHOSEN.

North Manchester Pastor Superintendent of U. B. Conference.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 11.—The Rev. J. E. Grimes, of North Manchester, last evening was elected superintendent of the annual conference of the United Brethren church, which is being held at Otterbein. A number of names were before the conference, but the Rev. Mr.

Grimes received a big vote. He already has served a year as superintendent. The session opened with an address by Bishop H. H. Fouts of Dayton, O. He was editor of the international Sunday School literature for sixteen years, and he gave a talk on the study of the Bible. Dr. Nelson, editor of the Ram's Horn, spoke on temperance and Dr. Schell, secretary of the educational department, and Dr. L. D. Bonebrake, president of the Indiana Central university, addressed the conference last night. Today is institute day, and the 100 ministers present will be called on to tell of the work being accomplished in their districts.

True Toasted Corn

Is as different from commonplace corn flakes, as succulent green sweet corn is different from the hard, flinty, yellow grain of the farmer's corn crib.

In spite of the numerous "corn flakes" marketed, few persons really know the rich sweetness of choice corn when skilfully cooked, flavoured and toasted.

This true toasted corn—distinctive in its rich, rare flavour—is called

Post Toasties

A call for "corn flakes" often brings some one of the many brands of ordinary flakes. To avoid disappointment ask for, and insist upon Post Toasties.

This food can be distinguished by the original yellow package; by the rich, true corn flavour imprisoned in the making; and by the size and tender crispness of the golden brown flakes.

Toasties are ready to serve out hot or cold, with cream or good milk—also with fresh fruit in season. A further delicate flavour may be released by heating a few minutes in oven before serving. And it's a flavour worth knowing!

VETERANS OF 44TH HOLD A REUNION

Survivors of the Gallant Band of Warriors of 60's Gather in Avilla Annual Meeting

Avilla, Ind., Sept. 11.—Within a few weeks of the fifty-third anniversary of the regiment's mustering in at Camp Allen, Fort Wayne, the survivors of the gallant Forty-fourth Indiana volunteers met here yesterday for their thirty-fifth annual reunion. There was a fair attendance of the veterans and the reunion was made an enjoyable affair for all of them. Charles Miller, of Orland, was elected president of the association; L. C. Palmer of Hicksville, Ohio, vice president, and J. H. Willis, of Waterloo, secretary. Orland was selected as the place for holding next year's reunion. Attorney Fred L. Bodenbaver, of Kendallville, delivered the address of welcome to the veterans, to which J. J. Gillette responded in behalf of his comrades. A drum carried in the battle of Shiloh by her father was presented by Mrs. Frank Broughton, of Kendallville. Judge Luke H. Wrigley, of Albion, delivered the afternoon address and the program was given a broad variety by recitations, songs, short addresses and reminiscences of the war. It was shown by the report of the secretary that eleven veterans of the Forty-fourth had died since the last reunion. Seventy-five survivors were present.

AN UNDESIRABLE CITIZEN CANNED

A Quiet, Orderly and Perfectly Dignified
Affair Participated in by 100
Hicksville Men.

Hicksville, Ohio, Sept. 11.—The Hicksville News this week thus recounts the removal of Charles Myers from "our midst," and tells why:
An expression of disapproval was demonstrated in Hicksville Friday evening that was most unusual but effective.
Charles Myers, member of the firm of the Hicksville Woollen and Tailoring company, was asked by a body of men numbering about 100 to leave town and stay away, and after serious reflection upon the request he acquiesced, departing on No. 3 that evening.
This demonstration was quietly staged. No features were anticipated, although the request was firmly made. There was no occasion for any one "losing his head," and no one did.
The reason given Mr. Myers was that citizens of Hicksville and vicinity objected to his prominence in the domestic trouble in the H. J. Otis household, which, as was stated last week, blossomed forth into a divorce proceedings begun by Mrs. Otis.
Night Marshal Saylor was advised by the crowd that Mr. Myers was not wanted here and he was asked to go to him and inform him of the feeling. Mr. Saylor did as requested, with a view of forestalling any drastic methods, thus keeping the crowd within the bounds of peace and quietude.
Mr. Myers went to Auburn for the night. The next day he returned to Hicksville, and in company with Mr. Saylor, came up town from the depot, between trains, looked after some affairs and got some personal effects.

KILLED BY STEAM SHOVEL.

Night Watchman at Wabash Gravel Pit
Near Wolcottville, Crushed.

Wolcottville, Ind., Sept. 11.—The overturning of a steam shovel in the Wabash railroad's gravel pit, one mile east of here, instantly killed Samuel Hart, night watchman at the pit, and seriously injured Daniel Owen, the engineer. Hart's body was pinned beneath the massive shovel and he was terribly crushed. Owen's injuries consist of a badly cut head and painfully wrenched knee. Hart was on the shovel at the time of the accident and had no chance whatever to escape, it is said.
The steam shovel was regarded as dangerous, and this is the second time it overturned since being in operation at the Wabash pit. On the first occasion no one was injured.

Mr. Hart was a prominent citizen here and had resided in Wolcottville for over forty years. He had been employed as watchman at the pit for several years. He was prominent in fraternal circles and was a member of the Masonic order and the Odd Fellows, under whose auspices the funeral will be held. Besides the widow, three sons, Forrest, brakeman on the Wabash; Ora, of Hammond, and Virgil, at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Harry Reed, of near here, survive.

TO END HIGH SCHOOL HAZING.

Hartford, City, Ind., Sept. 11.—High school hazing and class fights are to end in this city. The school board is contemplating the passage of a resolution against these practices. Any student who violates the rule will be permanently expelled. This action is to be taken in view of the fact that many parents, especially those living in the country, are averse to sending their sons to school in this city because of the rule and oftentimes harmful practices in which the students have indulged. The schools here have been rather the exception and not the rule with regard to hazing and class fights, for there are few cities in the state where these things are allowed. There is a great deal of sentiment here against hazing.

SHOOTER OF WOMAN IN JAIL.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 11.—Pale and haggard and showing plainly the effects of worry and exposure, John Thompson, who shot Miss Ruth Turkes in this city on Thursday afternoon of last week, as she was returning to her home on the Boundary pike, in company with Mrs. Laura Flora and the latter's daughter, Mrs. W. H. Kavenaugh, surrendered himself to Sheriff Cunningham in the early morning at the threshold of the county jail. Thompson had been at liberty since he fired the shot that came near ending the life of Miss Turkes as she crouched behind the hood of the automobile. Miss Turkes is not yet out of danger.

AGED RESIDENT IS DEAD.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Diana Newlin, age 81 years, died at the home of her son, Elijah Newlin, one mile west of the city, Wednesday evening, at 6 o'clock, following a lingering illness of many weeks. Death was the result of the infirmities incident to old age. She was born in Pennsylvania and came to this section of the country in 1869. For twenty years she was a resident of Kendallville, moving to the farm with her son several months ago. Her husband, Jesse Newlin, died nine years ago.

CONVOY MAN BADLY SHOCKED.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 11.—Sherman LaRue, of Convoys, well known in this city, had a narrow escape from instant death when he came in contact with a heavily charged switch at the Ohio Electric interurban station in that town. Mr. LaRue is employed as night agent at that station and it is presumed that he attempted to shut off the power as usual about 11 o'clock and came in contact with the switch, receiving a shock of about 35,000 volts of electricity. He was rendered unconscious and was found

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By R. O. SELLERS, Director of Extension Department, The Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago.

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 13

THE TEN VIRGINS.

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 25:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Watch therefore for ye know neither the day nor the hour when the Son of Man cometh." Matt. 25:13.

A parable is "an earthly story with a heavenly meaning." An analogy is "a likeness." This story is a parable. It is to illustrate the vigilant, expectant attitude of faith, Heb. 6:23; II Tim. 4:8. Leaving the temple, Jesus drew the disciples' attention to its buildings and predicted its destruction. Proceeding to the Mount of Olives, his disciples ask him, "Tell us, when shall these things be? And what shall be the sign of thy coming, and the end of the world?" In reply Jesus gave the disciples his Olivet discourse and prophecies found in chapters 24 and 25. To fully comprehend this parable we ought to review all of this teaching. The discourse as a whole falls into these parts: (1) 24:1-44 deals with Israel as a nation; (2) 24:45-25:30 deals with the church as being responsible for the king during the period between his two advents; and (3) 25:31-46 deals with the judgment of the nations when the Son of Man comes in his glory. It will be seen then that this lesson comes in the second part and is one of three parables concerning the responsibility of the church. Jesus is the bridegroom, John 3:28, 29; Eph. 5:25; II Cor. 11:2; Rev. 21:3, and sets forth the love of Christ for the church, Eph. 5:25, 28, 30-32.

Two Classes.

I. "While the bridegroom tarried" vv. 1-5. The first and strongest idea of this section is that he, Jesus, the bridegroom, is coming again. Among those who wait are two classes, the wise and the foolish, though both were right intentioned. The lamps symbolize Christian profession, Luke 12:35; II Tim. 3:5, and the oil that which is essential to give us power whereby we maintain our profession, Acts 10:38; I John 2:20-27. The foolish virgins were superficial and had not enough to maintain their professions. The wise virgins had enough oil; so also may the believer have the abiding spirit of Christ's presence wherein to maintain his Christian profession. Waiting they all nodded (slumbered) and others evidently lay down (slept). The wise virgins could afford to rest as they had all things ready. If they had been awake, however, they might have seen and rendered aid to those who were in the sorry plight of not being ready. The tarrying was a test of the faith and patience of both the wise and the foolish as both awaited the "fulness of time" when he should appear.

The Great Question.

II. Behold the bridegroom cometh" vv. 6-13. All are awakened by this midnight cry. The hour was one when he was least expected, and the church of today needs to be awakened to a realizing sense of this truth. Both the wise and the foolish have to meet him, but the wise were the only ones whose lights could shine and show the way into the banqueting room. They all outwardly appear alike even to the very point of separation. The church of God individually and collectively, has yet to sense the danger to it and to others if its light for any reason be not continuous. This cry was a call to "meet him" and we all need to ask ourselves, "are we ready to meet him?" The hour was too late to make needful preparation to meet him. In their emergency they turned to the five wise ones but the wisdom of one cannot supply the deficiency or the foolishness of others (v. 8). There is no Scripture to support the teaching that one man's merit is applicable to another except the merit of the God-man Jesus as applied to sinful humanity. Hence the wise sent their sisters to the original source of supply for oil, and as they went "the bridegroom came." So will it be with all who put off too long the securing of the Holy Spirit in their lives.

"They that were ready" went in, they that were not ready when they came found the door "shut." To attend a marriage feast is highly esteemed everywhere, but it is a privilege that is worthy of careful preparation. Remember that Jesus is here showing the attitude towards himself of those who profess to be devoted to him during the period of his absence, and who expect his return as king. That being so, we need to remind ourselves of the laws of the kingdom as he gave them.

Jesus knows those that are his, John 10:27; II Tim. 2:19; I Cor. 8:3, but such are not those who make a mere outward profession of faith and lack the abiding presence and power of the Holy Spirit. The day of separation between the true and the false is surely coming, a time when the real, genuine, Spirit-filled Christian will rejoice "at his coming."

The lesson for us is "Watch." Because we do not know the day nor the hour when he will come, therefore "watch." This word does not mean simply to look or to gaze but to be awake, to be vigilant.

THIS BRASS BED OUTFIT

$19.50

Including the New Ball Post Brass Bed Cotton Surface Mattress and all Metal Spring

Terms: $2.00 Cash; Weekly or Monthly Terms to Suit

You Naturally Would Like to Know How We Can Afford to Make This Offer

It is the most natural thing in the world to wonder how any firm can afford to sell furniture at such low prices (and it must indeed be evident to anyone that $19.50 is an exceedingly low price for this Brass Bed Outfit). Our reason for offering this Brass Bed Outfit at $19.50 is as follows: The inducement of a "Bargain" pleases our regular customers and brings in new customers whom we can also please and make permanent customers. Our sale is a mutual benefit—you profit and so do we—in every case you get value plus, otherwise there would be no inducement. In many cases you make more money on the purchase of an article of furniture than we do. But we gladly sacrifice the retailer's customary profit in order that more people may become better acquainted with this institution. Not through printed advertisements, but through actual contact with our organization, which will be more convincing of the service we render our customers, the quality of merchandise, our liberality of credit and lowness of price than we could possibly convey in any printed advertisement.

A Most Distinctive Brass Bed Design

The Brass Bed manufacturers are constantly striving to produce Brass Bed designs that are not over-ornate and yet having enough distinctiveness to them to be pleasing to the American family that wishes exclusive things in its home. And this Brass Bed design created recently by the Simmons Manufacturing Company meets this condition in every respect. It is simple in its lines, yet very out of the ordinary and does not involve high manufacturing costs which bring this bed within the means of everyone.

Guaranteed Construction and Finish

The Simmons Manufacturing Company is unquestionably the largest producer of Brass Beds in America and they do not produce any beds which they cannot guarantee both as to finish and construction. The lacquering on this bed is of the very highest quality applied according to a patent controlled by this factory. This lacquering is proof against all common acids, soaps, etc., and every part is screwed and bolted rigidly in place.

The Mattresses' Downy Surface of Cotton

The makers of the mattresses included in this outfit have studied for years to produce a mattress that was not only extremely comfortable, but would also withstand constant use without becoming lumpy. This sanitary mattress is the result of years of experimenting. The required resiliency and proof against lumping is produced by a combination of materials, the surface being soft Sanitary Cotton. The ticking in which this mattress is encased is extra durable.

You Can Estimate Its True Value

We prefer letting you be the judge of the actual worth or regular selling price of this outfit. Or rather still, we would like to have you inquire at any furniture store to find out what an outfit of this sort actually sells for in the average store. It will be far more convincing to have someone else tell you the regular selling price than ourselves. We will say this much though, if any dealer in this city offers this outfit for anywhere near this price, we will refund your money gladly.

Do Not Delay Your Selection

The only disadvantage of offering these specials, at the low prices we do lies in the fact that very often we underestimate the demand that our offers will create and sometimes our entire stock is sold in a few hours and those who put off their selection are disappointed. Therefore, we warn you to attend this sale as early as possible to avoid the possibility of being disappointed.

$2.00 Delivers All Three Pieces

No better evidence of our sincere desire to make it as easy as possible for everyone to profit by our special sales could be asked for than the low terms we offer. The man of little income can share in these special sales as well as a man of large income who can afford to pay cash. If any man offered to buy twenty-five of these outfits and pay spot cash for them, he could not possibly buy them for any less than the man who buys but one of these outfits and pays for it on the credit terms of $2.00 cash and balance weekly or monthly to suit.

Antwerp, Sept. 11.—It is estimated that the Belgian losses up to now are 10,000 dead, wounded and prisoners.

NO AMERICANS REJECTED.

Paris, Sept. 11.—Of the foreign volunteers who are enlisting with the French army, 57 per cent. of the Russians were rejected medically, 32 per cent. of the Poles, 11 per cent. of the Italians, 4 per cent. of the British and no Americans.

MAP SURE TO BE CHANGED.

Rome, Sept. 11.—"I think the map of Europe will be entirely rearranged for a century; the next congress will have a more difficult task than those after Jena and Waterloo," said M. Delcasse, the French statesman, in an interview in Italy.

LORD'S THREE SONS ALL SERVE.

London, Sept. 11.—Lord Selborne's three sons, Lord Wolmer, Robert Palmer and Lewis Palmer, are all serving in the army.

LOCOMOTIVES AMONG REFUGEES.

Paris, Sept. 11.—At several railway junctions in Northeast France there are large numbers of Belgian railway engines brought across the frontier to prevent them from falling into German hands, including even small shunting engines bearing the name Namur.

PIGEON SPY BETRAYED.

London, Sept. 11.—A story of the capture of a spy near Namur, told by a soldier to a Belgian angler, has been received. Belgian soldiers in a wood near Namur saw a man fishing and taking no notice of patrols that passed. Questioned as to what luck he had had the answer was, "The beggars won't bite." From the fishing basket on which he was sitting came the unusual sound of a "coo coo," and another spy was caught. "My friend," said the correspondent, "said that the pigeons were fairly tender."

GEN. BOTHA'S SON ENLISTS.

Johannesburg, South Africa, Sept. 11.—General Botha's son, who is aged 17, has left school and enlisted as a private for active service, without obtaining his parents' consent. His parents, however, are understood not to offer any opposition.

THREE GENERATIONS WIPED OUT.

Amsterdam, Sept. 11.—The Dutch illustrated weekly newspaper, Het Leven, prints a narrative by the Dutch writer, Dr. Lamberts-Hurlebrink, of Maastricht. The story begins with the Franco-German war of 1870 and concerns a farmer's family named Hauff, then living in Alsace. When the Germans invaded Alsace they plundered Hauff's farm. Hauff shot a couple of them and was shot himself. His wife found her little boy weeping on the body of his father. "Mamma," said the boy, "when I have grown up I will shoot the Germans who killed father."

DIFFERENCES WITH PANAMA ARE CLEARED UP BY TREATY

Differences between the United States and the Republic of Panama by which boundaries are fixed to the better understanding of both countries have been cleared away by the new treaty signed at Panama by William Jennings Bryan, American Minister, and Ernesto T. Lefevre, Secretary of Foreign Relations of Panama. The principal object of the United States—the safeguarding of the Panama Canal from attack of a foreign power by the acquisition of islands and control of waters commanding important approaches—has been accomplished.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You
Have Been Eating too
Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's uric waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

JELICOE RULES THE KING'S NAVY

Rule the Noted British Admiral.

(By Nixola Greeley-Smith.)
"At this grave moment in our national history, I send to and through you to the officers and men of the fleet of which you have assumed command, the assurance of my confidence that under direction they will revive and renew the old glories of the royal navy and prove again the sure shield of Britain and her empire in the hour of trial."
—"GEORGE, R. I."

The man who received this splendid message from the king of England on Aug. 4th, the day that war was declared between Great Britain and Germany, is Admiral Sir John Jellicoe.

No man since the hero of Trafalgar has had such absolute power over the marine forces of England as this quiet shrewd eyed man of 64, who British sailors call the "future Nelson."

Jellicoe has been at sea ever since he was thirteen years old. Born in 1859 he entered the navy in 1872.

At 22 he had his first whiff of gunpowder in the naval attack on Alexandria, Egypt.

In 1889 he gained his first navy medal. This was given to him for gallantry in attempting to save life. As a lieutenant on the Monarch he commanded a gig which went to the assistance of a ship stranded off Gibraltar in a pounding sea.

The gig was captured by the murderous force of the waves and the gallant rescuers were compelled to swim for their lives. This incident and the fact that he survived the greatest disaster in the history of the British navy, the collision between the Victoria and the Camperdown, led the British jacks to remark irreverently of their supreme chief that he "must be born to be banged as you can't drown 'im."

Jellicoe was actually a commander on the Victoria, but at the time of the collision he was sick in his cabin with Malta fever. The collision which sank the pride of the English navy saved Jellicoe's life.

"With the aid of a midshipman I escaped from my sick bed into the sea and swam about until I was picked up," he said once. "It was a terrible ordeal for a man ill with a burning fever, but at that I believe it saved my life. My temperature when I jumped into the sea was 103. When I was picked up it had dropped to normal—98—and my illness never returned."

Jellicoe saw distinguished service in the Chinese Boxer Rebellion in 1900 and was severely wounded in the advance on Peking. For this he was made Knight Commander of the Bath and received the Order of the Red Eagle from the Kaiser.

From that time on Jellicoe rose rapidly in his profession. He was largely responsible for the great improvement in gunnery practice shown by the British navy in recent years. From 42 hits out of a hundred rounds of ammunition Jellicoe increased the average percentage to 70 in less than one year. For this the king made him a knight. Like Kitchener, Jellicoe believed for a long time that "Down to Gehenna or up to the Throne, He travels the fastest who travels Alone!"

He used to say that a good husband can't be a good sailor and vice versa. The admiral changed his mind, however, when in 1902, at the age of 43, he met Miss Florence Gwendoline Cayzer, daughter of Sir Charles Cayzer, and fell in love with her. After an impetuous wooing worthy of the great Nelson the daughter of one of England's wealthiest shipowners accepted him and they were married. They have three little daughters who rule the supreme admiral of the world's greatest fleet with an iron severity.

Today's Lesson in War Geography.

LA FERTE-SOUS-JOUARRE—A town of 4,000 inhabitants, lying in a beautiful valley between high wooded hills, about 40 miles to the east of Paris. There are the ruins of a thirteenth century convent and a beautiful fifteenth century church in the village.

EPERNAY—Center of the champagne industry. The town has a population of 26,000, and is extremely prosperous. The champagne cellars, miles of galleries hewn in the solid chalk cliffs, draw visitors from all over the country. There are 5,000,000 bottles of champagne laid down annually in these cellars.

VITRY LE FRANCOIS—Once a strongly fortified place founded by Francis I in 1545. The population is now 8,000. The village is near to Brienne-le-Chateau, the famous seat of the military school of which Napoleon I was a pupil.

MIKOLAJOW—A strong fortress on the banks of the Dniester, 28 miles south of Lemberg, in the neighborhood of large gypsum quarries. The fortress is equipped with steel cupolas and heavy guns.

and commands the river, valley and the railroad.

STANISLAU—An important trading town and railroad center, with a population of over 33,000, half of which is Jewish. It is 87 miles from Lemberg and within sight of the Carpathian mountains. Branch railroad lines from this town to Strij and many other smaller places makes its possession of great strategic value.

STRYJ—A busy town with a great cattle market, on the slopes of the Carpathian foothills. As the center of a cattle raising district, Stryj is of great value to the Russian commissary department. The population is 30,000.

Acute Indigestion.
"I was annoyed for over a year by attacks of acute indigestion, followed by constipation," writes Mrs. M. J. Gallagher, Geneva, N. Y. "I tried everything that was recommended to me for this complaint but nothing did me much good until about four months ago I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them from our druggist. I soon realized that I had gotten the right thing for they helped me at once. Since taking two bottles of them I can eat heartily without any bad effects. Sold by all dealers.—Adv.

TIDE EBBS AND FLOWS IN FIVE DAYS' FIGHTING

Impetuosity which characterized the first month of the war.

Enough damage already has been inflicted to give the antagonists a whole new respect for the hitting power of each other.

Germans Are Strengthened.

Lacenic official announcement declares that the Germans have been driven back 36 to 47 miles from the line they had reached to the east of Paris, but no indication is given of the breaking of the powerful battle array which swept through Belgium and northern France. Berlin admits that its forces have retired before the attack of the allies, but the invaders have been strengthened by the arrival of fresh troops from Belgium, and they may resume the offensive. The allies also are said to be preparing for German reinforcements by bringing up reserves. A French offensive is not unexpected by military experts as the French lines occupy ground that has been used for many years for maneuvers; consequently every inch of it is known to the French officers. There are indications here that the reported extremity of the Austrian forces in Galicia is exaggerated. The Russians apparently have halted their attack either because of exhaustion or because the Austrian and German forces were found to be unexpectedly strong.

On the east Prussian front neither side seems to have been able to hold its positions. There is a possibility, however, that Russia is awaiting the advent of winter, which will freeze the marshes, before making a serious attack in this direction. Germany has about 500,000 men along the east Prussian border and will doubtless make a stubborn stand there to prevent the opening of the most direct road to Berlin.

Nish reports the capture of the Austrian stronghold of Semlin. If this is confirmed it means that Belgrade is relieved from investment after stubbornly resisting an Austrian bombardment since the beginning of the war. The supposed retirement of the Germans from a portion of the territory they occupied in Belgium has apparently led to tentative efforts on the part of Belgian troops to assume an offensive movement against their strong base at Antwerp.

FRENCH CLAIM ADVANCE.

Bordeaux Says Gains Made Against German Right Wing.
Washington, Sept. 11.—The French

embassy today received from Bordeaux the following dispatch dated Sept. 11, but presumably written last night:
"Today at eighteen o'clock (6 p. m.) from indications given by the war department marked advances against the German right wing have been gained by our troops. To the north of La Fiteuse Jounaire, the first German army was obliged to recross the Marne and yesterday night below a line formed by the river Lathuis and Mezy and Fern Trienes.

"The main valley was free from German troops according to reports. German troops at Champagne were forced by the Third German army to retire to Gorgonne and Salons, but part of what was lost was regained. The Fifth German army before Vassincourt in the Argonne was attacked by our troops. We progressed slightly.

"The fort Centur in the Meuse was attacked by the Germans.

"Slight progress on the road to Chateau Saline in Lorraine by the sixth German army in the forest of Champagne. Part of that advance was lost.

"As for Maubeuge we have no official confirmation of its having been taken. The garrison was not half what German agencies say."

TURKEY REJECTED OFFER.

Was Approached by Entente Powers, Declares Berlin.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The German embassy today received the following message from Berlin:

"The three entente powers apprehending Turkey's intervention in favor of Germany and Austria, expressed to Turkey their readiness to consent to the abolition of capitulations in case of Turkey's neutrality during the present war.

"Turkey replied that her neutrality was not to be purchased and drawing the consequences from the notification of the entente Ambassadors at once issued irades revoking the capitulations."

GERMANS SHOW

joy of the offensive and wished to taste it to the full.

"On Tuesday the German command became apprehensive for the safety of its communications and saw looming on its right flank a possibility of disaster.

"North of Paris the French found room for assembling a large army and while the British were slipping from the northeast of Paris to the east with the Germans, their place of glory was taken by a strong French force which moved up to the river Ourcq and became a very serious menace to the enemy's retreating movement.

"The Ourcq formed the upper blade of a pair of shears of which, as they were gradually closed, the Grande Morin, the Petit Morin and the river Marne formed the lower blade.

"Immediately the German staff realized this situation it endeavored to extricate itself from between the blades by a rapid retreat and by a series of furious but fruitless onslaughts upon the French holding the right bank of the Ourcq.

"The fighting here has been of a particularly desperate character which is shown by the fact that of two standard regiments captured, one, that of the 30th Infantry regiment of Magdeburg, was torn from the hands of its bearer by a French infantry reserve."

CLASH OVER WAR ARGUMENT.

Fifty Men in Maine Lumber Camp Engage in Battle.

Millinocket, Me., Sept. 11.—More than 50 lumber men battled in the woods at Grand Brook last night after an argument over the European war. One man was killed and three were injured according to reports which came here. Grand Brook is 14 miles in the woods. Two sheriffs who went to the scene with deputies are reported to be on their way here with 53 prisoners. The lumbermen are part of a crew of the Great Northern Paper company. Most of them are Poles and French Canadians.

ENLARGES HER BUSINESS.

Mrs. Schumaker, of English Tearoom, Leases Hamilton House.
The well known caterer, Mrs. Schumaker, has just taken possession of the Hamilton house, West Berry street, which she has leased from the Drs. Macbeth, and will put in charge of it, under her supervision, her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Walden. Mrs. Schumaker will conduct the English tearoom at the same place it has been since it opened it, and will be in charge of it as usual.

STOP WORK ON HILLSIDE.

The board of works has summarily ordered a cessation of all work on Hillside avenue. The property owners on the east side of the street want the sidewalk set out eight feet from the property line and the board bluntly refuses to permit this. Walkers cannot be obtained for proceeding with the grading, and until these are given the law dictates a halt of the work. The street may lie for some time in its present condition.

CONTEST CLOSES UP ON SATURDAY

Better Babies to Be Examined All Day to Finish Up the Work.

In order to finish up the work of examining babies entered in the better babies contest at the court house, the committee from the Fort Wayne Mothers' club has decided to begin examinations at 9 o'clock on Saturday morning and continue through the day. All babies presented from three to six months old and from three to four years old will be examined, if it is possible, to complete the task.

This change is made necessary that the contest was originally scheduled for five days and cannot be continued into next week, as the physicians and nurses have given liberally of their time and the club members do not feel that they can reasonably ask them to go further. The attendance on Friday afternoon was fully up to the high standard of the preceding days and every member of the medical staff was put to his and her best to get through. The examinations were to continue as late in the afternoon as circumstances would admit of.

Work is progressing on the score cards, but in two classes there were 220 babies and it takes some time to go over these cards and get at the results. Announcements of the findings will be made through the newspapers and if means can be provided the score cards will be sent to the mothers for their guidance in advancing the welfare of their children.

One of the entries for Friday afternoon was a prize winner of last year, but the name was not made known to the examiners and this child went before them on the same basis as the others. Many handsome children have been presented every day during the contest and the entries today were well up to the high standard.

Final entries must be made tomorrow and mothers will find it to their interest to go to the court house as early as possible.

OFFER TO JACK HENDRICKS.

Chicago Baseball Public Much Interested in Reported Tender.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Chicagoans today attempting to get first hand information on the report that Jack Hendricks had been offered the management of the Chicago Nationals, were unable to find President Thomas, of the local club, though he was supposed to have returned from Indianapolis. The report was generally credited that Hendricks had been offered the management.

In connection with the story that Hendricks had declined the offer because of his long association with owner James C. McMillan in Denver and Indianapolis, came a rumor from Cincinnati that Mr. McMillan himself might "buy into" the Chicago club and take active part in its affairs. Hendricks learned his baseball here as a member of semiprofessional teams. He is a Chicago resident in the winter.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

Ruth St. Denis This Evening.

The Battle Creek Tribune of Sept. 9 has the following to say of Ruth St. Denis who comes to the Majestic this evening:

"Battle Creek looked into the orient last night and saw its most artistic dances. It looked back into ancient Greece in the heyday of that nation and saw its most classic dances, and it looked into the modern day and witnessed the dances which are to be seen on the ballroom floors at the present time. For Ruth St. Denis was here, and with her Ted Shawn and Hilda Beyer, clever dancers, who vied with the star for popular favor."

"Battle Creek has seen grand opera, it has seen light opera, it has seen comic opera. But seldom has it been privileged to witness a performance so classic as that which Miss St. Denis brought to the Post theater last night and played before a large and appreciative audience."

"Miss St. Denis, in her famous Hindu temple dance, closed the performance. The scene was lavishly set for an ancient temple, while red Hindus acted as attendants. In this Miss St. Denis, as the idol in which the spirit suddenly returns, dances the dance of sight, hearing, smell, touch and taste, and then returns to the pedestal as the idol. The scenic effects and lighting of this portion were most beautiful."

"Freckles" Saturday Matinee and Night.

"Freckles," a lad famous in the pages of a most charming story written by Gene Stratton-Porter, appears now on the stage in a dramatization of the book "Freckles" will be presented at the Majestic on Saturday matinee and night. The story of the play is simple and altogether charming. The scene is laid in the depths of the virgin forests known as the "Lumberlost." It is not only a faithful study of the great "Lumberlost," but it is also a complete picture of the conditions that existed in the now famous timber belt of Indiana.

"The Under Dog," a new four-act drama by Rachel Marshall and Oliver Bailey, comes to the Majestic Monday and Tuesday with Tuesday matinee. It is a story of gripping and intense human interest in which two love stories and the tangled threads of four captivating Americans are beautifully and brilliantly united in a sanely happy ending. There is no sermonizing or weary preachment in the crisp and often laughable dialogue, but in the life of the lad who is "the under dog" of the play, there is a lesson which parents, teachers and employers as well as boys and girls just starting into the important affairs of life, cannot learn too quickly or remember too long.

Signor, Monsieur, Herr, Don or whatever the proper handle is for Rapoli's monicker, would be a fright in the present European war situation, if he caught the enemies' cannon balls as easily as he does those that are hurled at him during the course of his juggling act on the Temple's current bill. The Ruten Song Birds have an exceptionally attractive act, closing with a lively bit of singing and stage business. Katherine Luce Ruten, the petite comedienne of the company, is a winsome little miss with a sweet voice and a contagious smile all her own, while her brother's sweet, full boy soprano is a source of constant delight. George Dixon, the musical jack in the box, pops out of his box for all the world like the toy that is one of childhood's best friends. His instrumental music is excellent. "Hired and Fired" is a slam bang farce that starts a riot when Cameron, of the team of Cameron and Gaylord, chases a cake of slippery soap out from under the curtain and keeps it going until the players refuse to do any more. The Majestic trio of male voices got over big, while the comedy weekly films and the Keystone Mutual photo plays are among the best ever shown, even at the Temple.

At the opening of the piece Miss Florence Lawrence, the "movie" star, is seen entering a motion picture house, where "A Mysterious Mystery" is being shown. Strange as the arrangement may seem, Miss Lawrence appears a herself in the story—that is, she does not act the part of another person. There is a plenty of comedy and some tragedy before the story ends.

Another story of interest to be shown with "A Mysterious Mystery" is entitled "The Juvenile Reformer," which brings before Fort Wayne motion picture fans for the first time Little Matty Robert, "The Universal Boy." A dog figures strongly in the story, which depicts some interesting phases of city life.

Tomorrow's Program.

On Saturday the Orpheum will present "Our Enemy's Spy," a splendid three-reel military spectacle by the Bison company. William Clifford and Mafie Welcamp will play the leads.

Today and tomorrow the Orpheum orchestra will render two pleasing programs.

AT THE EMPRESS

The Empress theater has a very unique act as its headliner for the latter part of the week. In "The Dining Car Minstrels" a very entertaining quarter hour of songs and jokes is offered the Fort Wayne public. The act is set in a handsome Pullman dining car. Two women passengers, one man passenger and two colored waiters participate in the sketch. Howard and Fields, the best minstrel men of the day are the colored waiters, while the man passenger is the interloper.

Dixon, Flowers and Dixon, with Anna Burt, appear in "The Arkansas Fiddler." Miss Burt does some remarkable work on the tight wire while the others live the proceedings with inimitable comedy. Haydn, Burton and Haydn present "Original Oddities." Two pretty girl athletes, calling themselves "Black and White," have a very entertainng gymnastic act, while Tax Weatherford imitates all the inhabitants of a barnyard and some other things in a really remarkable manner. The Joe Fenton athletes are great. Excellent motion pictures complete the regular bill.

The Empress management has specially engaged for the latter part of the week Ralph D. Tompkins, a one-legged pedestrian, who is covering the whole of the United States on one foot.

THE SENTINEL'S LIVE SPORTS CRISP RELIABLE

BOSTON CLUB IS LOCAL FAVORITE

Fandom Wanted Series in the West But Can't Get It This Year.

If the selection of the team to finish at the head of the National League pennant race for 1914 had been left to the great numbers of fans in Fort Wayne who follow the schedule in the major leagues the choice would probably have fallen on Chicago or St. Louis, with the Cardinals given the edge, but with all of the clubs in the western division counted out, Boston is the favorite here.

If Chicago, St. Louis, Pittsburgh or Cincinnati had won the flag opportunity would have been afforded many lovers of the game to see part of the world series, and this is probably the principal reason for wanting the gonfalon hoisted in one of the western ball yards. With Boston and Philadelphia, or New York and Philadelphia, engaged in the struggle for the championship of the world there is little chance that Fort Wayne people will see any of the games.

Pulling for Boston is natural. When a team comes straight through from the bottom to be top of the percentage column the more fact that it has accomplished this feat draws the public's following. The Giants have won too many National League pennants and the public is so fond of them that it is a change.

Pickers and score books are drawing a lot of power during the present fight between the Braves and the Giants and the sentiment of the public can easily be gathered by listening to the drift of the talk.

Four years ago Boston would have been under the strain but just at this time it looks like New York is not equal to the strain that it is being asked to bear. When a manager of the pitching art of the nation's greatest pitcher is unable to win against Brooklyn with his badly laid-out staff there is ample evidence that the club is falling where the public least expects it.

Following Saturday Boston will tackle the Brooklyn aggregation, which has been riding the Giants chances for its championship. If the Braves can show they are equal to the task of defeating the Robins the odds will be in favor of the Boston contingent. Boston has the advantage of being at home, and this counts as a decided aid in any race. New York will play at Philadelphia and will meet some stubborn resistance there.

This season has nearly a month to run and the schedule will end on Oct. 7 in the east, and in the meantime there is opportunity for John McGraw to bolster up his wearying little line and show the great American public one of those strong wishes for which he has become famous.

ALL PLAYERS ARE ELIGIBLE.

Players Do Not Pick Ball Players from Membership of Club.

All football players are invited out to practice with the Friars as the club will not be selected from the membership of the organization but from the best available material presented to the coaches. There will be a meeting at the club rooms on Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock, at which players are asked to report. Practice will be started on Sunday morning at League park.

MARANVILLE HAS RECORD SIGHTED

Is in Position to Lead the World in Starting Double Plays.

(By Ernest J. Lanigan.)

Walter Maranville, diminutive shortstop of the Braves, leading both major leagues in starting double plays this season and probably will set a new record in this respect. The agile infielder up to last Saturday had made the pioneer move in thirty-six two-ply killings, which was eight more than any other National or American leaguer had set under way. The "rabbit's" nearest rival at tailing the initiative in duplex massacres is Owen Bush, of the Tigers. He has twenty-eight to his credit.

This is the third season statisticians have kept track of the number of double plays each major leaguer has started. The topnotch figure previously was 41, Arthur Fletcher, of the Giants, setting this number of run smothering stunts in motion in 1912. Last year the National League leader was Bob Fisher, of Brooklyn, with 25 to his credit. The American League's pace setters were Jack Barry, of Philadelphia, in 1913, with 34, and Owen Bush, of Detroit, and Ray Chapman, of Cleveland, in 1912 with 32. Maranville was undoubtedly snatched all previous records to infelicitous snailshells. Experts are of the opinion that he will be a Chalmers car winner this year as well.

Maranville has started about 35 per cent. of the double plays made by the Braves. Bush takes credit for setting in motion 32 per cent. of the Tiger's duplex killings, the records of the other shortstops in starting double plays being as follows:

National League.
Wagner, Pirates, 26 per cent.; Herzog, Reds, 27 per cent.; Corbiden, Cubs, 23 per cent.; Fletcher, Giants, 21 per cent.; Quinn, Superbas, 20 per cent.; Martin, Phillies, 12 per cent.; Butler, Cardinals, 11 per cent.

American League.
McBride, Senators, 24 per cent.; Barry, White Elephants, 23 per cent.; Scott, Red Sox, 25 per cent.; Peckinpaugh, Yankees, 18 per cent.; Vares, Browns, 17 per cent.; Weaver, White Sox, 16 per cent.; Chapman, Naps, 15 per cent.

The second baseman who has started the most double plays this year is Larry Doyle, of the Giants, in the National, and Perrill, front of the Browns, in the American. Each athlete has inaugurated 19. Miller Huggins, of the Cardinals, has started 18 and Johnny Evers, Maranville's side partner in the Braves, has started 17. Schmidt combination is destined to become as famous in manufacturing double plays as the celebrated line of "Pinker, Evers and Chase." The last year Johnny and Joe worked together they started seventy duplex killings, while this season Evers and Maranville, heretofore unacquainted with each other's style of play, have started 53, with the season not over yet by a long shot.

Braves—25.
Maranville, shortstop, 36; Evers, second base, 17; Dugan, second base, 2.

Naps—42.
Chapman, shortstop, 14; Lajoie, second base, 12; Olson, shortstop, 8; Finkler, second base, 5; Wambach, shortstop, 3; Blaisdell, shortstop, 2; Chapman, second base, 2; Turner, second base, 1; Wambach, second base, 1.

Red Sox—43.
Scott, shortstop, 20; Yarnes, second base, 18; Janvrin, second base, 5; Janvrin, shortstop, 1; Egan, second base, 1.

Giants—40.
Doyle, second base, 19; Fletcher, shortstop, 18; Grant, shortstop, 2; Grant, second base, 1.

Reds—38.
Herzog, shortstop, 20; Groh, second base, 18; Berghammer, second base, 2; Berghammer, shortstop, 2.

Tigers—39.

BASE BALL IS GETTING TO BE COSMOPOLITAN GAME IN THE UNITED STATES

(By Hugh S. Fullerton.)

Have you thought what a cosmopolitan game baseball is getting to be here in the United States? In going over Louie Hollenbeck's "dope" at Fort Wayne and studying this question, it was impossible to get complete data as to nationalities. In the major leagues there were found representatives of sixteen nations easily.

There were representatives of four races. A rapid search through the names revealed twenty-two Cubans and about thirty Indians, one Chinaman, one Japanese, one Hawaiian, and one Chinese. In organized baseball, more than twenty French-Canadians were discovered. The Cubans appear to be an even more active ingredient than the others. Take the major leagues, there was Maranville and there is Guzman, with Cincinnati.

Jack Bentley, one of the younger members of Clark Griffith's Washington pitching staff, has sprung into fame recently. After pitching sensational ball in five games he climaxed his performance by holding the slugging Athletics to one hit, and that made him Strunk late in the game.

ATHLETICS AT HIGH SCHOOL.

A basket ball team will be organized in the Fort Wayne high school this season and will schedule games with other high school squads in this vicinity.

Jack of talent has defeated the idea of a football team to represent the school but it is proposed to institute a series of inter-class games to be played on Saturday afternoon. The freshmen are the first to start, having already selected Harry Kendrick manager and Howard Banerle as captain.

TWENTY HITS TO REACH THE MARK

Lajoie Has a Chance to Get 3,000 Hits Before the Finish.

Larry Lajoie stands a good chance this season of making his three thousandth big league hit after all.

A few weeks back when Larry was warming the bench because of weak hitting he had made his nineteenth big league season, seemed mighty slim.

But when Johnson, Wood and Kirk failed as first basemen, and Larry was put on the bar to strengthen the right side of the infield, his batting eye returned and he is getting his hits regularly enough to make it appear he will make his three thousandth bludge this year.

One hit Larry made in four times up against Jim Scott. Sunday shot his season's total to eighty-eight blows and his grand total to 2,980.

Larry needs only twenty more hits to make his total 3,000. The Naps have twenty-seven more games to play and Larry is putting up such a good fielding and batting game at first that he seems destined to round out the balance of the season as a regular.

He has been swinging better than one hit per game of late, and he doesn't need to bat even that well to reach the 3,000 mark before the curtain is lowered in October.

Larry not only is getting his hits regularly again, but they are the kind for which he has long been famous—vicious drives and hits that make the third baseman duck for cover. The third baseman is not making any great effort to stop Larry's drives these days. They think too much of their lives.

Larry not only is getting his hits regularly, he's been up 210 times and made 85 hits.

You Can't Look Yourself in the Back But Your Friends Can Therefore you want a suit that won't be all drawn and wrinkled in a few weeks. That means a made-to-measure suit, a Heider suit.

Ready-made suits are PRESSED into shape—nice and smooth and without a wrinkle, at FIRST.

But wait 'till old man time gets in his licks. Only a suit that FITS, a suit that fits EVERYWHERE, can withstand the ravages of time. Ready-to-wear suits fit in three places and wrinkle elsewhere. HEIDER WEAR fits everywhere and wrinkles nowhere. Yet Heider Wear costs no more.

We guarantee our suits to hold their shape. This is what we offer: "Our old customers, as well as our new, are invited to return any coat made by us during the past season, in which the lining has not given satisfactory wear, or the fronts have not held their shape. We will be pleased to relime the garments and put in new fronts, or if this cannot be done, make a new coat free of charge."

If the only regret connected with your last suit was the high price you paid your tailor we can remedy that too. We give you the same kind of an all-satisfaction suit MINUS the high price. Suppose you give us your order this fall and give the ten dollars you save to friend wife. And her compliments on your appearance won't be due to the ten dollars, either.

GONE TO PERU HOSPITAL.

Engineer John Owens Injured in Gravel Pit Accident.

John Owens, the Wabash engineer who went down into the gravel pit at Wolcottville yesterday morning, with the clam shell derrick, which he was operating, was not permanently injured as feared. He is able to get about with crutches and hobbled to the train which took him to Peru last night. He will go in the hospital there to remain until he is able to resume work. Mr. Owens is a Fort Wayne man and before going to Wolcottville a few weeks ago to take charge of the clam shell derrick, he had charge of "Tide," the little switch engine in the Wabash shop yards in this city.

When the derrick went into the gravel pit yesterday, it caught Samuel Hartz, the night watchman, in such position that he was held beneath the water in the pit until he was drowned. Some time afterwards the body was released and was found floating in the water, but life was extinct. Hartz was an old resident of Wolcottville, having resided there over thirty years. He is survived by a widow, a daughter and two sons. This was the second time the steam derrick upset at Wolcottville. The first time no one was injured, however.

THUMB BROKEN AND BRUISED.

Machinist Charles W. Rodenbeck, of the Pennsylvania air brake department, sustained injuries this morning which will put him out of commission for a week or two. While he was standing at the side of a locomotive, with his left hand resting on a part of it, another workman pushed a piece of the machine ery through in such manner that it caught Mr. Rodenbeck's hand. The thumb was bruised and the bone fractured, a combination of injuries that is painful. The company's surgeon attended the unfortunate man.

WILL BEGIN OPERATIONS NEXT WEEK.

In another week galvanized roll roofing, ridge roll, troughs, valleys for roofs, spouting and kindred products will be made in Fort Wayne and placed on the markets at wholesale. The Schaab Roofing and Supply company of Monroeville, has leased the brick building at the corner of First and Harrison streets, and is equipping it with machinery. This will be accomplished early next week, when the plant will be put in operation. It will employ a small force in the start, but a few years will probably find several hundred men on the company's pay rolls. A. E. Schaab, a member of the firm, has already moved to the city and the other members will bring their families here in a few weeks.

IS GREAT ADVERTISING FEATURE.

An advertising feature and business getter the demonstrating automobile bill out on the road in the interest of the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump works has few equals. This car carries an oil tank and its appurtenances ready for use and the orders that are coming in from the route over which it passed indicate that it did the work well. The demonstrator, in charge of O. P. Canaday, one of the company's salesmen, started from Fulton, Ill., several weeks ago and followed the Lincoln highway to New York. It will probably be sent out in another direction when it returns to Fort Wayne.

SUPT. SULLIVAN IMPROVING.

Supt. J. C. Sullivan, of the Wabash, who has been off duty for two months on account of poor health, is greatly improved and will soon resume the duties of his office. For awhile he was at a sanitarium in Missouri, but he is now at his home in Peru, when not out on the road. Mr. Sullivan and his wife spent a day in Fort Wayne recently.

THEY POURED IN LIKE FLOODTIDE

of France from German Viewpoint.

London, Sept. 11.—7 a. m.—A correspondent of the Associated Press, who has been through Belgium, sends a long message from Rotterdam which was rather heavily censored throughout, but which appears to be an account of the invasion of Belgium obtained from a German point of view. Something was deleted at the beginning. The story follows:

"From Brussels the German army poured over southern Belgium like a floodtide, spreading like a fan in the directions of Beaumont, Maubeuge, Mons and Lille; joining in the south of Belgium with other army corps proceeding from Gembloux, Dinant and Givet, totalling 40 army corps or over a million and half of men.

"They went over the French border without serious resistance, the French scattering before them in great disorder, leaving behind much war material and all sorts of personal equipment, the retreat extending as far as the forest of Mortal in northern France.

"Several rearward actions occurred, resulting in considerable losses to both sides and bringing up the losses of the Germans in Belgium to about 30,000.

"Many Skirmishes Follow.

"From the Binche country southward in the direction of Maubeuge innumerable skirmishes occurred from August 23 to August 26. At Bray, just west of Binche, the French and English were repulsed by the Germans. The French then retreated to Bonne Esperance where, after another skirmish, they fell back through Merbes, Saint St. Marc and Merbes-le-Chateau, 10,000 English retreating to Jeumont at the same time.

"Engagements in the vicinity of Bruisier and Thuis constituted the most determined resistance offered by the allies. After two days' continuous artillery duel, which swept the surrounding country and demolished almost every structure, the entire right wing of the allies withdrew far to the southward. This gave the Germans an opportunity to sweep throughout Beaumont and approach Maubeuge from the south.

"Meanwhile the other corps had approached Maubeuge from the north, entirely investing the fortress. The English and French were, on Aug. 23, driven across the Sambre river where, on the bank of the river in a 30 miles front, fighting continued for three days.

"Germans Moved Rapidly.

"The correspondent first saw actual firing in the direction of Maubeuge on August 26, when white puffs of the German shrapnel clouded the horizon, but the forward movement of the German columns was so fast that when the correspondent reached the scene of the recent engagement the firing line had advanced fully ten miles southward. An extensive trench system, laid out by the French in front, marked the French retreat.

"The German wounded, in all cases, were immediately cared for and the dead buried as fast as the grimy continued on the march, while the French dead were left unburied, and the wounded, in some cases, remained on the battlefield for three days before receiving attention.

"Large numbers of French wounded were brought into Solre-sur-Sambre from the surrounding woods, whither many had dragged themselves to escape. Every conceivable kind of building, such as the chateau, school house and inn, was used as a hospital and here the wounded received prompt attention, the French wounded being accorded the same care as the German wounded.

"A large proportion of the French wounded died from lack of prompt attention and long exposure in the open without food or drink. No cases were observed where French medical men were left behind to take care of their wounded. The German medical corps was fully occupied with the treatment of its own wounded and was hastened onward by the forced marches of extraordinary speed and duration made by the Germans.

"French Dead Everywhere.

The French dead, in all sorts of convocations, were a common sight, and squares and cemeteries with unfinished graves, gave mute evidence of a hurried French retreat.

"Dove shaped German aeroplanes whirled constantly over the country and occasionally a few French aviators far enough aloft to be out of range of the special German guns designed for the destruction of air craft.

"I saw a duel between French and German machines, both of which were disabled in a hard battle. After careening downward in giant circles the two machines plunged to the earth almost side by side and were completely shattered, while the aviators were instantly killed. While aloft both the pilots and their assistants kept up a lively exchange of revolver shots, which at first were ineffectual and then simultaneously, judging by the disturbed equilibrium of the machines, they reached their marks. After vain effort by the aviators to regain control, both machines fell to the earth like meteors."

When the boy starts to school he has an idea that the world is against him; during vacation he has liberty, freedom and fun, but when he enrolls for the fall term and the teacher lays out certain studies and instructs in discipline he has an idea that the soldier in the world war has more liberty and freedom than he. This is the time to convince him that education is the forerunner of all success; among the things necessary for the school boy is that he be well dressed. In consideration of this, we are offering for this week, a Balmain coat with hat to match (guaranteed water proof) at the unusual price for both $2.98

Blankets
A good many people make the mistake of waiting for cold weather before buying in their supply of blankets and comforts, but a look at our stock suggests that "the early bird catches the worm." Among the bargains for Saturday are special tan and grey blankets at 98c

Leverton-Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thompson, of 1433 Swinney avenue, announced the marriage of their daughter, Helen, to Mr. Donald Leverton, a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Leverton, which took place in Coldwater, Mich., on August 12. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Collins, of the Presbyterian church, and was witnessed by two friends, William R. Lucders, of Coldwater, and August Eling, of Cleveland. The young people had been engaged for some months, but their parents had objected to a marriage at present owing to the youth of both bride and groom. The Thompson family were staying at Coldwater lake at the time and it was agreed to keep the matter of the marriage quiet for a little while. Mr. Leverton is a book-keeper.

Men's Club Entertained.

The members of the Zinch club were entertained last evening by W. F. Ryan, of 3218 South Highland avenue. Stockbeck, Peter Olfenloch, Charles Herr, Michael Kinder, Joseph Zurbuch, Joseph Kleinrichert, John SDebor and Charles Dreibelbiss. Cut flowers were the decorations.

BOARD OF WORKS USING THE PROD

Street Car Company and Contractors Urged to Get Up Some Speed.

Given anxiety because of poor progress being made on public work, Mayor Hoesy and Messrs. Singrey, Kelly and Hileman, of the board of works on Friday afternoon inaugurated a prodding policy and will keep it in force as long as may be.

The first poke of the prod was at the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company for the belated condition of its track work on Calhoun street, from Wallace street to Creighton avenue. When the company got permission to construct a temporary track along the east side of Calhoun street so that street car service might not be interfered with, it promised to have the new double tracks completed in forty-two days. That period has expired and the track work is far from complete. Residents and business men along that part of Calhoun street are complaining of the blockade created by the temporary track.

The Moellering Construction company is not going rapidly enough with its pavement on Maumee avenue and grave interference with other paving projects in the east end is feared, and that company got the prod.

Another jab was given the Wabash Railroad company for the snail's pace with which its completion of its bridge at the Harrison street subway is going forward. The board wants to get the entire job completed before cold weather and the outlook is discouraging.

FIND THE COST TOO GREAT.

Property Owners Remonstrate and Koch Street Opening is Killed.

Because thirty-nine property owners—among them several who had in the first place petitioned for the improvement—remonstrated against the opening of Koch street, from the alley north of Hoffman to Luffman, the board of works Thursday evening rescinded all action and the project for the present is dead. It was found that the expense of making the extension of the street would probably exceed the benefits expected. The board confirmed the resolution for the opening of Summit street from its eastern terminus to Maumee avenue. The property owners affected met with Councilman-at-Large Jacob Hartman, who lives in the Eighth ward, and Councilman A. H. Keller, who represent that ward in the council, and expressed a strong desire to have the street extension made. The board ordered the engineering department to prepare plans for opening an alley between Alexander and Abbott streets, Eckart to Franklin, and plans for widening Alexander street to fifty feet from Eckart to Pontiac.

RETAINING WALL A HARD JOB.

Quicksands and Rain Embarrass Tapp Construction Company.

Construction of the big concrete retaining wall between Spy Run avenue and the St. Joe river from the State street bridge to the Centlivre brewery is proving a task of greater difficulty than had been anticipated. Besides considerable embarrassment from rains the Tapp Construction company, contractor for the work, has encountered many deposits of quicksand below the bed of the stream and these have greatly hindered work. It was the hope of the board of works and the county commissioners, who jointly let contracts for the improvement, that the wall would be up early enough to afford protection to the street and approaches to the State street bridge before the advent of heavy fall rains, but there is a discouraging prospect as to this. The work is going to require much more time for completion than had been figured on. The water and sand get into the coffer dams and impose many delays on progress.

WILL FLUSH A NEW SEWER.

Board Will Let Daylight Through Wayne Heights Drain.

Unless the remonstrants against acceptance of the work have more to show than they have exhibited the board of works will on next Thursday evening confirm the final assessment rolls for the Wayne Heights sewer system and formally accept the work from the Moellering Construction company. After an extended inspection, completed Thursday afternoon, the board became thoroughly convinced that the work is all right and as good as could be expected under conditions so difficult. The board will have a square of one 12-inch sewer, through which daylight could not be seen, flushed with a fire hose. Nothing but mud is believed to be obstructing it. The Moellering company will replace six bricks that had fallen from the arch of the main sewer where a lateral connection had been made. The board believes the remonstrants have been purposely misled as to conditions in the new sewers.

MORE TYPHOID FEVER.

Two cases of typhoid fever were reported to the health office Thursday. One of them was brought in to the city for treatment and the other is resident. They are:

Lawrence Rump, aged 12 years, 2818 Indiana avenue.

Mrs. Edward Burgess, Payne, Ohio, at Lutheran hospital.

EN ROUTE TO WAR ZONE.

Girls Expect to Play Part in German-Jap Controversy.

Cleveland, Sept. 10.—En route to China are two girls with a big motor car. They intend to play a big part in the hostilities on Chinese soil, between the Japanese and the Germans.

One is twenty, noble faced and alert. If China was a kingdom ruled by monarchs she would be Princess Hi Jung. As it is she is just Hi Jung. The other is an American princess, of German and Dutch royal descent. Her name is Miss Lillian von Oyen.

By virtue of being the wealthiest man in a village near Kiao-Chau, Hi Jung's father is the mayor. She is the idol of the village.

"Germans have been very, very fine and taught us many things," Hi Jung told Hi Fleming of the F. B. Stearns company, of this city. "I like little German girls and if war comes, I will put them in my motor car and flee."

Miss von Oyen is a former schoolmate of Hi Jung, and when it appeared as if war would result in the far east, she sailed with her former friend and intends to nurse the German soldiers.

Boats equipped with gasoline engines are used a great deal in Paraguay for carrying fruit down the river.

Washington, Sept. 9.—When the American Bar association meets next month in Washington it will entertain many noted lawyers, among them Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, chief justice of Canada, an authority on international law.

William H. Taft is the association president, and the convention promises to be one of the most important recently held by the organization.

CRUEL MOTHER HEAVILY FINED

Mrs. Benevol Lebaratto is Proved Guilty of Beating Little Son.

Mrs. Benevol Lebaratto, 357 Melita street, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Kerr in the city court Friday morning on a charge of assault and battery. Her little son, 7 years old, was the victim of the assault and he is reported by neighbors and men who work in the vicinity as having been subjected to a long and persistent course of cruelty at the hands of his mother. Mrs. Lebaratto, her husband, a roomer at the house and the little boy himself all denied in court that the lad was mistreated or that more was done than to try to frighten him. That the boy had been beaten for his role as witness and put under duress of fear was evident and was frankly declared by Judge Kerr. The boy was seen Thursday morning to go running from home covered with blood and bleeding at the nose. He was taken care of at a nearby grocery, where Officer James Smith examined him and found him much bruised about the body. One witness, who works near the Lebaratto home, said he had seen the woman beat the child with a large stone. Judge Kerr warned the parents that if the child was further abused he would deal with utmost severity by them. The affidavit was filed by A. E. Mohler, secretary of the Associated Charities, who acted for Humane Officer Louis Schlundt, who is ill.

Time to Cool Off.

Roy Hayes got mixed up in the theft of a motorcycle in Fort Wayne several months ago, but got out of the difficulty with some ease, owing to the leniency of the court and the intercessions of his parents, and he went back home to Garrett. Evidently he came to consider that Fort Wayne, its police and its courts were just too easy for anything. Roy came into the city Thursday and notified the police he was looking for his half-sister, who was aged 16 and had hiked from home. Chief Lenz told the young man to let his father take the matter up with the marshal of Garrett in the customary way. An investigation disclosed that the young lady is aged 18, is no relative whatever of Hayes and wanted him to keep away from her. Hayes was counseled to get out of town. Instead he imbibed a scotch and at length got arrested. Judge Kerr fined him $5 and costs and he went to jail. The girl stated at the Fitzgerald employment agency, whither Hayes went to locate her, that she had formerly been employed at the Hayes home in Garrett and had left because of the young man's objectionable attention to her.

Other City Court Cases.

The case of Harry Fehling, charged with violating the speed laws, was continued until Saturday morning. Fred Bislew got drunk and showed poor consideration for his employer, who tried to do him a good turn, and was arrested. His employer was still on the job and got him off with a lecture in the city court. Mike Harkensider was slated for drunkenness, but was continued until Saturday, when an assault and battery charge may be preferred.

Farewell Sunday, Robison Park.

HEAD SEVERED BY TRAIN.

Man Falls on Track, is Stunned, Then Killed.

Tonawanda, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The body of John Glanz, 38 years old, of 375 Young street, an employe of the Live Ice and Coal company, was found lying on the Erie railroad tracks a short distance from his home.

It is believed that a north-bound Erie freight train, which passed along shortly after midnight, caused Glanz's death. The police and relatives of the dead man are inclined to believe that Glanz fell on the tracks and was rendered unconscious, lying there until the train came along and killed him.

Glanz left his home early in the evening to do some shopping. He returned home with George Earl and Charles Daniels as far as the corner of Elm and Young streets. That was the last seen of him alive.

Marvelous completeness in the Silk section

The decree of fashion has made Roman Stripe Silks the most demanded fabric of the day; so great is the demand that the manufacturers cannot supply one-tenth of the orders. Anticipating this condition we bought early a large selection—the largest ever shown in the state. They come in taffetas, bengalines, moire and messalines and are sold at popular prices.

The silk section is offering this week an assortment of satin solid, 40 inches wide; a highly finished texture that usually sells for $2.00 and up. It comes in browns, meringue, navy, light blue and wisteria—our price, per yard, is only $1.

This section also directs your attention to the crepe de chine and crepe meteoers they are showing, in every conceivable shade, at $2.00 to $3.50.

What war will do to the price of Velvets will be apparent one month hence. We advise shopping now.

USE BEDSPRING AS AUGER.

Jailbirds File Through Prison Wall With Quicker Instrument.

Newcastle, Wyo., Sept. 11.—John Clonney, James Jenkins and George Martin, prisoners in the county jail here, charged with numerous thefts, effected their escape by digging through a wall with a bedspring.

The escape was discovered half an hour after the men got away.

A bloodhound was placed on the trail, which it followed for two miles into dense timber. The trail was then lost and could not again be picked up. The fugitives still are at large.

The bedspring was sharpened at one end and used as an auger. A full coil was filed away before the jailbirds succeeded in cutting a hole in the jail sufficiently large to permit the passage of a man.

Notice to the Public!

On account of the large increase in our baking business and lack of room, I have concluded to discontinue the ice cream and soda water business. It is with a large measure of regret that I make this announcement. There has been no greater pleasure connected with my business career than to have a group of happy children surround our tables and see their faces brighten in the delight of sipping a cool soda or eating a dish of pure ice cream and nibbling at some dainty cakes; also will I miss the fascinating work of preparing for receptions, especially for children's parties, the various forms of moulded creams ranging from all kinds of animals and fruits to an Easter lily.

I want to take this opportunity to thank my many friends for the patronage extended us in this line of business and trusting for continued support, for by giving our undivided attention to the art of baking and with the assistance of the "Geller Boys" that have grown up with our business and are a part of it, we will be better able than ever to uphold our banner and prove that "GELLER'S GOODS ARE GOOD."

Yours very truly,

W. F. GELLER.

Here's Proof of Prosperity

Business in the United States is sound. America faces her greatest commercial opportunity.

This country is on the eve of an awakening—due to a wholesome state of affairs at home and to a condition abroad that will establish our trade supremacy beyond question.

The above statements represent a summary of the replies received by the Taylor-Critchfield Company, of Chicago, to telegrams addressed to some of the leading business men of the United States.

Their answers ring with optimism—hope—assurance—confidence.

Business must be good. Proof of prosperity is found in the following messages:

E. Mapes, Secretary,
Cream of Wheat Company,
Minneapolis, Minnesota.

"I see no reason why, if business is not hampered for political reasons, the United States should not see great commercial prosperity during the continuance of the European war. This, however, is a time when the utmost latitude should be allowed by the government to all legitimate business interests. Upon that, coupled with wise action toward the establishment of mercantile marine and adequate banking facilities, I think the question depends entirely. I think this is the greatest chance for the American manufacturer and businessman that will probably come in several lifetimes, and think the business man of the United States can be safely trusted to take advantage of it if not hampered too much by unreasonable government restrictions. Of course there will come a reaction after the war, and how much the same will affect the United States depends entirely upon how firmly we have established our footing during the continuance of the war period."

Windsor T. White, President,
The White Company,
Cleveland, Ohio.

"Business with the White Company has steadily improved since the scare following the first announcement of war abroad. I believe general business will continue fair in this country and will boom if our surplus farm products and manufactures can be shipped to other countries."

United Cigar Mfrs. Co.,
New York City.

"In the main the present disturbances in American business are due to financial and merchandising readjustments made necessary by the European upset. This readjusting process is already well under way. In the meantime it would be a mistake to fear that the real fundamentals of American business are endangered. Even the cotton losses are already offset by grain increases. American business will emerge stronger from the present crisis than ever before, while other countries now at war will emerge badly weakened. Speaking for ourselves, we are following our normal progressive policy."

The Bartholomew Company,
Peoria, Illinois.

"Our trade this year will exceed that of last year and previous years. The war has had no effect on the sale of our automobiles, and with the increased prices that farmers will receive for their products we look for still larger business in all rural communities in the Central West."

A. J. Lavuer, Gen. Mgr.,
Burroughs Adding Machine Co.,
Detroit, Michigan.

"General conditions in America do not warrant the slump in business which is being felt all over the country. The uneasiness created by the sudden changes made necessary on account of European disturbances is responsible for the lack of business activity. However, I believe that as soon as the business public decides as to the best way to proceed under existing conditions business will resume its normal attitude and should show a considerable increase."

Woolson Spice Co.,
Toledo, Ohio.

"Our business is decidedly above normal. Outlook for fall and winter very favorable. We are taking advantage of present opportunity to extend our interests in many sections of the country."

C. M. Skiles, President,
Ohio Seamless Tube Co.,
Shelby, Ohio.

"My opinion is that this country was never on a more sound financial basis. If we will all comply with the President's message to the people, that is to be calm, cool, level-headed, and not 'rock the boat,' this country will continue to dominate the world."

Studebaker Corporation,
South Bend, Indiana.

"Our advertisement, 'Optimism and Opportunity,' expresses our views. We believe the opportunities for business heretofore supplied by Europe are now open to American manufacturers and merchants, and they should unite vigorously in taking advantage of the situation. Fundamental conditions of the United States are absolutely sound."

E. Rosenbaum, President,
Southern Plow Company,
Dallas, Texas.

"The larger the army the greater the commissary needs. Texas, the world's commissary, stands ready to feed the hungry and clothe the naked with an unusually large feed crop made and a big cotton crop maturing. We should quickly recover from crop maturing. The temporary depression caused by the closing of the temporary cotton markets and eventually supply European cotton markets and eventually supply the world with finished cloth instead of raw cotton, to our lasting benefit."

Samuel Moody, Passenger Traffic Manager,
Pennsylvania Lines,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

"Business conditions and prospects good. The European war will, in my judgment, bring out the Yankee genius to produce the wants of home manufacturers so that this nation will not be dependent upon the foreigner in the future as it has been in the past."

C. W. Nash, Gen. Mgr.,
Buick Motor Co.,
Flint, Michigan.

"War or no war, there will be 40,000 Buick automobiles built in the 1915 season. We are going to manufacture 40,000 cars because we expect to dispose of that number and we have every assurance that we will. The present demand for Buick cars in this country has never been equalled and the cars we had planned to ship abroad will be sold in this country. The fact that no foreign-made cars are likely to be shipped into this country because of the war will have a balancing effect on the automobile situation, and in a measure affect the foreign shipments heretofore made by American automobile concerns."

Northwestern Knitting Company,
Minneapolis, Minnesota.

"Menswear sales this year are larger than last year. We expect a greatly increased demand this fall and winter. We deplore European conditions, but believe they indicate long continued prosperity in the United States. We are enlarging our plant and employing additional help. These merchants will be wise who anticipate as far as possible the increased business that is certain to come as a result of good prices for farm products and good wages in industry."

Silas McClure, Secy.,
Malleable Iron Range Co.,
Beaver Dam, Wisconsin.

"The volume of our orders and the recent improvements in collections, with only a limited movement of crops up to this time, confirm our opinion that trade conditions are sound throughout the agricultural districts of the whole United States."

Detroit Engine Works,
Detroit, Michigan.

"The best proof of our belief in trade conditions is that our advertising campaign is larger than ever before. We believe present conditions, while deplorable, will increase in a very short time the already prosperous conditions of the United States. The crops of this country alone and prosperous condition of the farmer make anything else impossible."

B. A. Fuller, Pres.,
Hercules Mfg. Co.,
Centerville, Iowa.

"Our neutrality, our record-breaking crops, and the immense European demand for our surplus crops are absolute proof that we are on the verge of the greatest wave of prosperity in the history of our country. The treasury department decision to accept cotton and tobacco warehouse receipts as a basis for emergency currency means the South will get its share of this great prosperity at once, the same as every other section."

Jas. A. Craig, General Manager,
Janesville Machine Co.,
Janesville, Wisconsin.

"With the abundant harvest we have this year and the positive assurance of high prices for all agricultural products, and being at peace with all nations of the world, we can't help but prosper."

J. L. Hamilton, President,
Alabastine Company,
Grand Rapids, Michigan.

"Europe's calamity is America's opportunity. We are due to witness, and can be instrumental in securing, the greatest era of prosperity known in this country's history. Wise legislation, liberal financing, universal optimism, avoidance of strikes and lockouts, more fuel under the boiler, more pressure on the steam gauge, more money in advertising, and we will arrive."

Detroit Steel Products Co.,
Detroit, Michigan.

"The fact that the business community has mobilized forces and is on guard, associated with strong fundamental conditions, should insure a safe future. The most serious handicap is the attitude of Congress towards successful business. That has been sufficient to retard prosperity. If continued during the strain caused by war we may face hard times."

W. N. Brown,
Collins Plow Company,
Quincy, Illinois.

"American trade conditions are sound, but have been sluggish for a year. A strong revival which had set in has been temporarily checked by European war. We look for a heavily increased demand from foreign countries, to be followed by enormous demand for all other commodities from all countries and at home."

Hugh Chalmers, President,
Chalmers Motor Car Co.,
Detroit, Michigan.

"I believe the basic conditions in this country are extremely good, and I believe that after the people become accustomed to the war headlines in the papers and settle down that business conditions in this country are going to be of great benefit to us and in my opinion it will not affect our business seriously after the next thirty days. A great catastrophe, such as this war is, cannot help but have a bad mental effect upon our people temporarily, but this will wear away and then we will realize how fortunate we are to be Americans at this time and what a great opportunity for the world's trade is open to us."

J. Walter Earle, President,
Remington Typewriter Co.,
New York City.

"Our sales are a barometer of trade. Indications point to an increasing volume of business. America, as the one great industrial nation free from the ravages and horrors of war, should so shape her activities that she may in increasing proportion supply the needs of those beyond her shores as well as her own people."

James Mfg. Co.,
Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin.

"In our opinion the war not only opens great new fields for business abroad, but also large markets at home for goods heretofore imported. Our information shows enormous crops practically throughout the United States, with prices high and money conditions sound. Farmers and business based on agriculture, must prosper. The gates of opportunity stand wide open to America's business. Our own sales were never better. July and August were both record breakers. Collections are normal. The war should increase our sales on dairy barn equipment in the United States, because our customers, which include farmers and city business and professional men, will have more money to spend."

Stark Bros. Nurseries & Orchards Co.,
Louisiana, Missouri.

"Business conditions with us are highly satisfactory. Our sales at this date show an increase of 38 per cent over this same date last year. Prospects for fall business are the best in years."

M. W. Savage, President,
International Stock Food Company,
Minneapolis, Minnesota.

"Absolute and permanent commercial supremacy of the world is the present exceptional opportunity of the United States, and this requires only good judgment and cool headness and such a practical, optimistic outlook as is fully justified by big crops and extraordinary markets and large increase in Farm Product Prices and in the strength and energy of our people. Fair and Square Commercial War will finally subdue man's animal tendency to kill his fellowman and can make the means of bringing about Universal Peace. The United States has the brains and the money and the undaunted ambition to lead the World in vast business enterprises and will quickly dominate the markets of all nations of the earth and help establish permanent peace. Farmers form the true basis of our prosperity and the present condition of the farmer, both as to home life and financial condition, is overwhelming and solidly optimistic. War among nations as well as war on business must necessarily cause tremendous unrest and loss. Mutual Fairness between business and government and a strong pull together and the greatest commercial victory in all history will be ours."

George A. Hornel, President,
George A. Hornel & Co.,
Austin, Minnesota.

"In Minnesota and the northwest crops are good and we understand the banks are able to furnish money for the movement of grain, live stock and legitimate business enterprise. Collections good. Labor is scarce and well employed at good wages. We see no immediate cause for alarm."

James V. Rohan, President,
Belle City Incubator Company,
Racine, Wisconsin.

"The effects of the war in my opinion should tend to improve rather than to retard the American trade conditions within the United States and Canada, though the export trade may be affected for a time."

Bissell Carpet Sweeper Co.,
Grand Rapids, Michigan.

"We consider the outlook for fall and holiday business very good and beyond this believe this country is approaching an era of prosperity greater than any in all its era."

Hayes Pump and Planter Co.,
Galva, Illinois.

"Bigger crops than ever before, better prices and the certainty for increased acreage of all cereal crops will give the greatest buying impulse this country has ever known. Surely the coming year looks like big business."

Frank D. Blake, Adv. Manager,
Deere & Co.,
Moline, Illinois.

"Agriculture is the basis of our wealth. With the greatest number of bushels of foodstuffs in our history and the best prices in years, our people will save money, materials and wealth. There is a chance for greater expansion. Our factory products will be in demand, our people profitably employed. We are a great agricultural people, at peace with the whole world."

E. C. Simmons,
Simmons Hardware Company,
St. Louis, Missouri.

"General business is absolutely sound and healthy. There need be no fear or apprehension about it. Our August business will I think show the largest sales of any August for fifty years, with promise of better business later."

John Clay, Pres.,
Clay, Robinson & Co.,
Chicago.

"The livestock business is not suffering from the effects of the war. It is likely to be benefited, as a continuance of the fighting will tend to increase the demand for our products. We are decidedly short of cattle and sheep, with a fair supply of hogs, the latter depending automatically on the corn crop. We are dealing in a product needed every day and the country cannot afford to have the streams of production and consumption seriously interfered with. In my judgment we are at the beginning of a long war which will only end by exhaustion. The enormous resources of the conflicting parties point this way. The United States is certainly at the gate of opportunity and by honest and upright dealing, payment of her just debts, even although other nations are tardy, she will gain immense benefits in credit and trade by a wise and liberal policy."

C. A. Patterson, Pres.,
Peoria Drill & Seeder Company,
Peoria, Illinois.

"Close attention to business and the new necessity caused by the existing conditions abroad will keep farm and factory busy. Opportunity has been unexpectedly forced upon the inventive minds of American business men and the splendid results of their accomplishment will be a surprise to other nations and an appreciable financial benefit to the United States."

L. Klima, General Manager,
King Ventilator Co.,
Owatonna, Minnesota.

"General outlook for business is very good. The increase in price on raw materials is more than offset by the value of farm products. Business generally will be what business men make it. We can keep the public from buying by talking war. We will make business by talking peace."

A. L. Haecker,
Woods Brothers Silo & Mfg. Co.,
Lincoln, Nebraska.

"The business outlook for the United States was never better. Our crops are good—our people are at work and we are mindful of our opportunity. There is a unity of sentiment for peace and thrift among us all. This will ripen into a golden period of prosperity."

W. C. Davis, Secretary,
Davis Milk Machinery Co.,
North Chicago, Illinois.

"We have been extremely busy and business has been very good with us. Our volume has run over 80 per cent in gain over last year's business for the same period and indications are that business will be fairly good throughout the year."

R. W. Neff, President,
The Remmers Soap Company,
Cincinnati, Ohio.

"No condition exists that does not indicate that we Americans should have every confidence in the present and future. Bumper crops—banks sound with plenty of money—no overproduction. Although the war may affect a few, it will build up so many others that the few become negligible."

The E. C. Brown Company,
Rochester, N. Y.

"Though our past fiscal year just closing has been the best in our history, many signs point to improvement in 1915. While collections have been tardy, the excellent crop and market conditions already show improvement and a boom seems started."

Beechnut Packing Company, Canaoharie, New York.

"We look confidently to the future, expecting supply and demand to regulate prices as they always have in the past. We are doing our best from day to day to promote our business. We feel that conditions are good; that the best times we have ever had are coming soon."

John Wanamaker,
Philadelphia, Pa.

"Now is certainly a most excellent time for the American people to find out how much they can do for themselves of the things they have been depending upon foreign workmen to do. We not only can, but must, find out now whether or not this nation can stand firm on its own two hundred million feet and make its own inventions to meet its own necessities and provide its own luxuries, and at the same time feed and clothe a great part of the rest of the world. We have the youth, energy, capital, will, the men and women to do these things. We can do everything that we are called upon to do, but deliver the goods, and we can't deliver the goods because we have no merchant marine. Let us get the ships first of all. It will be no trouble to put the crews and cargoes aboard them. We must start ploughing the seed for an early harvest."

B. L. Hupp, Sec.,
Loose-Wiles Biscuit Co.,
Kansas City, Missouri.

"We look for favorable business conditions in this country during the war period, since European manufacturers are hampered in doing business here—especially in agricultural sections and in those manufacturing districts, a demand for whose products is directly created by the war. We anticipate a very satisfactory business this fall."

Fred Warner, Sales Manager,
Oakland Motor Car Co.,
Pontiac, Michigan.

"Our connections throughout the entire United States report constantly improving business conditions. The only complaints are from the Cotton states, and the feeling there is that their condition will be righted very soon. War should in most lines very materially increase our volume of business and prestige in world markets. We believe the next twelve months will show great prosperity."

L. K. Wynn, President,
Black Silk Stove Polish Works,
Sterling, Illinois.

"American business and the new banking system are concrete. There is no cause for alarm. The people are the architects of the situation. If there is any danger, it is in the minds of the people who might become prickly. Ignore discussion—keep everybody busy."

H. C. Phelps, President,
Ohio Carriage Mfg. Co.,
Columbus, Ohio.

"Our great crops, with good prices assured, backed by our safe and sound banks, make an irresistible force. What others destroy we can and will replace. There is nothing wrong with Ohio or the United States. We can't be stopped."

O. E. Sovereign, President,
North American Construction Company,
Ray City, Michigan.

"If we can keep our hat out of the ring we will have the greatest period of prosperity in history. Our own immediate business future looks exceptionally bright. Our Aladdin mills have been running full force twenty hours a day for five months. Orders booked now necessitate doubling our capacity for 1915."

Alfred Hanchett, Adv. Mgr.,
F. A. Patrick & Co.,
Duluth, Minnesota.

"The European situation will bring American commercial independence and pre-eminence. It will be a strong stimulus to American manufacturers, a powerful promoter of foreign trade. Our administration, with keen business foresight, should make opportunities out of present conditions."

W. R. Wooden, Gen. Mgr.,
Nichols & Shepard Co.,
Battle Creek, Michigan.

"The conservative lines followed by business generally for the last two or three years make present conditions sound. Same advantage of present opportunities insures a period of commercial prosperity."

A. O. Silver, Treas.,
W. K. Mullins Company,
Salem, Ohio.

"Business is perfectly healthy but taking a vacation, pending further developments of the European war and exportation of crops. An American merchant marine now would open the doors of opportunity, unused by American manufacturers."

O. C. Hansen Mfg. Co.,
Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

"American inventiveness, ingenuity and push will cope successfully and rapidly with any detrimental conditions the war between European nations may have precipitated in this country, and the new opportunities now at hand will result in a new pre-eminence for this country never before realized."

The sentiments above are the same, or similar, to those expressed to us fully in our interviews with prominent advertising manufacturers. The universal opinion among well informed men of affairs is that the shock of unexpectedness and uncertainty has passed, the period of preparation for undoubted prosperity is well under way, and Advertising is more necessary now than ever before. New outlook of opportunity, substantial credits, big crops, revised banking facilities which command unquestioned confidence and a shoulder-to-shoulder optimistic meeting, the situation make the getting of a share in the prosperity merely a matter of the individual of going after it.

Advertising will help flourish.

LAY DOWN YOUR ARMS!

READ THIS FIRST.

The late Baroness Bertha Von Suttner stirred the civilized world with her book, "Lay Down Your Arms." At the request of the American Peace society the book has been translated into English. It is one of the most graphic and impressive descriptive works on the horrors of modern warfare ever written. It tells the "woman's side" of conflict, and the authoress actually experienced most of the stirring events she describes.

By Baroness Bertha Von Suttner, (Famous Austrian Novelist and Peace Advocate and in 1906 Winner of the Nobel Peace Prize.)

CHAPTER I.

At seventeen I was a thoroughly overwrought creature. This perhaps I should no longer be aware of today, if it were not that my diaries have been preserved. But in them the enthusiasms long since fled, the thoughts which have never been thought again, the feelings never again felt have immortalized themselves, and thus I can judge at this present time what excited notions had stuck in my silly, pretty head. Even this prettiness to which my glass has now little left to say, is revealed to me by the portraits of long ago.

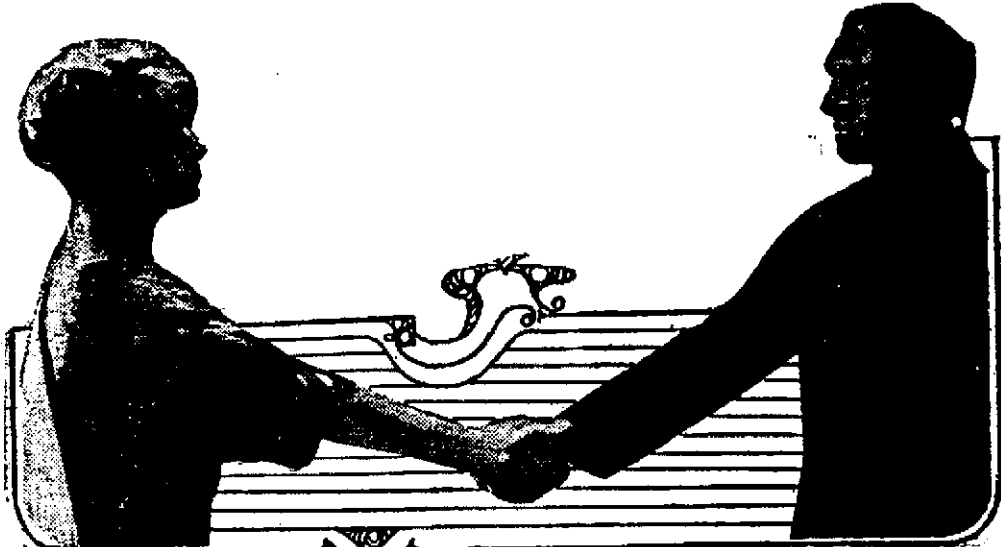

I can figure to myself what an envied person the Countess Martha Althaus—youthful, thought beautiful and surrounded by all kinds of luxury—must have been. These remarkable diaries, however, bound in their red covers, point more to melancholy than to joy in life.

I recollect that the highest conception of human greatness seemed to me to be embodied in warlike heroism.

For scholars, poets, explorers, I had, indeed, a sort of respect, but only the winners of battles inspired me with real admiration. These were, indeed, the chief pillars of history, the rulers of the fate of countries; these were in importance and in elevation near to the divinity, as elevated above all other folk as the peaks of the Alps and Himalayas above the turf and flowers of the valley.

From all which I need not conclude that I possessed a heroic nature. The fact was simply that I was capable of enthusiasm and impassioned, and so I was, of course, passionately enthusiastic for that which was most highly accounted of by my school books and my ontourage.

My father was a general in the Austrian army, and had fought at Custozza under "Father Radetzky," whom he venerated to superstition. What eternal campaigning stories had I to listen to! Dear papa was so proud of his warlike experiences, and spoke with such satisfaction of the campaigns in which he had fought, that I felt an involuntary pity for every man who possessed no such reminiscences.

"HAVE YOU THE COTILLION FREE, COUNTESS?"

But what a drawback for the female sex to be excluded from this most magnificent display of the manly feeling of honor and duty. If anything came to my ears about the efforts of women after equality—and of this in my youth but little was heard, and then usually in a tone of contempt and condemnation—I conceived the wish for emancipation. "She carried on war with this woman also should have the right to carry arms and take the field."

Ah, how beautiful it was to read in history about a Semiramis or a Catherine II. "She carried on war with that or that neighboring state—she conquered this or that country!"

I was not like so many of my companions in rank educated in a convent, but under the direction of governesses and masters in my father's house. My mother I lost early. Our aunt, an old caucassian, filled the place of a mother to us children—for there were three younger children. We spent the winter months in Vienna, the summer on a family estate in lower Austria.

I can remember that I gave my governess and masters much satisfaction, for I was an industrious and ambitious scholar, gifted with an accurate memory. When I could not, as I have remarked, satisfy my ambition by winning battles like a heroine, I contented myself with passing judgment on them in my lessons, and extorting admiration by my zeal for learning.

On March 10, 1857, I celebrated my seventeenth birthday. "Seventeen already!" runs the entry of that date in my diary.

In the following carnival I was to be "brought out." This prospect delighted me, but not to such an extraordinary degree as is usually the case with young girls.

This summer my aunt was ordered to take a course of the waters at Marienbad. She was pleased to take me with her. Though my official introduction into the so-called "world" was not to take place till the following winter, I was yet allowed to take part in some little dances at the Kurhaus, with an idea also of exercising me in dancing and conversation, so that I might not be altogether shy and awkward in entering on my first carnival season.

But what happened at the first party I visited? A serious, vital love affair. It was, of course, a lieutenant of hussars. The civilians in the hall appeared to me like cockshafers to butterflies compared to the soldiers. And of the wearers of uniforms present the hussars were every way the most splendid; and, finally, of all the hussars Count Arno Dotzky was the most dazzling.

Over six feet high, with black, curly hair, twisted mustache, glittering white teeth, dark eyes, with such a penetrating and tender expression—in fine, at his question, "Have you the cotillion free, countess?" I felt that there might be other triumphs as exciting as the banner-waving of the Maid of Orleans, or the scepter-waving of the great Catherine. And he at the age of twenty-two felt something similar as he flew around the room in the waltz with the prettiest girl in the hall (for one may say so thirty years afterward)—at any rate, he was probably thinking, "To possess thee, thou sweet creature, would outweigh a field marshal's baton."

"Why, Martha, Martha!" remonstrated my aunt, as I sank breathless on the seat at her side, covering her head-dress with the floating muslins of my robe. "Oh, I beg your pardon, auntie," said I, and sat more upright. "I could not help it."

"I was not finding fault with you for that. My blame was for your behavior with that hussar. You ought not to cling so in dancing, and who would ever look so close into a gentleman's eyes!" I blushed deep. Had I committed some unadvised offense, and might the incomparable have conceived a bad idea of me!

I was relieved of this anxious doubt before the ball was over, for in the course of the supper wait the incomparable whispered to me: "Listen to me. I can not help it—you must know it even today—I love you."

This sounded a little more sweet than Joan's famous "voicen." However, while the dance was going on I could not give him any reply. He must have seen this, for he came to a stop. We were standing in an empty corner of the room, and could continue the conversation without being overheard.

"Speak, countess; what have I to hope?"

"I do not understand you," was my insincere reply.

"Perhaps you do not believe in love at first sight? I myself held it a fable till now, but today I have experienced the truth of it."

"How my heart beat! But I was silent."

"I have leapt head over heels into my fate," he continued. "You or no one! Decide then for my bliss or my death, for without you I neither can nor will live. Will you be mine?"

"To so direct a question I was obliged to give some reply. I sought for some extremely diplomatic phrase which, without cutting off all hope, would sacrifice nothing of my dignity, but I got out nothing more than a tremulous whispered 'yes.'"

"Then may I tomorrow propose for your hand to your aunt, and write to Count Althaus?"

"Yes," again, this time a little firmer. "Oh, what happiness! So at first sight you love me, too?"

"This time I only answered with my eyes, but they, I fancy, spoke the plainest 'yes.'"

On my eighteenth birthday I was married, after having been first introduced into society and presented to the empress on my engagement. After our wedding we went for a tour in Italy.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.—Adv.

For this purpose Armo had got a long leave of absence; of retirement from the military service nothing was ever said. It was true we both possessed a tolerable property, but my husband loved his profession, and I agreed with him. I was proud of my handsome hussar officer, and looked forward with satisfaction to the time when he would rise to the rank of major, colonel, even general. Who knows? Perhaps he might even be called to a higher fortune; perhaps he might shine in the glorious history of his country as a great military commander!

That the red volumes exhibit a break just during the happy wedding time and the honeymoon is now to me a great grief. The joys of those days would indeed have been evaporated, dispersed, scattered to the winds, even if I had entered them there, but at any rate a reflection of them would have been kept bound tight between the leaves. But not for my grief and my pain I could not find complaints, enough—enough dashes and notes of exclamation.

All grievous things had to be cried over carefully before the world, present and to come, but the happy hours I enjoyed in silence. I was not proud of my happiness, and so gave no one, not even myself, in my diary, any information about it, but suffering and longings I looked on as a kind of merit, and so made much of them. But how true a mirror these red volumes present of my sad experiences, while in the happy times the leaves are quite blank! It is too silly! It is as if during a walk a man were to make a collection to bring home with him, and to collect of all the things he found by the way only those that were ugly, as if he filled his botanic case with nothing but thorns, thistles, worms and toads, and left the flowers and butterflies behind.

IGNORE WAR, THE ADVICE OFFERED

Should Be Considered
by Americans.

New York, Sept. 11.—"Orders should be given, factories should be run and everything should be arranged to maintain, as far as possible, the productive power and the income of the country." That is the advice offered to Britons by Sir George Paist, editor of the Statist, who has resigned his position to devote his time and talents in the service of the British treasury.

The foregoing counsel could be very well adopted by Americans, some of whom are inclined to act somewhat precipitately.

Here are extracts from the Statist article: "At such a time it is of the greatest importance that every one should endeavor to act as if great events were not impending. Were confidence seriously disturbed business would come practically to an end, and our ability to face the difficulties that may be in front of us would be seriously impaired."

"Therefore, it is of vital importance that, as far as possible, the events that are now taking place should not interfere with the daily life and the daily work of the nation."

"It cannot be too clearly realized that the nation's income is dependent upon its daily work and its daily production, and that at a time such as the present it is desirable that every one should work harder and be more productive in order that we may have the income, and therefore the money, with which to meet any expenditure and any burden that may be placed upon us."

"In the current year the new issues of capital in the London market alone will probably reach £250,000,000, after providing for the nation's expenditure upon the construction of houses and extensions of works. If the occasion should arise the British people should be able, without any serious difficulty, to raise loans amounting to £200,000,000 a year over and above any sums they may derive from the sale to the United States of a part of the great quantity of American securities they now possess."

"But for this to be accomplished the situation must be faced with courage and confidence on the part of every one. Investors must continue to invest, bankers must continue to lend, the stock exchange must continue to deal, and every one according to his ability must endeavor to work hard in order that individual incomes, and therefore the income of the whole nation, may be maintained at the highest possible level."

WILL HEAR THE REPORTS.

Democratic Committees to Report at Session to Be Held Sept. 19.

Committees appointed by the democratic county central committee of Allen county at the beginning of the present campaign will be ready to report at a meeting called by Chairman W. A. Johnson for Sept. 19 at headquarters. It was expected that this meeting would be held Saturday afternoon, but committees announced that they could not be ready by that time and a postponement was agreed upon. This practically will be the real opening of the campaign.

Announcement was made that headquarters would be kept open evenings.

Just as soon as the speakers' committee gets its list of orders ready and assigns them to the county.

AUTOMOBILES PROVE TO BE OF GREAT VALUE IN THE EUROPEAN CONFLICT.

One of the most noteworthy features of the present conflict in Europe is the remarkable success that all the armies have experienced in the use of motor vehicles. Whether used in the transportation of troops or supplies, in hospital service or in the movement of artillery, the automobile has proved itself most efficient and reliable. The photographs reproduced herewith show a few of the ways in which the automobile is employed at present. The Willys utility truck in the illustration is one of several recently purchased by the British government for army use.
